Steel Foes Ask Federal Probe

Both Sides Agree To Quit Airing Differences In Public At Talks

NEW YORK (AP)—The United Steelworkers Union and steel industry exchanged demands Thursday for government investigation of each other, then agreed they'd both better quit airing their differences in public.

The union fired off demands to the Justice Department and National Labor Relations Board for probes of possible antitrust law and labor law violations on the part of the industry.

Steel producers came back with a suggestion that if anything needs federal investigation it is "the concentration of power in the union which is what gives rise to the problems of (industry) self-protection."

R. Conrad Cooper, chief negotiator for U.S. Steel Corp. and the industry, then suggested more progress would be made in the weeks remaining before current contracts expire June 30 if "we work at it privately and diligently."

McDonald Agrees

Union President David J. McDonald agreed.

The union demands for government investigations were based on Cooper's disclosures Wednesday. He said the industry is considering various plans in the event the union adopts a divide-and-conquer strategy of striking only part of the industry July 1 if there is no new agreement then.

Arthur J. Goldberg, union counsel, wrote the Justice Department that a profit-sharing plan in a partial strike would violate antitrust laws. He also complained to the NLRB that a lockout plan—in which all companies would close down if only a few were struck—would violate the Taft-Hartley Act.

Cooper retorted that the industry, while considering what it might do under all eventualities, has decided nothing finally. He denied flatly the industry has considered sharing profits of some firms are struck and others not.

Contrary Impression

Newsmen generally got a contrary impression from Cooper's comments Wednesday. The chief industry negotiator declined to say what kind of mutual aid plan the industry is considering.

As to a lockout, Cooper said the industry never has shut down its plants from its workers and never before has had to consider this problem in view of the union's traditional no contract-no work policy.

Finally, Cooper said, all consideration of what the industry may do in any strike situation is "unwarranted speculation."

Out of the welter of comment from top negotiators it seemed clear the industry is working on some type of mutual aid plan, one it is not willing to talk about, just as union chief McDonald was unwilling to say what type of walkout would occur should one develop.

Cooper stirred up the storm about strike eventualities when he conceded the producers are considering what they may do in event of a walkout.

De Gaulle Sees Algeria Peace Despite Patrols

CONSTANTINE, Algeria (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle's statement in France Thursday that peace is in sight in Algeria seems almost grotesque in this grim, heavily patrolled eastern Algerian city.

Two days after clashes between Europeans and Algerians tension grips the people. Authorities fear more trouble in the city where De Gaulle launched his famous "Constantine Plan" to swing the Algerians to France. De Gaulle's name now is booed by some Europeans. These accuse him of a sellout.

Hope for peace looks equally dim from neighboring Tunisia, where leaders of the Algerian nationalist rebellion vow to continue their fight against France. Tunisia is the Algerian rebels' main supply and training base.

Recent talks by this correspondent with rebel leaders in Tunisia show they have abandoned hope of any Western pressure on France to wind up the more than four years of war.

"We have no place to go but the East," is the standard phrase repeated by Algerian nationalists.

Talks with rebel Prime Minister Ferhat Abbas and Information Minister Mohammed Yazid indicate they believe De Gaulle is the only man capable of solving the Algerian stalemate. They hint they are willing to back down from their demands of full independence. It now seems that an offer of internal autonomy would not be rejected by the rebel government-in-exile, based in Cairo.

There are no signs of any letup of the rebellion in this part of Algeria.

Paratroopers and Service guards crisscross this city, their tommyguns at the ready. Even traffic policemen carry submachine guns. Jeeps mounted with machine guns stand by for emergencies.

Coal Output Up

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. bituminous coal output rose to 8,270,000 tons in the week ended May 2 from 8,015,000 tons the previous week and compared with 6,413,000 tons in the same week last year, the National Coal Assn. reported Thursday.

Year-to-date output of soft coal approximated 139,075,000 tons against 135,013,000 in the same period of 1958.

Reverse Ruling On Equal Time In News Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration asked the Federal Communications Commission Thursday in the name of common sense to reverse its ruling that the equal-time-for-candidates requirement applies to newscasts.

This is the ruling which on March 18 prompted President Eisenhower to say it is ridiculous to impose such a requirement. Radio-TV industry leaders said the same thing.

At that time White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower was not criticizing the FCC for its interpretation of the equal-time law, which was set up primarily to cover political speeches.

Thursday, the approach was more blunt. A Justice Department brief, released after Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers conferred with Eisenhower, asked the FCC for "a common sense application" of the law.

Eisenhower had asked Rogers whether a remedy should be sought through legislation or otherwise. The action Thursday showed that Rogers favors the "otherwise" approach—asking the FCC to change its rule.

The disputed FCC ruling was handed down Feb. 19 at the request of Lar Daly, a Chicagoan who regularly runs for various offices without much support or success.

Daly had announced as a candidate for both the Republican and Democratic nominations to be mayor of Chicago. The principal candidates were Democrat Richard Daley and Republican Timothy Sheehan.

Daley and Sheehan had appeared on television newscasts for example when they filed their nomination papers. Also Daley was shown in his capacity as mayor greeting a distinguished visitor, opening a charity drive, and so on.

Lar Daly claimed he was entitled to time that would equal such showings, and the FCC Feb. 19 ruling agreed that the law did indeed require this.

Business Act Changes Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Arch A. Moore (R-W. Va.) Thursday introduced a bill that would provide for sweeping changes in the Small Business Act of 1958.

Under terms of the measure, the present revolving fund of $900,000,000 would be increased to $1,100,000,000 and would authorize the administration to make prepayments on rentals of safety deposit boxes wherein securities are held.

Sir Winston Ends Visit At The White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill ended his White House visit Thursday and moved a few miles away to the British Embassy for an overnight stay.

The former prime minister was escorted to his limousine by his host, President Eisenhower, at midday. Mrs. Eisenhower watched from the north portico as her husband helped the 84-year-old statesman down the steps and into the car.

"I'll see you tonight at dinner," Eisenhower told Churchill.

He was referring to a dinner Churchill arranged to give at the embassy in the Prsident's honor.

"It's been a great honor to have you here," Eisenhower remarked. "Goodby and good luck."

Churchill was wearing a gray business suit with a vest, despite the Washington heat. He carried a gray Homburg and his gold tipped cane. And, as usual, he was smoking a big cigar.

Churchill plans to go to New York Friday for a few days visit with other friends, including financier Bernard M. Baruch.

Building Falls, Workman Killed

WESTBURY, N.Y., (AP) — A low-roofed industrial building half the size of a football field collapsed Thursday with 14 workmen inside. One man was killed, six were injured and the others escaped.

Some of the injured were trapped for periods up to 45 minutes before rescue workers extricated them by cutting holes through the fallen roof.

The one-story building was under construction in an industrial park in this Long Island community which once was one of America's polo playing centers and now is the home of Roosevelt Raceway. It is 30 miles east of New York City.

The two-inch-thick roof had been completed. It was supported by upright steel beams but the walls had not been filled in with brick and mortar.

Witnesses said the building began leaning and then the roof fell like a card table with collapsed legs. The roof stayed virtually intact after it fell.

The Nassau County police and the district attorney's office began separate investigations into the cause and to determine whether all building codes had been observed.

The workman killed was John Lake, 45, a plumber, of Manhattan.

Red Papers Fined

HONG KONG (UPI) — The Hong Kong Supreme Court Thursday levied fines totalling $1,740 on the owners, publishers, printers and editors of two Communist newspapers for contempt of court. The charges grew out of publication in the Ta Kung Pao and Wen Wei Pao of information about an alleged murder, which had not been made a matter of court record.

Dynamite Blast Destroys Coal Tipples In Tenn.

JELLICO, Tenn. (UPI)—Dynamite blasts destroyed two coal tipples and shattered windows and store fronts along the main street of this little mining town Thursday in apparent extension of recent coal-field violence.

Damage was estimated at $120,000—most of it to the two big tipples, loading and grading ramps for coal which is hauled from nearby mines, sold at the tipples and loaded on railroad gondola cars for shipment. At least one was running coal for a non-union mine.

The new coal field troubles began with a strike by United Mine Workers locals in Harlan, Ky., March 9. The strife has spread over other southeastern Kentucky and upper-East Tennessee counties as UMW contracts with mine operators expired.

The union is demanding new contracts with a $2 a day base pay increase to $24.25 a day for miners and a clause barring union ramps from buying coal from non-union mines.

Small truck mine operators have claimed they cannot meet the demands.

Jellico, a town of 2,600, is in the center of the Tennessee-Kentucky coal fields. The violence so far has resulted in at least two slayings and several gun battles.

"Damn, I hate it," said Jellico Police Chief Roy Leach: "We've got a bad enough name without that blast. It hurts our town." Jellico was the hub of similar coal industry violence in 1954.

Both tipples, owned by the G&½ Coal Co., were ruined by the blasts. Forty-two windows in business places on South and North Main Street and commercial street were shattered by the explosions.

The tipples were less than 1,000 feet from City Hall and police headquarters. "The explosion was a hell of a roar," said Harold Downey, a druggist. He said the blasts occurred between 12:30 and 12:45 a.m. "I'd say the explosive mixture was at least 60 per cent dynamite," Downey said.

Conservatives Win

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservative party gave its third-term prospects a strong boost Thursday night, winning sharply over the Laborites in local government elections held throughout Britain.

The Conservatives showed a net gain of 100 council seats and had won control of the important cities of York, Walsall, Hereford, Northampton and Stourbridge.

Labor showed a net loss of 123 seats to Conservatives and independents.

Probers Fail To Get Union Men To Talk

Accused Of Taking Payments, Officials Use 5th Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two labor union officials, accused of exacting payments from New York area newspaper and printing firms, pleaded the Fifth Amendment Thursday as Senate investigators tried unsuccessfully to make them talk.

Again and again, Harold Gross and Cornelius Noonan refused to answer questions on grounds their words might incriminate them.

Gross, president of a Teamsters Local in Miami and a convicted extortionist, kept silent on testimony of other witnesses that he charged thousands of dollars to assure labor peace at a New Jersey commercial printing firm which turns out, among other things, Sunday supplements for newspapers.

He also balked at saying whether he pocketed other thousands for seeing to it that Sunday sections were delivered without interruption to the New York Times, the New York Mirror and the New York Journal-American.

Wouldn't Comment

Gross also wouldn't comment on whether there is any racketeering in his Teamsters Local 320 in Miami.

Noonan, head of a New York longshoremen's union affiliate, also invoked the Fifth Amendment when asked whether he shared in payoffs which purportedly included more than $300,000 from the Neo Gravure Printing Co., Weehawken, N.J., over a 14-year span.

Noonan was outwardly unruffled as an investigator for the committee and a New York City detective ticked off what they said were his associations with such underworld figures as Joe Adoni Albert Anastasia and Meyer Lansky.

As investigator Walter Sheridan and Detective Frank Nostrano reeled off their testimony, Noonan sat calmly, his arms crossed over his chest.

Gross and Noonan were preceded on the stand by present and former business managers of the American Weekly, which many newspapers carry as a Sunday supplement.

Gross Was Paid

Officials of the Neo Gravure firm, which prints the American Weekly, testified Wednesday that Gross was paid $4,000 a year between 1952 and 1958 to make certain jurisdictional labor disputes didn't halt delivery of the American Weekly to the Journal-American. Neo Gravure made these payments, but the American Weekly bore the cost, the committee was told.

John J. Padulo, former business manager of the American Weekly, testified he regarded the payments as improper but he said he authorized them on word from Neo Gravure officials that they were needed to assure delivery of 1,100,000 copies of the American Weekly then used by the Journal-American.

New Postal Hike Sought

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield proposed Thursday a one-cent increase in first-class letter and air mail postage.

Summerfield sent Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) a letter and a draft of legislation to make the increases.

The proposal would raise the rate on a first-class letter from 4 cents to 5 and on air mail from 7 cents to 8.

Summerfield said higher rates are needed "to provide additional revenues in order to assure that postal revenues will more nearly equal postal expenditures."

He estimated the increases would bring in an additional 355 million dollars a year in revenue. The current operating deficit of the Post Office Department has been estimated at more than 500 million dollars a year.

Postal rates were raised just late Aug. 1. At that time, they went from 3 to 4 cents an ounce for first class mail and from 6 to 7 cents an ounce for air mail.

President Eisenhower indicated in his budget message to Congress in January that he would ask for higher rates.

Space Experts See Possible Fight For Moon

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — American space experts said Thursday men will explore the moon in a few decades and nations might clash over its exploitation.

They made the statement in suggesting plans for a UN.. study on how far international cooperation in space research should go and what legal problems might arise.

The experts put working papers on these subjects before the U.N. Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space. The papers are intended to aid subcommittees that will begin working on the two questions May 26.

Only 13 members of the 18-nation space committee were present. The Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia, India and the United Arab Republic are boycotting the meeting.

Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, deputy administrator of the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told the committee programs of space exploration "warrant worldwide support and cooperation."

He said man's present knowledge could lead "in a few decades to manned exploration of the moon."

Loftus E. Becker, legal adviser to the State Department, said the committee might want to think about who should rule any celestial bodies men might land on.

"Serious problems may ensue," he said, "if more than one country lands expeditions on a particular body and they come into conflict in rival activities or attempts at exploitation."

Blasts Critics

LONDON (UPI) — "Angry young man" John Osborne was angry with newspaper critics Thursday who panned his first musical play, "The World of Paul Slickey."

"The worst notices since Judas Iscariot," said Osborne. "There is not one daily critic in London intellectually equipped to review a play properly."

Secretary Rules Out Appeasement

National Address Calls For Soviet To Match Concessions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter Thursday night ruled out fear and appeasement in negotiating with the Soviets to end the Berlin crisis and reunite Germany.

He called on the Soviet Union to match the West concession for concession to end the danger of war.

Herter outlined the West's attitude in a major foreign policy address carried to the people by radio and television on the eve of his departure for Geneva to attend a Big Four foreign minister's conference.

This was Herter's first report to the nation since he succeeded the ailing John Foster Dulles two weeks go.

Asks Negotiations

Herter appealed for "business-like negotiation and not a propaganda exercise" when the Western foreign ministers meet Monday with the U.S.S.R.'s Andrei Gromyko.

Any new agreements with the Soviets, he said, must be self-enforcing and must provide for "guaranteed freedom for Berlin" with no restrictions on Allied rights to remain as defenders of the more than two million West Berliners.

"The heart of our policy can be clearly and simply said to be this: A Germany reunited in freedom, a security system linked with arrangements for arms control and in the interim a free and secure Berlin," Herter said.

He called on the Kremlin rulers to realize "the depth of our solemn Berlin commitment" before they take any action to precipitate what he called a "trial by force."

Seeks Agreements

Herter promised that the West would seek meaningful agreements "honestly and in good faith to seek some advance, even if small, toward a just peace."

He said President Eisenhower hopes that the Geneva foreign ministers meeting will develop in such a way as to lead later to a summit conference.

"This means that the foreign ministers meeting must give some promise that a summit meeting would have a reasonable prospect of advancing the cause of peace," Herter said.

"The eyes of the world are bound to be focussed on a meeting of the heads of government. It would be unfair to all peoples to risk shattering their hopes and expectations by engaging in summit talks under conditions likely to produce failure."

Herter said that if the Soviets refused to negotiate seriously at the Geneva meeting "the world will see that it is the Soviet Union alone which is blocking the free choice of the German people and the chance for true peace."

Herter said the United States, Britain and France are firmly united on proposals which they believe will advance the cause of peace.

Rules Out One-Sidedness

He ruled out any one-sided Western concession to the Soviets as the price for easing Communist demands that the Allies get out of Berlin.

"One fact must be faced square-

Hopeless Survival Battle By Doctors Told In Notes

LINCOLN, N.H. (AP)—A desperate, hopeless four-day battle for survival in a snowy mountain wilderness was disclosed Thursday in notes scribbled by two doctors as they huddled at the wrecked plane.

The physicians had recorded the exact cause of the crash last February. They said the carburetor deicer failed to work. Successive storms buried them and their small plane under four feet of snow.

The doctors, Ralph E. Miller, 60, and Robert Quinn, 32, both members of the Dartmouth College medical school faculty, preserved their observations in plastic containers.

The notes, stuffed into a duffel bag, gave this tragic picture of their lonely fight against impossible odds:

Starved from lack of food in the desolate heart of the White Mountain National Forest, about seven miles east of Lincoln.

Half-frozen by the onslaught of subzero temperatures.

Exhausted by vain attempts to wade through snow drifts that piled up to five-foot depths.

Tantalized by the distant drone of engines which they knew came from search planes looking for them.

And, finally, disheartened when the noise faded away and the dying doctors waited for the fate both knew was inevitable.

Their single-engined plane, with Dr. Miller, a veteran pilot, at the controls, plowed into a clump of trees Feb. 21. The doctors were trying to fly 70 miles from Berlin, N.H., to Lebanon, N.H., on the return leg of a mercy mission.

Corky Kelly Is Appointed To West Point On Merits

MEDIA, Pa. (AP) — "I've just received the greatest birthday present a fellow could wish. The Army says I've been appointed to West Point."

It was Corky Kelly, 19 Wednesday, breaking sweet news on the telephone to his mother, Mrs. J. Watson Pedlow, in nearby Chester Heights.

The news came in a personal letter from President Eisenhower, who praised the boy and predicted great things for him.

Corky was in seventh heaven for more than one reason. He had made the grade the hard way—by taking a stiff competitive examination. Special privilege was his for the asking. He could have won the appointment in a breeze, as the son of a valiant father, and no one could possibly have objected.

But Corky wanted to go all the way solely on merit. He figured his father, Capt. Colin P. Kelly Jr., the nation's first air hero of World War II, would have wanted it that way.

He applied for admission to West Point under a law which makes it possible for the sons of deceased war veterans to obtain admission, although a presidential appointment was his for the asking.

Capt. Kelly was killed three days after Pearl Harbor. While flying back from a bombing mission against the Japanese battleship Haruna enemy fighters riddled his plane. He told his crew to bail out. He could not.

In the surge of patriotism which swept the country President Franklin D. Roosevelt, on the 10th day after Pearl Harbor, wrote a letter to the man who would be in his place in 1936.

He asked that unknown successor to "consider the merits of an American youth of goodly heritage—Colin P. Kelly III—for appointment as a cadet in the U.S. Military Academy at West Point."

The President meant it as an enduring tribute and living memorial to a gallant soldier.

Sir Winston Ends Visit At The White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill ended his White House visit Thursday and moved a few miles away to the British Embassy for an overnight stay.

The former prime minister was escorted to his limousine by his host, President Eisenhower, at midday. Mrs. Eisenhower watched from the north portico as her husband helped the 84-year-old statesman down the steps and into the car.

"I'll see you tonight at dinner," Eisenhower told Churchill.

He was referring to a dinner Churchill arranged to give at the embassy in the Prsident's honor.

"It's been a great honor to have you here," Eisenhower remarked. "Goodby and good luck."

Churchill was wearing a gray business suit with a vest, despite the Washington heat. He carried a gray Homburg and his gold tipped cane. And, as usual, he was smoking a big cigar.

Churchill plans to go to New York Friday for a few days visit with other friends, including financier Bernard M. Baruch.

Building Falls, Workman Killed

WESTBURY, N.Y., (AP) — A low-roofed industrial building half the size of a football field collapsed Thursday with 14 workmen inside. One man was killed, six were injured and the others escaped.

Some of the injured were trapped for periods up to 45 minutes before rescue workers extricated them by cutting holes through the fallen roof.

The one-story building was under construction in an industrial park in this Long Island community which once was one of America's polo playing centers and now is the home of Roosevelt Raceway. It is 30 miles east of New York City.

The two-inch-thick roof had been completed. It was supported by upright steel beams but the walls had not been filled in with brick and mortar.

Witnesses said the building began leaning and then the roof fell like a card table with collapsed legs. The roof stayed virtually intact after it fell.

The Nassau County police and the district attorney's office began separate investigations into the cause and to determine whether all building codes had been observed.

The workman killed was John Lake, 45, a plumber, of Manhattan.

Red Papers Fined

HONG KONG (UPI) — The Hong Kong Supreme Court Thursday levied fines totalling $1,740 on the owners, publishers, printers and editors of two Communist newspapers for contempt of court. The charges grew out of publication in the Ta Kung Pao and Wen Wei Pao of information about an alleged murder, which had not been made a matter of court record.

Dynamite Blast Destroys Coal Tipples In Tenn.

JELLICO, Tenn. (UPI)—Dynamite blasts destroyed two coal tipples and shattered windows and store fronts along the main street of this little mining town Thursday in apparent extension of recent coal-field violence.

Damage was estimated at $120,000—most of it to the two big tipples, loading and grading ramps for coal which is hauled from nearby mines, sold at the tipples and loaded on railroad gondola cars for shipment. At least one was running coal for a non-union mine.

The new coal field troubles began with a strike by United Mine Workers locals in Harlan, Ky., March 9. The strife has spread over other southeastern Kentucky and upper-East Tennessee counties as UMW contracts with mine operators expired.

The union is demanding new contracts with a $2 a day base pay increase to $24.25 a day for miners and a clause barring union ramps from buying coal from non-union mines.

Small truck mine operators have claimed they cannot meet the demands.

Jellico, a town of 2,600, is in the center of the Tennessee-Kentucky coal fields. The violence so far has resulted in at least two slayings and several gun battles.

"Damn, I hate it," said Jellico Police Chief Roy Leach. "We've got a bad enough name without that blast. It hurts our town." Jellico was the hub of similar coal industry violence in 1954.

Both tipples, owned by the G&½ Coal Co., were ruined by the blasts. Forty-two windows in business places on South and North Main Street and commercial street were shattered by the explosions.

The tipples were less than 1,000 feet from City Hall and police headquarters. "The explosion was a hell of a roar," said Harold Downey, a druggist. He said the blasts occurred between 12:30 and 12:45 a.m. "I'd say the explosive mixture was at least 60 per cent dynamite," Downey said.

Conservatives Win

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservative party gave its third-term prospects a strong boost Thursday night, winning sharply over the Laborites in local government elections held throughout Britain.

The Conservatives showed a net gain of 100 council seats and had won control of the important cities of York, Walsall, Hereford, Northampton and Stourbridge.

Labor showed a net loss of 123 seats to Conservatives and independents.

Accused Of Taking Payments, Officials Use 5th Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two labor union officials, accused of exacting payments from New York area newspaper and printing firms, pleaded the Fifth Amendment Thursday as Senate investigators tried unsuccessfully to make them talk.

Again and again, Harold Gross and Cornelius Noonan refused to answer questions on grounds their words might incriminate them.

Gross, president of a Teamsters Local in Miami and a convicted extortionist, kept silent on testimony of other witnesses that he charged thousands of dollars to assure labor peace at a New Jersey commercial printing firm which turns out, among other things, Sunday supplements for newspapers.

He also balked at saying whether he pocketed other thousands for seeing to it that Sunday sections were delivered without interruption to the New York Times, the New York Mirror and the New York Journal-American.

Wouldn't Comment

Gross also wouldn't comment on whether there is any racketeering in his Teamsters Local 320 in Miami.

Noonan, head of a New York longshoremen's union affiliate, also invoked the Fifth Amendment when asked whether he shared in payoffs which purportedly included more than $300,000 from the Neo Gravure Printing Co., Weehawken, N.J., over a 14-year span.

Noonan was outwardly unruffled as an investigator for the committee and a New York City detective ticked off what they said were his associations with such underworld figures as Joe Adoni Albert Anastasia and Meyer Lansky.

As investigator Walter Sheridan and Detective Frank Nostrano reeled off their testimony, Noonan sat calmly, his arms crossed over his chest.

Gross and Noonan were preceded on the stand by present and former business managers of the American Weekly, which many newspapers carry as a Sunday supplement.

Gross Was Paid

Officials of the Neo Gravure firm, which prints the American Weekly, testified Wednesday that Gross was paid $4,000 a year between 1952 and 1958 to make certain jurisdictional labor disputes didn't halt delivery of the American Weekly to the Journal-American. Neo Gravure made these payments, but the American Weekly bore the cost, the committee was told.

John J. Padulo, former business manager of the American Weekly, testified he regarded the payments as improper but he said he authorized them on word from Neo Gravure officials that they were needed to assure delivery of 1,100,000 copies of the American Weekly then used by the Journal-American.

New Postal Hike Sought

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield proposed Thursday a one-cent increase in first-class letter and air mail postage.

Summerfield sent Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) a letter and a draft of legislation to make the increases.

The proposal would raise the rate on a first-class letter from 4 cents to 5 and on air mail from 7 cents to 8.

Summerfield said higher rates are needed "to provide additional revenues in order to assure that postal revenues will more nearly equal postal expenditures."

He estimated the increases would bring in an additional 355 million dollars a year in revenue. The current operating deficit of the Post Office Department has been estimated at more than 500 million dollars a year.

Postal rates were raised just late Aug. 1. At that time, they went from 3 to 4 cents an ounce for first class mail and from 6 to 7 cents an ounce for air mail.

President Eisenhower indicated in his budget message to Congress in January that he would ask for higher rates.

Space Experts See Possible Fight For Moon

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — American space experts said Thursday men will explore the moon in a few decades and nations might clash over its exploitation.

They made the statement in suggesting plans for a UN.. study on how far international cooperation in space research should go and what legal problems might arise.

The experts put working papers on these subjects before the U.N. Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space. The papers are intended to aid subcommittees that will begin working on the two questions May 26.

Only 13 members of the 18-nation space committee were present. The Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia, India and the United Arab Republic are boycotting the meeting.

Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, deputy administrator of the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told the committee programs of space exploration "warrant worldwide support and cooperation."

He said man's present knowledge could lead "in a few decades to manned exploration of the moon."

Loftus E. Becker, legal adviser to the State Department, said the committee might want to think about who should rule any celestial bodies men might land on.

"Serious problems may ensue," he said, "if more than one country lands expeditions on a particular body and they come into conflict in rival activities or attempts at exploitation."

LONDON (UPI) — "Angry young man" John Osborne was angry with newspaper critics Thursday who panned his first musical play, "The World of Paul Slickey."

"The worst notices since Judas Iscariot," said Osborne. "There is not one daily critic in London intellectually equipped to review a play properly."

Secretary Rules Out Appeasement

National Address Calls For Soviet To Match Concessions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter Thursday night ruled out fear and appeasement in negotiating with the Soviets to end the Berlin crisis and reunite Germany.

He called on the Soviet Union to match the West concession for concession to end the danger of war.

Herter outlined the West's attitude in a major foreign policy address carried to the people by radio and television on the eve of his departure for Geneva to attend a Big Four foreign minister's conference.

This was Herter's first report to the nation since he succeeded the ailing John Foster Dulles two weeks go.

Asks Negotiations

Herter appealed for "business-like negotiation and not a propaganda exercise" when the Western foreign ministers meet Monday with the U.S.S.R.'s Andrei Gromyko.

Any new agreements with the Soviets, he said, must be self-enforcing and must provide for "guaranteed freedom for Berlin" with no restrictions on Allied rights to remain as defenders of the more than two million West Berliners.

"The heart of our policy can be clearly and simply said to be this: A Germany reunited in freedom, a security system linked with arrangements for arms control and in the interim a free and secure Berlin," Herter said.

He called on the Kremlin rulers to realize "the depth of our solemn Berlin commitment" before they take any action to precipitate what he called a "trial by force."

Seeks Agreements

Herter promised that the West would seek meaningful agreements "honestly and in good faith to seek some advance, even if small, toward a just peace."

He said President Eisenhower hopes that the Geneva foreign ministers meeting will develop in such a way as to lead later to a summit conference.

"This means that the foreign ministers meeting must give some promise that a summit meeting would have a reasonable prospect of advancing the cause of peace," Herter said.

"The eyes of the world are bound to be focussed on a meeting of the heads of government. It would be unfair to all peoples to risk shattering their hopes and expectations by engaging in summit talks under conditions likely to produce failure."

Herter said that if the Soviets refused to negotiate seriously at the Geneva meeting "the world will see that it is the Soviet Union alone which is blocking the free choice of the German people and the chance for true peace."

Herter said the United States, Britain and France are firmly united on proposals which they believe will advance the cause of peace.

Rules Out One-Sidedness

He ruled out any one-sided Western concession to the Soviets as the price for easing Communist demands that the Allies get out of Berlin.

Corky Kelly Is Appointed To West Point On Merits

MEDIA, Pa. (AP) — "I've just received the greatest birthday present a fellow could wish. The Army says I've been appointed to West Point."

It was Corky Kelly, 19 Wednesday, breaking sweet news on the telephone to his mother, Mrs. J. Watson Pedlow, in nearby Chester Heights.

The news came in a personal letter from President Eisenhower, who praised the boy and predicted great things for him.

Corky was in seventh heaven for more than one reason. He had made the grade the hard way—by taking a stiff competitive examination. Special privilege was his for the asking. He could have won the appointment in a breeze, as the son of a valiant father, and no one could possibly have objected.

But Corky wanted to go all the way solely on merit. He figured his father, Capt. Colin P. Kelly Jr., the nation's first air hero of World War II, would have wanted it that way.

He applied for admission to West Point under a law which makes it possible for the sons of deceased war veterans to obtain admission, although a presidential appointment was his for the asking.

Capt. Kelly was killed three days after Pearl Harbor. While flying back from a bombing mission against the Japanese battleship Haruna enemy fighters riddled his plane. He told his crew to bail out. He could not.

In the surge of patriotism which swept the country President Franklin D. Roosevelt, on the 10th day after Pearl Harbor, wrote a letter to the man who would be in his place in 1956.

He asked that unknown successor to "consider the merits of an American youth of goodly heritage—Colin P. Kelly III—for appointment as a cadet in the U.S. Military Academy at West Point."

Financial Woes Beset Missing Family

RENO, Nev. (AP) — "Financial problems," sobbed 29-year-old Caroline Zrust Thursday as she explained why she, her husband and their five children vanished mysteriously from their Silver Lake, Minn., home last December.

"We had no thought of making it appear to be a tragedy," she told police and newsmen. "We just picked up and left."

The family has lived here since April 21. Before that, they lived in Sacramento, San Luis Obispo and Pismo Beach in California.

Earl Zrust, 30, a former city councilman of Silver Lake and a general contractor, has been working as a bricklayer on various jobs. His current job is on a school project at Loyalton, Calif., about 50 miles north of Reno.

The family has been the object of a nationwide missing persons report, but apparently have made no effort to hide their identity.

"We always used our right names and we registered the car in California," Mrs. Zrust told detective Capt. William Brodhead.

It was a finance company which apparently tracked the family down here.

The company repossessed their 1957 sedan Wednesday because the payments were four months behind.

Mrs. Zrust said they hadn't written relatives in Minnesota because of the financial problems.

The couple's modest shingle house, hidden from street view in an alley, is furnished, but the telephone is disconnected. A note on the door told Mrs. Zrust of a long distance call from her sister, Mrs. Cyril Navratil in Silver Lake.

"We've been buying Minneapolis newspapers occasionally," Mrs. Zrust said, "but we never read anything about our being missing."

Mrs. Zrust at first declined to talk to reporters. She broke down and sobbed out her story after Capt. Brodhead arrived. She had hidden herself and three of the children, Terry, 6, Douglas, 3, and Russell, 2, in the bathroom for about 10 minutes before agreeing to see the officer. Two older children, Sandra, 10, and Susan, 9, were at school nearby.

"Only courage and a firm stand on our rights and principles can do this.

Business Hike To Continue At Slower Gait

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—The business upswing will continue through mid-1960 at least, Commerce Department experts now predict, despite foreseeably slower gains this summer.

Secretary of Commerce Lewis L. Strauss and his top aides were prepared to present this forecast to the government's Business Advisory Council at its spring meeting here. The closed sessions start Friday.

The nearly 100 BAC members participating, including the heads of many of the country's biggest corporations, will also give their appraisal of the outlook. This will be somewhat less bullish than the government's, early arriving members said, but still optimistic.

A sag in steel production in the July-September quarter is expected to restrain the over-all advance.

Steel output is likely to slump even if there is no steel strike when the present wage contract expires at midyear, the government experts agreed. This is because the automobile and other steel-using industries have been buying heavily to build up their stocks in anticipation of either a strike or a price increase.

Without a strike, the economists believe, steel output will sink to about 60 per cent of the industry's capacity in the summer quarter, then climb to about 70 per cent in the final quarter of the year.

If there is a strike, output in the third quarter will be lower, and in the fourth quarter, higher, they predict.

Total national output of goods and services will rise about 10 billion dollars in this current quarter to an annual rate of about 475 billion dollars, officials say.

In the third quarter, the gain will be only about two or three billion dollars, it is believed, but in the fourth quarter the production rate will shoot up again—perhaps to a rate of 490 billion dollars a year.

Airlines Files Suit In Crash

BALTIMORE (AP) — Capital Airlines Inc. filed a $1,231,929 suit against the government and a Maryland Air National Guard pilot Thursday in connection with a plane crash which killed 12 persons.

Two similar suits asking a total of $1,030,000 were filed earlier this week on behalf of the families of the airline pilot and co-pilot killed in the crash.

Named as defendants in all three cases are the United States and Julius R. McCoy of Middle River, Md., who survived the collision of his jet plane and a Capital airliner last May 20 near Brunswick, Md. Four Capital crew members, seven airline passengers and a passenger in the jet perished.

British Apologize For Playing Old Anthem At Game

LONDON (UPI) — The British War Office apologized to the Italian Embassy here Thursday because an army band played the wrong Italian National Anthem at the Italy-England soccer game.

Thousands of Italians were watching the game on television Wednesday when the "Green Jackets" band played the old royalist anthem by mistake.

The war office said the only excuse it could offer was that the band was in Cyprus when the order was issued to substitute the correct Italian anthem "Inno di Mameli," in the army book of national anthems. The monarchist anthem went out when Italy became a republic after World War II.

An Italian Embassy spokesman, commenting on the apology, said: "This spontaneous action by the war office was greatly appreciated. No step by the embassy is contemplated."

Ariz. Woman Mother Of Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Charles N. Ronan, 44, wife of a Scottsdale, Ariz., attorney and mother of nine children, is Catholic Mother of the Year for 1959.

The selection was announced Thursday by Bishop Christopher J. Weldon of Springfield, Mass., and Dr. Frances Rothert of Little Rock, Ark., through the National Catholic Welfare Conference. Bishop Weldon is moderator of the conference's Family Life Bureau. Dr. Rothert is president of the National Catholic Conference on Family Life, which made the selection.

Mrs. Ronan, who has been married 12 years, was chosen for founding a spiritual retreat association for married couples. The association arranges yearly weekend retreats of prayer and meditation.

Mrs. Ronan, the former Beatrice Gavin, was born in Austin, Minn. She attended Catholic grammar and high school there and is a graduate of St. Mary's Hospital School of Nursing in Minneapolis.

She is the mother of 6 boys and 3 girls, ranging in age from 2 to 9. The youngest are twins.

Actually the union traditionally has shut down the entire industry whenever there was a major strike.

TO TRAIN PILOTS

LONDON (UPI) — Britain is setting up a "university of the air" to combat a threatened shortage of airline pilots, the government has announced. John Hay, joint parliamentary secretary to the Ministry of Transport, told the House of Commons that unless special steps are taken soon there will be a shortage of young pilots after 1961.

Demonstration Set For Castro

HAVANA (AP)—A huge demonstration is being prepared for Prime Minister Fidel Castro Friday on his return from a three-week tour spreading the story of the Cuban revolution in North and South America.

All businesses have been ordered closed in the afternoon to allow a big turnout at the Civ Plaza, where Castro will appear after landing at the airport.

He left Rio de Janeiro Thursday and plans to stop overnight in Trinidad.

The tour that began April 15 has taken him to the United States, Canada, Argentina and Uruguay.

A long list of problems awaits Castro, especially the unemployment situation. About 700,000 workers in this island republic of six million are jobless.

Cubans are anxious to find out his plans for speeding industrialization, a major point in his program. Also awaited is a new agrarian reform law.

The question of Communist influences in the country is also a big issue. Castro and his principal aides deny there are any.

The selection was announced Thursday by Bishop Christopher J. Weldon of Springfield, Mass., and Dr. Frances Rothert of Little Rock, Ark., through the National Catholic Welfare Conference. Bishop Weldon is moderator of the conference's Family Life Bureau. Dr. Rothert is president of the National Catholic Conference on Family Life, which made the selection.

Mrs. Ronan, who has been married 12 years, was chosen for founding a spiritual retreat association for married couples. The association arranges yearly weekend retreats of prayer and meditation.

Mrs. Ronan, the former Beatrice Gavin, was born in Austin, Minn. She attended Catholic grammar and high school there and is a graduate of St. Mary's Hospital School of Nursing in Minneapolis.

She is the mother of 6 boys and 3 girls, ranging in age from 2 to 9. The youngest are twins.

Secretary Rules

with a possible July 1 strike have dominated industry-union sessions with newsmen. Both sides insist, however, they are working hard to reach a peace pact ahead of the deadline.

Goldberg said he wanted to stress the union has made no strike plans. He said industry disclosures of what it might do about a partial strike, if one is called by the union, prompted his appeals for governmental probes.

Actually the union traditionally has shut down the entire industry whenever there was a major strike.

TO TRAIN PILOTS

LONDON (UPI) — Britain is setting up a "university of the air" to combat a threatened shortage of airline pilots, the government has announced. John Hay, joint parliamentary secretary to the Ministry of Transport, told the House of Commons that unless special steps are taken soon there will be a shortage of young pilots after 1961.

Demonstration Set For Castro

HAVANA (AP)—A huge demonstration is being prepared for Prime Minister Fidel Castro Friday on his return from a three-week tour spreading the story of the Cuban revolution in North and South America.

All businesses have been ordered closed in the afternoon to allow a big turnout at the Civ Plaza, where Castro will appear after landing at the airport.

He left Rio de Janeiro Thursday and plans to stop overnight in Trinidad.

The tour that began April 15 has taken him to the United States, Canada, Argentina and Uruguay.

A long list of problems awaits Castro, especially the unemployment situation. About 700,000 workers in this island republic of six million are jobless.

Cubans are anxious to find out his plans for speeding industrialization, a major point in his program. Also awaited is a new agrarian reform law.

The question of Communist influences in the country is also a big issue. Castro and his principal aides deny there are any.

Doctor Installed

Plenty Of Practice

MOSCOW (UPI) — Mito Khubulov, 141, has won first place in a rifle shooting contest in his home village of Tsinagari, in the Caucasus, the Tass news agency reported Thursday.

Tass said that Khubulov, one of the oldest men in the world, entered the contest sponsored by young people in the village and beat all the competition. He was described as a "hale and hearty" worker on a collective farm.

Beautify your arms for those summer sleeveless dresses.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Don't Let Anything Detract From Your Beauty

Are your arms ready for summer sleeveless dresses? Be sure now that they do not detract from the youthful beauty of these dresses. And at the same time take care of any other arm problems you may have.

"Could you please let me know what kind of exercises there are to make arms slimmer?" writes one of our faithful readers. It seems she is a perfect 34 blouse size, but always has to buy a size or two larger because her upper arms are rather heavy and she is unable to fit them into the sleeves.

For firm flesh, toned muscles and trim measurements stand with your feet slightly apart, stomach in, back flat, chest and head high and follow this exercise. Raise the arms out to your shoulder level, keeping the elbows rigid and the palms turned downward. Now, in great, wide, sweeping circles, swing the arms round and round, forward 20 times, then backward 20 times. Turn your palms up and swing again, first forward and then backward. Remember to bring your arms up close to the ears as you swing up, and always keep the elbows straight.

Next lie flat on your back, with your elbows bent and finger tips resting on your shoulders. Raise elbows up until they touch in front of your face. Now, slap the upper arm down on the floor. Be sure to keep the muscles relaxed as you slap and turn your arms slightly from time to time so that all areas come in for their share of the exercise. A hundred times each day is just about enough. Then reach for the ceiling. Without bending elbows or wrists, crisscross arms in short, fast strokes—at least 20 times.

Stand up and bend your elbows putting your finger tips to your shoulders. Rotate your elbows in a circular movement for 10 times.

Next, extend arms out at shoulder level as far as they can go. Then quickly and vigorously shake your arms, beginning right at the shoulder sockets.

Stand with your hands on hips. Push your elbows as far back as they will go, as if you were trying to get them to meet in back. While you're still standing, extend arms at shoulder level and bring them down in front of you; cross, and swirl them again to shoulder level. What you are trying to do is make them describe a large semi-circle in front of you.

Stick to these exercises and your arms will be ready for cover-up and coming out into the open.

Seed Potato Ban Revealed

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The embargoing of 152,500 pounds of certified seed potatoes out of 9,319,319 pounds examined recently by the West Virginia Agriculture Department was disclosed Thursday.

The checks were made before the seeds were put out for sale this year to West Virginia farmers. Those seeds embargoed failed to meet certain standards of the department.

At the same time, Agriculture Commissioner J. T. Johnson said farmers have indicated they would plant about 12,000 acres in potatoes this spring.

He also said the farmer apparently now prefer the Kennebee potatoe over the Irish Cobbler. Kennebee represented 70 per cent of the seed sold this year, while the Cobblers represented but 19 per cent.

Other Side Guilty If War Starts Over Berlin

By HERBERT ALTSCHULL

BONN, Germany (AP) — President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev each say that if war starts over the Berlin issue the other side will be the one that shoots first. In a way they're both right.

The immediate threat of war is raised over the supply routes to West Berlin, sometimes called the life lines of that city isolated behind the Iron Curtain.

Perhaps X-day will never come. But it could come and it could lead to World War III.

Few Western officials think the situation will end in war since neither East nor West is anxious to be smashed in a nuclear holocaust.

There are many facets to the Berlin issue but the one cold fact is the Soviet threat to end its part of the four-power occupation of Berlin and turn over control of the critical access routes to the East German puppet regime.

The 10,000 Allied soldiers in West Berlin are supplied by rail, barge, highway and air. Under international agreements the Russians check through the transit traffic.

The West has said it cannot accept the substitution of East German troops at those check points. But, if the Russians go through with their threat the Allies will be faced with East Germans when their convoys arrive at the borders.

On such an X-day the Allies will be confronted with the choice of allowing the East Germans to stamp thier papers, of turning back or of pushing ahead without permission.

Khrushchev has said an attempt to push through would violate East German sovereignty and the Soviet Union then would fulfill its obligations and defend the borders.

The Russians, he said, would use the most powerful weapons in their arsenal, a clear reference to nuclear weapons.

There are those, however, who would like the West to push armored columns through. If resisted, these troops would fight back. The Russians maintain such an attitude would amount to the launching of war.

The story of how the West got itself into the Berlin crisis is not one of the bright chapters in the ledgers of Western diplomacy.

The lines were drawn at the 1945 Yalta conference when Roosevelt and Churchill agreed to major concessions to Stalin, as Russian troops swept forward while the Americans and British were struggling back from their setback in the Battle of the Bulge.

In accord with the Yalta agreement, Allied troops pulled back at the end of the war from advance positions in Eastern Europe, leaving the whole of central and eastern Germany in Communist hands.

The West held out on one vital point, however. It did not surrender Berlin to exclusive Soviet control despite the fact it was buried inside the Russian zone of occupation.

A special four-power occupation was organized.It is this the Russians now seek to discard.

The Russians tried to squeeze the West in 1948, when they blockaded surface access routes to Berlin.

The West thwarted that effort by a massive 10-month airlift into West Berlin.

In the early stages of the current Berlin crisis there was much talk of reorganizing an airlift but this talk has largely died out after statements by Western leaders that it would be a demonstration of weakness.

Should it actually come to war, no one on earth knows how far it might go. Eisenhower himself has said the West cannot fight a ground war in Germany and has indicated it would resist the Soviet challenge if necessary with nuclear weapons.

B&O Traffic Up In April

Sparked by increased iron and steel loadings, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's traffic continued to show improvement in April, according to Howard E. Simpson, president.

Average daily carloadings last month were 8,519, against 7,051 a year ago and 8,310 for March this year.

Total freight loads of 221,506 for April increased 20.8 per cent over 183,314 for the similar month a year earlier.

In a report to employes Simpson said much of the increase in iron and steel loadings could be attributed to a rush on the part of steel producers to fill orders placed because of the possibility of a work stoppage in the industry this summer. Coke, ore and furnace stone movements were up for the same reason, he reported.

However, a slight improvement in other areas also was noted. Average daily coal loadings in April, for instance, rose to 1,947, compared with 1,804 for the similar month last year. Miscellaneous loadings and recepits from connections likewise registered small gains.

Even these modest increases are encouraging, the B & O president said. But to keep the situation in perspective, he pointed out that it should be remembered that comparisons are being made with a period of last year when traffic was at its lowest level of the recession.

Concerning the immediate outlook, Simpson said, "the indications are that business in the second quarter should show improvement over last year."

Rejects Petition

LONDON (UPI) — Home Secretary R. A. Butler Wednesday rejected a petition from 150 parliamentary members for commutation of the death sentence on the knife-murderer of an unarmed London policeman. Ronald H. Marwood, 24, is scheduled to hang Friday. He was convicted of the stabbing of policeman Ray Summers, 23, last December.

The first submarine that actually sank another vessel was the Confederate Hunley, built during the Civil war. It sank the Union frigate Housantonic in Charleston harbor.

BPW Sets Convention Date; Local Club To Elect

The Maryland Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs endorsed the legislative program, decided to continue work on the equal pay bill for Maryland, and endorsed Judge Nellie Marshall for the supreme bench in Baltimore, at the annual convention held here the first of the month. Miss Orpha-Bonita Pritchard presided at the meetings in the Fort Cumberland Hotel, at which time the state by-laws were completed. The "Maryland History," state federation magazine, was distributed.

May 20, 21, 22 of 1960 were chosen for the next convention, which will be held at the Sheraton Park Hotel, Washington, with the Silver Spring Club as hostess. A summer planning board meeting will be held June 13 in Baltimore.

Cumberland BPW Club will elect officers at the annual dinner meeting May 12, which will be at 5:30 at the YMCA. Mrs. Kathleen Scharf, chairman; Miss Mary Jo Logsdon and Mrs. Elizabeth Hollis.

Committee reports will be given by Miss Gerardine Pritchard, program coordinator and historian; Miss Anna Nicht, career advancement; Miss Marion Dennison, finance; Miss Christine Williams, health and safety; Mrs. Rose Ambrose, international relations; Mrs. Ellen McKenzie, Mrs. Ethel Northcraft, membership; Mrs. Jean Cioni, public affairs; Mrs. Eva Hogan, welfare and recreation; Miss Helene Knippenberg, national security; Mrs. Thelma Swartzwelder, legislation; Miss Orpha-Bonita Pritchard, fellowship; and Miss Olive Hurlburt, women in government. Miss Dennison also will give the auditing report. Others on her committee are Miss Anna Durst, Mrs. Grace Wilson, Mrs. Mary Loar and Mrs. Ambrose.

The executive committee is in charge of arrangements. It includes Mrs. Northcraft, Miss Helen Beck, Miss Dorothy Manley, Miss Durst and Miss Eudora Jochum.

Ireland's Shrines Are Described

The three most important shrines of Ireland were discussed by Dr. Robert Feddis at the annual communion breakfast of the St. Patrick's Sodality. Mrs. Thomas Dougherty welcomed the 22 graduates of Catholic Girls Central High School, who were honor guests. Rev. John U. Lyness spoke briefly and introduced Dr. Feddis.

Speaking of the Croagh Patrick shrine in County Mayo, Dr. Feddis stressed the sacrifice the people make for the pilgrimage. He explained that the shrine is on the top of a 2,500-foot mountain. The pilgrimage is made in the end of July and the pilgrims walk to the top, many in bare feet, to hear mass. The history of the shrine is that St. Patrick spent a complete Lent on the mountain, fasting.

The second shrine discussed was Lough Derg in County Donegal. It is on a small island in a lake and is called "St. Patrick's Purgatory," for according to tradition he was tempted by many devils while spending a month there. Dr. Feddis said this also is a very old pilgrimage, though the shrines are fairly modern, as they have been destroyed different times during persecutions. The pilgrimages are held June 1 to August 15, and most are organized in groups, taking three days. As the pilgrims come from many places, the first day is mostly traveling and fasting. Shoes are removed when the pilgrims arrive on the island and are not replaced until they leave. Stations are set on the island, each with certain prayers to be said, taking about one hour each. The meal consists of dry bread and water or black tea. Sugar may be used in the tea, but not on the bread. At 10 p.m. the pilgrims maintain a vigil until 10 the following night. During that time another four stations are made, followed by mass and communion. There is only one meal that day. The second night the pilgrims go to sleep at 10 and the following day make two more stations and leave at mid-day, but maintain the fast until midnight. This particular pilgrimage has not changed for many years, Dr. Feddis said, except for the timing, of July to August, because it is cold and bleak there.

Knock, also in County Mayo, was the third shrine discussed. The speaker said that the Blessed Virgin, St. Joseph and John the Evangelist appeared to 20 persons in 1872. There have been some cures there, but they have not been as thoroughly investigated as those at Lourdes. The pilgrimages are all through the summer and are mainly devotional, with no set routine.

Born and educated in Ireland, Dr. Feddis served in the United States Army and met his future wife in Australia. She also was born and educated and received her nurses' training in Ireland, under the Sisters of Charity. Serving in the British Army, one of her stations was in Australia. They were married in Italy. An orthopedic surgeon, Dr. Feddis and his family came to Cumberland about two years ago.

Mr., Mrs. R. O. Smith Go To 4-H Foundation

Mr. and Mrs. Russell O. Smith, Flintstone, have taken positions with the National 4-H Foundation, she said last evening. They will report June 1 to join the staff with W. W. Erue, program director.

Mrs. Smith will serve as hostess and Mr. Smith will be in charge of maintenance.

The center, at 7100 Connecticut Avenue, Chevy Chase, was formerly the Crevy Chase Junior College, and was used during the war by the Army. Since then, the exterior of the buildings has been preserved and the interior done over. The three buildings, on th 12½-acre campus of mostly woodland, are Smith Hall, Turner Hall and Warren Hall. Smith Hall, named for the late Dr. C. B. Smith, of the state extension staff, will be a dormitory for 300. Turner Hall is the administration building and Warren Hall, named for Gertrude L. Warren, retired from the federal extension staff, is the guest house.

President Eisenhower has been invited to cut the ribbon for the official opening of the center June 16. Approximately 500 state and federal extension people and 4-H'ers will attend the banquet.

National 4-H Camp is the first scheduled activity. It is for two 4-H boys and two 4-H girls from each state and will be June 13-20. The Maryland Extension agents have scheduled their fall meeting there.

Many groups will use the center, Mrs. Smith said, but priority will be given to youth groups interested in rural life. The annual national assembly of 4-H leaders and delegates heads the list. Conference and meetings of extension workers will be welcomed; youth groups from counties and states and other countries are invited to use the center; home demonstration councils, farm organizations and adult associations may use it. As the schedule permits, other groups will be welcome if their purposes are educational and constructive.

Associated in Homemakers work since 1946, Mrs. Smith was president of the Allegany County Council of Homemakers, attending the National Home Demonstration Council meeting in Columbus, Ohio, in 1957, and president of the Polish Mountain club. She attended Rural Women's Short Course, University of Maryland, for seven years. A local leader for the Flintstone-Polish Mountain 4-H Club for 10 years, Mrs. Smith has been on the mother's committee every year since it was organized in 1947. She attended State 4-H Club Week, College Park, for 12 years and Western Maryland 4-H Camp for girls the past 13 years, serving as cabin leader and teaching the same capacity for 12 years at outdoor cooking. She served in the Boys 4-H Camp and state conservation camp, Pleasant Valley.

The extent of Mr. Smith's 4-H work has been helping in transportation.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are the parents of two children, Miss Eleanor Smith, assistant home demonstration agent for Baltimore County, at Towson; and a son, Donald Smith of the West Virginia Air National Guard, serving as a jet mechanic at Martinsburg. His wife, Mrs. Rosemary Smith, is on the faculty of Hancock High School.

Mr., Mrs. R. O. Smith Go To 4-H Foundation

Mr. and Mrs. Russell O. Smith, Flintstone, have taken positions with the National 4-H Foundation, she said last evening. They will report June 1 to join the staff with W. W. Erue, program director.

Mrs. Smith will serve as hostess and Mr. Smith will be in charge of maintenance.

The center, at 7100 Connecticut Avenue, Chevy Chase, was formerly the Crevy Chase Junior College, and was used during the war by the Army. Since then, the exterior of the buildings has been preserved and the interior done over. The three buildings, on th 12½-acre campus of mostly woodland, are Smith Hall, Turner Hall and Warren Hall. Smith Hall, named for the late Dr. C. B. Smith, of the state extension staff, will be a dormitory for 300. Turner Hall is the administration building and Warren Hall, named for Gertrude L. Warren, retired from the federal extension staff, is the guest house.

President Eisenhower has been invited to cut the ribbon for the official opening of the center June 16. Approximately 500 state and federal extension people and 4-H'ers will attend the banquet.

National 4-H Camp is the first scheduled activity. It is for two 4-H boys and two 4-H girls from each state and will be June 13-20. The Maryland Extension agents have scheduled their fall meeting there.

Many groups will use the center, Mrs. Smith said, but priority will be given to youth groups interested in rural life. The annual national assembly of 4-H leaders and delegates heads the list. Conference and meetings of extension workers will be welcomed; youth groups from counties and states and other countries are invited to use the center; home demonstration councils, farm organizations and adult associations may use it. As the schedule permits, other groups will be welcome if their purposes are educational and constructive.

Associated in Homemakers work since 1946, Mrs. Smith was president of the Allegany County Council of Homemakers, attending the National Home Demonstration Council meeting in Columbus, Ohio, in 1957, and president of the Polish Mountain club. She attended Rural Women's Short Course, University of Maryland, for seven years. A local leader for the Flintstone-Polish Mountain 4-H Club for 10 years, Mrs. Smith has been on the mother's committee every year since it was organized in 1947. She attended State 4-H Club Week, College Park, for 12 years and Western Maryland 4-H Camp for girls the past 13 years, serving as cabin leader and teaching the same capacity for 12 years at outdoor cooking. She served in the Boys 4-H Camp and state conservation camp, Pleasant Valley.

The extent of Mr. Smith's 4-H work has been helping in transportation.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are the parents of two children, Miss Eleanor Smith, assistant home demonstration agent for Baltimore County, at Towson; and a son, Donald Smith of the West Virginia Air National Guard, serving as a jet mechanic at Martinsburg. His wife, Mrs. Rosemary Smith, is on the faculty of Hancock High School.

Former SRC Worker Says Checks Forged

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A former State Road Commission employe has charged that three checks made out to him while he was ill in 1957 were forged and that the money apparently was used for political purposes by his Republican superiors.

State Treasurer Orel J. Skeen, a Democrat, showed newsmen Thursday a copy of an affidavit signed by Otha A. Eagle, of Dink, Clay County, made before a notary public on Tuesday. Skeen also displayed photostats of the checks referred to by Eagle.

In the statement, Eagle alleged that Clay County road officials told him in the fall of 1957, when he became ill, that his paychecks would continue so as not to affect his Social Security payments, but that the remainder of the pay would be used for "campaign purposes."

Eagle maintained he never saw three checks totaling $296 for October and November, 1957, and that on instructions he cashed a fourth check for $89 and gave the money to a superior. The three checks he said he never received were cashed, with his name endorsed.

Skeen turned the material over to Atty. Gen. W. W. Barron. In a letter to Barron, Skeen said, "The allegation, if true, is sufficient grounds . . . to pursue further."

At present, Barron is regarded as the principal Democratic candidate for governor in 1960.

Midland Plans Town Election Monday, May 11

MIDLAND — The Mayor and Town Council met Monday evening and appointed David Shearer and Edward Eisentrout, clerks, and Edward Smith, Charles McGowan and Harry Smith, judges for the general election Monday, May 11, in the Town Hall.

Mayor Lionel D. Baker is unopposed for re-election. Three councilmen will be elected and the nominees are Alex Rennie, Raymond Bampton, and the present council members, Dewey Williams, Melvin Loar, Edward Smith and William Kroll.

Harry Youngblood, present light commissioner will not seek re-election. Frank Burns informed the mayor and council, that due to failing health, he would not be a candidate this year.

Mayor Baker issued a proclamation naming the week of May 25 to 30 as Memorial Week. The mayor and council also accepted an invitation from Midland American Legion Post No. 169, to participate in the Memorial Day service, which will be held at the Honor Roll at the intersection of Routes 36 and 55.

Street Commissioner Donald Cook reported that crushed rock is being placed on the shoulders of all paved streets to protect the black topping from cracking.

Mayor Baker stated that the city dump had again been cleaned up and signs would be placed near the dump warning citizens where to place their garbage. Some people are still abusing the dump, and if it becomes necessary a fence will be erected around it, and will be accessible to the garbage collector only. Also any person found defacing any signs in the town will be fined, he said.

Light Commissioner Harry Youngblood reported that Potomac Edison Co. had erected new poles on Railroad Street, and that the lighting project would be completed in the next week.

Water Commissioner Harry Devlin informed the mayor and council that they may be able to purchase office supplies and other equipment from Army Surplus at College Park, Md.

Finance Commissioner John Blair was instructed by Mayor Baker to have the yearly financial report completed for publication next month.

The new playground adjacent to the town hall has been surveyed by Maxwell Mathias and work on it is progressing.

City Worker To Get $24,000 Salary

BALTIMORE (AP) A 29-year-old planning expert will become the highest paid man on the Baltimore city payroll.

Dennis Durden, who holds a doctorate from the Georgia Institute of Technology, was named Thursday as a deputy to the general manager of the 127 million dollar downtown renewal project — Charles Center.

Durden will be paid $24,000 a year. His boss, Jay Jefferson Miller, will get $1 a year. Miller is a 61-year-old retired department store executive who has been a leader in getting the program started.

Durden is now employed by Larry Smith & Co., economic consultants who helped prepare preliminary plans for the center.

Durden will begin work June 1. His $24,000 salary compares with the $21,250 paid the city's public school superintendent, $18,000 to the city traffic commissioner and $15,000 to the mayor.

Live Grenade Found In Sack Of Parcel Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — A hand grenade, believed to be live, tumbled out of a sack of parcel post mail when it was emptied at the City Post Office about Thursday.

The weapon, of a type designed to shatter into shrapnel when detonated, was wrapped loosely in newspaper—part of the New York Herald-Tribune's April 23 edition.

Acting Postmaster Carlton G. Beall said the grenade was discovered by a mail handler.

Beall said the lethal package was not wrapped, stamped or addressed. No broken parcels were found in the sack.

He said the package was not mailed in Washington.

Referenda On Two New Acts Seen Likely

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A privilege rarely used by Maryland voters seems likely to get an unprecedented workout this year.

Pressure is building up for petitioning statewide referenda on two acts of the 1959 General Assembly.

Moves are also underway to petition some local referenda in the 1960 general election. This is not so rare. At least 34 local laws have been put to county voters under the 1915 constitutional amendment.

Petitions currently being circulated call for an expression by the voters on laws which would establish a new Potomac River Compact with Virginia and revamp the State Racing Commission.

Article 16 of the Constitution requires 10,000 signatures on such petitions. At least 5,000 must be filed by June 1 and the rest by June 30. No more than half may be residents of Baltimore or any one county.

The only statewide referendum successful in blocking a legislative act was held in 1948. It involved an attempt by the 1947 General Assembly to shorten the term of Motor Vehicle Commissioner W. Lee Elgin, who had refused to resign at the suggestion of Gov. Lane.

The voters killed the so-called "Elgin Ripper" law by a vote of 140,287 to 117,789.

The first instance of a referndum by petition on a statewide measure was in 1938. Enough signatures were obtained to force a vote on a law requiring a 48-hour waiting period between an application for marriage license and the ceremony. But the voters upheld the ban on quickie marriages by a margin of 167,122 to 57,369.

In 1950, opponents of the so-called "Ober Law" forced a referndum on it, but the anti-subversive legislation got a solid vote of confidence, 259,250 to 79,120.

Services Held

BALTIMORE (AP) — Funeral servides will be held Friday for Sigmund Katz, 81-year-old cofounder of a jewelry firm bearing his name.

State Milk Producers Ask Federal Marketing Order In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland milk producers Thursday formally asked the secretary of agriculture to set up a federal milk marketing order for the Baltimore area.

In a brief filed by the Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers, Inc., the producers requested a minimum wholesale price for bottled milk averaging $5.55 per hundredweight over 12 months.

The brief supported, in general, the milk pricing plan outlined in the original request filed with the Department of Agriculture last October.

Hearings were held in Baltimore before a federal examiner last February. At that time, the milk producers said the federal order was needed to stabilize the market, but opponents argued that the order would boost retail prices.

In recent months the price of bottling milk has averagde $5.55.

The cooperative requested that the minimum price under the order be set, at $5.68 per hundredweight for eight months and at $5.28 for March through June, or $5.65 for nine months and $5.25 for April through June. Either plan would result in an annual average of $5.55.

The brief also recommended including Maryland's lower Eastern Shore counties in the federal order.

Hepatitis, Virus Disease Of Liver, Said On Increase In The United States

NEW YORK (UPI) —Hepatitis, a virus disease that strikes the liver, is on the increase in the United States. Since September, there has been an increase of nearly 50 per cent in the number of reported cases.

More than 12,000 cases have been reported nationwide. Public health officials estimate there probably are several cases for every one that is reported.

Between 800 and 900 persons die annually of the disease. Most are over 50 years of age.

"This is more than the number of deaths from many other acute infectious diseases and indicates that this infection is of considerable public health importance," said Dr. Carl Dauer, of the U.S. Public Health Service in Washington.

There is no vaccine to prevent hepatitis. There is no specific treatment, no miracle drugs.

The virus attacks liver cells, destroying them. The bile cannot flow. It backs up. This is what makes many victims of hepatitis yellow or jaundiced at a certain stage of the attack.

Following are questions put to Dr. Dauer, and his answers:

Q. Is the Public Health Service concerned about the outbreak of hepatitis?

A. "Yes, because the disease is quite easily carried from person to person and it may, under certain conditions, be water-borne. Since we cannot isolate the virus, laboratory tests of water are useless."

Q. To what extent has there been an increase in infectious hepatitis during recent months?

A. "Since the first of September, 1958, there were 12,560 cases reported, as compared with 8,600 for the same period one year ago. Since January 1, there have been about 7,150 cases compared with 4,270 last year."

Q. Has there been an increase in "serum" hepatitis?

A. "We do not know. The category of infectious hepatitis in our reports includes both serum and infectious hepatitis."

Q. What is the U.S. Public Health Service doing about the disease?

A. "There is no special program set up by the Public Health Service to combat the disease. Control measures by local health authorities usually consist of isolation of cases and administration of gamma globulin to contacts..."

"Public health service assists in investigating outbreaks and conducts research to find a way of growing the virus..."

Q. How is the disease spread?

A. Infectious hepatitis is spread from person to person, probably most often by hands that are soiled with intestinal excretions. A few epidemics have been reported in which water contaminated with sewage was the most probable means of transmission.

"Serum hepatitis is transmitted by transfer of blood or a blood product, such as plasma or serum from one person to another. Blood transfusions — use of needles, syringes improperly sterilized or surgical instruments that are contaminated with blood of infected persons."

Q. How is hepatitis treated?

A. "There is no specific treatment. Bed rest until functions of the liver become normal. High carbohydrate and protein diets are recommended."

Q. What are the symptoms?

A. "Symptons consist of fever, lassitude, abdominal discomfort, aching pains and, three or four days later, jaundice. Jaundice may not be present in mild cases, however.

"The liver is larger than normal and tender..."

To avoid hepatitis, drink ginger ale on a picnic if you're unsure of the water supply, suggests Dr. Henry W. Kumm, associate director for medical and natural sciences at Rockefeller Foundation.

He said the hepatitis virus thrives in contaminated water.

According to Public Health statisticians, top states in the current hepatitis outbreak are—New Mexico, Idaho, Colorado, Oregon, Montana, Arizona, North Dakota, nearly every state. Exceptions: Kentucky, West Virginia. Increases have been reported in Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kansas, Nevada Utah.

Cobalt Therapy Aids Recovery From Cancer

BALTIMORE (AP)—The use of cobalt therapy before surgery to increase the recovery chances of lung cancer victims and the chilling of patients to combat massive infection were described Wednesday by university of Maryland doctors.

Dr. R. Adams Cowley, head of the department of thoracic surgery, said the pre-operative cobalt treatment may triple the five-year cure rate for lung cancer patients.

He outlined the procedure before the close of a three-day meeting of the Southern Society for Clinical Surgery. In 22 cases covered by the report, 12 patients were alive and free of disease from one to three years after surgery, compared with four who might be expected to survive without the cobalt treatment.

Drs. James Estes and John M. Allen, in a paper describing the chilling—or hypothermia — treatment, said it had been used in five cases when all other known measures to keep the patient alive had failed.

It was seen as a possibly effective means of combatting a type of infection known as septic shock. This occurs when toxins are released by virulent organisms, as in peritonitis after the perforation of a duodenal ulcer.

Bacteria issued from the organisms are so deadly and swift that they often cannot be checked by the most powerful antibiotics.

Estes and Allen said they placed the patient in a special cooling blanket whose temperature was kept at 40 degrees farenheit. Within a matter of hours the patient's temperature dropped to about 90 to 91 degrees.

This apparently retarded the spread of the toxic bacteria, giving the antibiotics more time to do their work and slowing down the bodily processes until the antiotics could take effect.

In four of the five cases described, the patients experienced a recovery. The fifth died of a complication apparently unrelated to the treatment.

Use Of Tin Cans Cost Government Extra $7 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—The General Accounting Office said Thursday the government spent an unnecessary seven million dollars by using tin cans instead of plastic bags to ship dry milk and cheese to needy foreign countries.

The extra cost was incurred during 1957 and 1958 by the Commodity Credit Corporation, which packaged the surplus products for shipment abroad by nonprofit voluntary agencies.

Use of plastic bags, the GAO told Congress, has been found to be satisfactory for similar shipments to the same countries, with only minor spoilage.

Goldstein Sees Tax Increase

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Comptroller Louis Goldstein peered into Maryland's fiscal future Wednesday and saw an era of increased State taxes to meet increased needs.

"It's up to John Q. Citizen to start deciding right now which taxes are the most equitable to meet the increasing need," Goldstein told members of the Rotary Club.

The Democratic official said Maryland is second only to Florida among Eastern seaboard states in the rate of population increase.

As an example of future needs, Goldstein said the present 560,000 students in the state will increase to 685,000 within the next five years. "We cannot make the next generation pay for this generation's needs," he said.

The comptroller estimated the State would take in 70 million dollars during the first year of the 3 per cent sales tax, as compared to 44 million dollars for the last full year under the old 2 per cent levy. The higher rate went into effect last Jan. 1.

Next Summit Conference May Be In 'Frisco

By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst

Every now and then someone revives the idea of holding the next summit conference in San Francisco.

The thought is that a visit to the birthplace of the United Nations just might revive some atmosphere of amity among the leaders of the Soviet Union, France, Britain and the United States, and that it would be a good opportunity to show the country to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Some of the memories connected with San Francisco are not, however, entirely happy ones for the Soviets, entirely aside from their contempt for the UN.

Mention of the famous Presidio as a possible meeting place reminds that, whereas now it is a military establishment, it was once an administrative and prison center for the Spanish rulers who took a very dim view of Russian attempts to penetrate the new world.

Indeed, the Spaniards paid little attention to the upper part of California until the Russians began to explore Alaska and establish themselves as far south as Fort Smith, and fishing captain felt the heavy hand of Spanish justice, and relations with the American colonists a little later were similarly unhappy. There was trouble right up to the time of the Alaska purchase, although the Russians abandoned their California base in 1806. Quarrels over fishing and sealing regulations continued until the very recent past.

The "no trespassing" signs put up for the Russians—and indeed for all other foreigners on the West Coast—have continued almost until this day.

As for showing Khrushchev the country, trying to impress him with both the ethical and material strength of the United States, it always sounds like a good idea.

Cobalt Therapy Aids Recovery From Cancer

BALTIMORE (AP)—The use of cobalt therapy before surgery to increase the recovery chances of lung cancer victims and the chilling of patients to combat massive infection were described Wednesday by university of Maryland doctors.

Dr. R. Adams Cowley, head of the department of thoracic surgery, said the pre-operative cobalt treatment may triple the five-year cure rate for lung cancer patients.

He outlined the procedure before the close of a three-day meeting of the Southern Society for Clinical Surgery. In 22 cases covered by the report, 12 patients were alive and free of disease from one to three years after surgery, compared with four who might be expected to survive without the cobalt treatment.

Drs. James Estes and John M. Allen, in a paper describing the chilling—or hypothermia — treatment, said it had been used in five cases when all other known measures to keep the patient alive had failed.

It was seen as a possibly effective means of combatting a type of infection known as septic shock. This occurs when toxins are released by virulent organisms, as in peritonitis after the perforation of a duodenal ulcer.

Bacteria issued from the organisms are so deadly and swift that they often cannot be checked by the most powerful antibiotics.

Estes and Allen said they placed the patient in a special cooling blanket whose temperature was kept at 40 degrees farenheit. Within a matter of hours the patient's temperature dropped to about 90 to 91 degrees.

This apparently retarded the spread of the toxic bacteria, giving the antibiotics more time to do their work and slowing down the bodily processes until the antiotics could take effect.

In four of the five cases described, the patients experienced a recovery. The fifth died of a complication apparently unrelated to the treatment.

Use Of Tin Cans Cost Government Extra $7 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—The General Accounting Office said Thursday the government spent an unnecessary seven million dollars by using tin cans instead of plastic bags to ship dry milk and cheese to needy foreign countries.

The extra cost was incurred during 1957 and 1958 by the Commodity Credit Corporation, which packaged the surplus products for shipment abroad by nonprofit voluntary agencies.

Use of plastic bags, the GAO told Congress, has been found to be satisfactory for similar shipments to the same countries, with only minor spoilage.

Goldstein Sees Tax Increase

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Comptroller Louis Goldstein peered into Maryland's fiscal future Wednesday and saw an era of increased State taxes to meet increased needs.

"It's up to John Q. Citizen to start deciding right now which taxes are the most equitable to meet the increasing need," Goldstein told members of the Rotary Club.

The Democratic official said Maryland is second only to Florida among Eastern seaboard states in the rate of population increase.

As an example of future needs, Goldstein said the present 560,000 students in the state will increase to 685,000 within the next five years. "We cannot make the next generation pay for this generation's needs," he said.

The comptroller estimated the State would take in 70 million dollars during the first year of the 3 per cent sales tax, as compared to 44 million dollars for the last full year under the old 2 per cent levy. The higher rate went into effect last Jan. 1.

Next Summit Conference May Be In 'Frisco

By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst

Every now and then someone revives the idea of holding the next summit conference in San Francisco.

The thought is that a visit to the birthplace of the United Nations just might revive some atmosphere of amity among the leaders of the Soviet Union, France, Britain and the United States, and that it would be a good opportunity to show the country to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Some of the memories connected with San Francisco are not, however, entirely happy ones for the Soviets, entirely aside from their contempt for the UN.

Mention of the famous Presidio as a possible meeting place reminds that, whereas now it is a military establishment, it was once an administrative and prison center for the Spanish rulers who took a very dim view of Russian attempts to penetrate the new world.

Indeed, the Spaniards paid little attention to the upper part of California until the Russians began to explore Alaska and establish themselves as far south as Fort Smith, and fishing captain felt the heavy hand of Spanish justice, and relations with the American colonists a little later were similarly unhappy. There was trouble right up to the time of the Alaska purchase, although the Russians abandoned their California base in 1806. Quarrels over fishing and sealing regulations continued until the very recent past.

The "no trespassing" signs put up for the Russians—and indeed for all other foreigners on the West Coast—have continued almost until this day.

As for showing Khrushchev the country, trying to impress him with both the ethical and material strength of the United States, it always sounds like a good idea.

Television and Radio

by John Crosby

(John Crosby is on vacation. While he is away his column will be written by guest columnists from the television trade.)

The Shape Of Things To Come

By JAMES A. MICHENER

In recent months I have been engaged in two enterprises that often seem to be in conflict. I have been reading proof on a long novel about Hawaii. And I have been working with Martin Manulis, the genius of Playhouse 90, on "Adventures in Paradise," a new television series for ABC-TV, dealing with the South Pacific. It took me three years to write the novel. And seven years to plan the TV show.

I have therefore had ample time to compare the job of the novelist with that of the man who works in television. In what follows I'm going to list some of my tentative conclusions, putting them down in no special order.

Not even yet do we appreciate the tremendous impact of TV on society. We are merely on the threshold of its potential.

Entertainment, marketing, politics, and education will be even more drastically affected by television than we now expect. Any vital social form that does not learn to utilize this medium will suffer relatvely to those that do learn.

Reading habits in particular will undergo radical change. Books already sell fewer copies. Dozens of magazines have already collapsed. Newspapers may have to develop new functions.

It would take a real genius to predict what the role of the writer will be fifty years from now.

For example, twelve years ago out of one hundred best-selling novels, about 75 per cent were sold to the movies for an average price of $60,000. Recently, of a similar hundred bestsellers only three had been sold to the movies, at an average price of $22,000.

This radical shift in the economics of writing has been good for the novelist. He's getting out of old ruts and trying to decide what his real function is. Any major change has positive effects on the creative mind. Certainly, novels today seem better to me than they were twelve years ago.

On the other hand, we have undoubtedly lost two or three dozen fine novelists who would have written strong books had they not committed themselves to TV. In the long run, though, they probably made a more lasting contribution helping TV get started than they would have by merely adding another novel to the list.

If Shakespeare were alive today, I feel sure he would be a TV writer. The medium exactly fits his wide-ranging, mercurial imagery, but he would have one hell of a time with the producer who shouts, "Don't say it! Show it!"

If Dumas were alive, he would obviously write for television. So would Dickens. But maybe not Thackeray.

Thoreau, of course, would not only not write for the medium. He wouldn't own a set.

And P. T. Barnum would cry, "Shut down the circus! Now we can get all the fools together in one tent at one time."

There has never been a greater demand for good short stories than today. Not being gifted in this medium, I envy those who are. They never had it so good.

But while TV usurps the short story, the travel yarn, and the pure adventure story, it encourages the writing of long, speculative novels. In fact, it marks them a cultural necessity.

Just as TV drove out the cheap movie, it will probably drive out the cheap novel. But men like Thomas Mann would never worry much about the competition of TV.

There's a chance that children reared on the vital imagery of TV may begin to read better books than their parents ever did.

From the days of the earliest cave man, society has always treasured men who could tell stories. I haven't a clue as to how the novelist of the year 2000 will be operating, but I am absolutely convinced that men who can narrate stories will continue to have a valued place in society.

I have a hunch he will spend a good deal of his time working for new systems of television.

City Reservoir Repairs Slated

Water Department employes bega draining Ridgedale Reservoir yesterday to clean and make minor repairs to the storage facility.

Commissioner G. Ray Light said pressure should not be affected in the area but there may be a slight discoloration of the water.

Draining has been completed and repairs on the bottom of the reservoir will be started today. The top section will be repaired later, Light said.

Mr. Light said the Fort Hill reservoir, which holds 3,500,000 gallons of water, and the Ridgedale reservoir, which has a capacity of 7,500,000 gallons, are being repaired while water is wasting over the spillways of both city dams.

State Health Department Head Comments On County Meeting

An explanation of the position of Dr. Ton van Strien, Allegany County health officer, is contained in a letter received yesterday by the Cumberland Evening Times from Dr. Perry F. Prather, director of the Maryland Department of Health.

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners sitting as the Allegany County Board of Health has asked for the transfer of Dr. van Strien from his post here.

Dr. Prather requested that his letter be published. Since the same story appeared in The Cumberland News, his letter follows in full:

Dr. Prather requests publication of his letter which follows in full:

"The story 'Board Requests Doctor Transfer' which appeared in the May 4, 1959 issue of the Evening Times came as something of a surprise. I feel that it is incomplete in many respects and am writing this letter of amplification.

"When I was invited by telephone to come to Cumberland to discuss with the County Commissioners their dissatisfaction with the deputy state and county health officer, I was led to believe that Dr. Davens (my deputy) and I were to discuss informally with the board the local health department in general and a personal problem in particular. I assumed that the personnel problem would receive the usual attention to privacy to which any state or local employe is entitled until specific charges are made allowing the individual to defend himself.

"It is an understatement to say that this understanding was not carried out. Dr. van Strien was not even notified formally what the charges against him were nor was he notified of or invited to the meeting.

"It was unclear to both myself and my deputy, Dr. Edward Davens, whether the commissioners were meeting as such or as the County Board of Health and whether in open or executive session. Actually since the president of the board, Mr. Rowan, did not preside but sat in the audience while I was there, I assumed that this was simply an airing of various dissatisfactions from several groups and that no public announcements would be made until the complaints were specified in writing and the doctor given an opportunity to explain his actions, a procedure dictated by commonly accepted rules of fair play.

"The account in the Times stated that the commissioners were sitting as the County Board of Health. Since the deputy state health officer is by law the secretary and executive officer of the board, it would be most unusual procedure to hold such a session without his being notified.

"The report of the meeting in your paper implied that Dr. van Strien might not be qualified. I would like to emphatically dispel any such impression. On the contrary he is very well qualified by both training and experience. In addition to being a physician eligible for state licensure as required by the State Employment Commission, he has had specialized training in public health at the Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health where he earned the master's degree with an excellent record. Following this he had an additional year's residency training in the Montgomery County Health Department which is an approved residency training area by the American Board of Preventive Medicine. He then served successfully as health officer of Charles County for two and one-half years. His transfer to Allegany County was considered by myself and the State Board of Health as a promotion for ability and successful performance in every sense of the word.

"One of the principal points made at this meeting was that Dr. van Strien against the wishes of the clinic physiciar and the Tuberculosis Association had rotated the chest clinic nurse. Dr. Davens and I, in commenting on this, pointed out that this was standard policy of the health department throughout the State in developing generalized public health nursing for a well-balanced community health program rather than specialized nursing devoted to a particular disease. In other words, Dr. van Strien in this instance were merely trying to carry out the recommended nursing procedures of the State Health Department. As a matter of long experience it has been found that the identification of a special nurse with a special clinic is apt to cause discontent among the rest of the nursing staff and in the long run works against the primary objective of public health nursing which is directed to all of the health problems of the entire family as part of the community. In any case he was simply carrying out a procedure considered to be good administrati n by this Department. At no time was he called before the commissioners acting as the County Board of Health (and as such his administrative supervisors) and asked to explain his action.

"With further reference to this same program (tuberculosis control) I have been told, although not at this meeting, that there was disagreement with his recommendation that mass chest X-rays be performed less frequently among one of the industrial groups. In this instance he was also carrying out sound principles of modern public health epidemiology. In fact the Bureau of Tuberculosis of the State more than five years ago started to strongly urged that tuberculosis X-ray surveys be specifically directed to the special groups of the population at greatest risk. Since the rising concern over the realization that radiation must be kept to an absolute minimum because of its cumulative effect, this recommendation has been strongly reiterated and most counties have made substantial changes in their mass X-ray program in order to make it most effective. But there is another point here. Dr. van Strien in suggesting that chest X-rays be taken less frequently in low risk groups was practicing economy. The current cost of each miniature film taken is 45 cents and this is paid for from State and local tax funds. It is obviously good administration therefore to direct this case finding procedure to groups of greatest risk leaving aside the question of cumulative irradiation. Indeed in some areas of the State where the yield has been low, substitute and less costly methods of case finding are being used.

"At the meeting I attended there were several references to the health officer's manner of enforcement of State Board of Health regulations on sanitation such as eating establishments, dairy farms, septic tanks, and so forth. In this regard I feel that Dr. van Strien is doing no more that we expect from any of the 23 deputy state health officers acting as the agent of the State Board of Health.

"After hearing the various other complaints, I pointed out that it was difficult for me to understand how the board, especially the two new members of only five months, could properly evaluate the health officer except by hearsay. When the suggestion was made that he b transferred, I explained how very important it was that the matter be handled carefully or we would have an extremely difficult time in recruiting a qualified replacement. I further suggested that they should have a session with him to tell him of his shortcomings and to get the complete story, since he is partly the responsibility of the local board.

"Finally I told the commissioners that appointments of deputy state and county health officers are jointly made by the state and county boards of health and that if an individual became persona non grata to the county board, the State Health Department would not insist on his remaining, but I strongly urged that the local group be sure of the facts and not be hasty in this sort of decision."

State Health Department Head Comments On County Meeting

An explanation of the position of Dr. Ton van Strien, Allegany County health officer, is contained in a letter received yesterday by the Cumberland Evening Times from Dr. Perry F. Prather, director of the Maryland Department f Health.

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners sitting as the Allegany County Board of Health has asked for the transfer of Dr. van Strien from his post here.

Dr. Prather requested that his letter be published. Since the same story appeared in The Cumberland News, his letter follows in full:

Dr. Prather requests publication of his letter which follows in full:

"The story 'Board Requests Doctor Transfer' which appeared in the May 4, 1959 issue of the Evening Times came as something of a surprise. I feel that it is incomplete in many respects and am writing this letter of amplification.

"When I was invited by telephone to come to Cumberland to discuss with the County Commissioners their dissatisfaction with the deputy state and county health officer, I was led to believe that Dr. Davens (my deputy) and I were to discuss informally with the board the local health department in general and a personal problem in particular. I assumed that the personnel problem would receive the usual attention to privacy to which any state or local employe is entitled until specific charges are made allowing the individual to defend himself.

"It is an understatement to say that this understanding was not carried out. Dr. van Strien was not even notified formally what the charges against him were nor was he notified of or invited to the meeting.

"It was unclear to both myself and my deputy, Dr. Edward Davens, whether the commissioners were meeting as such or as the County Board of Health and whether in open or executive session. Actually since the president of the board, Mr. Rowan, did not preside but sat in the audience while I was there, I assumed that this was simply an airing of various dissatisfactions from several groups and that no public announcements would be made until the complaints were specified in writing and the doctor given an opportunity to explain his actions, a procedure dictated by commonly accepted rules of fair play.

"The account in the Times stated that the commissioners were sitting as the County Board of Health. Since the deputy state health officer is by law the secretary and executive officer of the board, it would be most unusual procedure to hold such a session without his being notified.

"The report of the meeting in your paper implied that Dr. van Strien might not be qualified. I would like to emphatically dispel any such impression. On the contrary he is very well qualified by both training and experience. In addition to being a physician eligible for state licensure as required by the State Employment Commission, he has had specialized training in public health at the Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health where he earned the master's degree with an excellent record. Missing Man Found In River

SENECA, Md. (AP) — A body identified as that of Sgt. John E. Froendt, 29, of Falls Church, Va., was found near the Maryland shore of the Potomac River Thursday.

Montgomery County police said identification was made by papers in a wallet in the man's clothing.

Froendt disappeared Saturday night. He and his brother-in-law, Charles M. Smith of Fairfax, Va., had left Poolesville, Md. in a boat.

Police said the body was found by a friend of Froendt's who was dragging the river near Horse Pen Culvert, about one mile downriver from where Froendt disappeared.

Smith told police at the time of the accident that he and Froendt had taken the boat to Selden Island and took turns trying out a new outboard motor. Smith said that at one point he looked from the shore, saw the boat spinning around in the river, and heard Froendt shouting for help.

TUNBRIDGE WELLS, England (UPI) — Town councilmen were unable to explain to the irate female population Thursday why they chose Trisha Ball as "tunbridge Wells Beauty Queen," when Miss Ball actually lived in London, 40 miles away.

Sen. Randolph Asks Federal Consideration For Small Businesses

ELKINS, W. Va. (UPI) — Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-W. Va.) has called for greater consideration of the small business contractor in awarding of government contracts.

Addressing a group of businessmen completing special courses offered in a small business seminar at Davis & Elkins College, Randolph said that in the past five years prime contract dollars paid to small firms had dropped almost one-third.

"The current trend is tragic and must be reserved," he said. He noted that in 1958 there were 2,000 fewer manufacturing firms operating in the nation in 1952 and that this "fatality rate is not encouraging our economy."

He said 95 per cent of the 4,322,000 business units in the country were in the "small" classification.

Randolph said there was proof that competitive bidding for government contracts rather than "relying on awarding f contracts to favored companies without competition" could save large amounts of money.

As an example, he said there was competitive bidding for the first time last year for supplying 42 products to the Navy ships parts controls center at Mechanicsburg, Pa.

Randolph, a member of the Senate Samall Business Committee, said the cost of the products under competitive bidding was $39,209 compared to a cost of $131,362 had the 42 items been bought on a non-competitive deal from a single source.

Elected President

DURHAM, N. C. (AP) — Mrs. Alfred Tuvin of Baltimore was re-elected president Thursday of the Seaboard Region of Hadsassh, a Jewish women's organization as it closed its 34th annual convention here.

• Delinquency Is Community's Job

Juvenile delinquency is growing rapidly in in the United States, according to a report by the Senate subcommittee on juvenile delinquency just issued. Two million American youngsters in the 10 to 17-year bracket will soon have juvenile court records, says the report.

Basing its projection on an uninterrupted nine-year climb in juvenile delinquency rates, the subcommittee says that in the 1949-57 period appearances before juvenile courts increased by almost 2½ times while child population in the 10-17 age group increased by only 25 per cent. One-fifth of the male adolescents in this age group have a court record, with a total of 12 per cent for both boys and girls.

But this is only part of the sordid picture, the report continues. There are many "hidden delinquents." One paragraph in the report deserves special attention. It reads:

"Emphasizing the need for rapid acceleration of community programs in prevention and rehabilitation, the subcommittee took particular notice of the sharp increase of incorrigible and delinquent behavior within our public school system."

While noting that the problem is nationwide in scope, the report cites specific evidence gained through a month-long investigation of New York City schools. Senator Hennings, chairman, says large masses of delinquent and predelinquent children are foisted upon schools "because communities are unable or unwilling to provide services and facilities to handle them."

Almost simultaneously J. Edgar Hoover issues this warning:

"Fundamentally, the solution for the crime problem lies in bolstering law enforcement to meet the attack. To realize this goal, citizen support and cooperation are vitally needed. No community can have enforcement any stronger than the people desire and demand."

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

35 Years Of Service

On Sunday, J. Edgar Hoover will have been Director of the FBI for 35 years which is undoubtedly a record in government service. His has been a difficult task, for the American people reject the concept of a national police force. He had to establish an organization which would serve when needed but would not bring the full weight of the Federal Government into police activities, which, in this country, remain local.

Hoover took over an agency of government which had become disreputable and his need was not only to give it a new and more proper orientation but also to find scope for it within our constitutional system. This, J. Edgar Hoover accomplished in spite of all the efforts of Congress and government officials to enlarge his service into a police agency. Thus Hoover has managed to lead the FBI through World War II and the Korean War without expanding it beyond civil affairs and beyond the strict limits set for it by Congress. The FBI has not become a Federal police agency. It remains a bureau within the Department of Justice, under the supervision of the Attorney General.

The work of the FBI nevertheless has increased and many activities not originally part of its work are now routine. For instance, over the years, it has developed enormous files of information about persons, associations, organizations, etc. It has also its large file of fingerprints. These have become available to local police throughout the country and by modern systems of communications and filing, required data is instantly obtainable, thus making the work of local police more efficient. The FBI also gathers crime statistics and has set up a proper method of uniform reporting. This has had a moral effect upon police departments, for the municipal politician who likes to falsify his statistics finds himself in difficulties with public opinion when he declines to adopt the uniform reporting method.

There is the FBI National Academy to which local police departments send promising police officers to learn the most modern methods of crime prevention and crime detection.

The FBI is charged by Congress, under the Lindbergh Law, to step into kidnapping cases, after an interval, to assist local police. This is a great advantage because county and state lines can be crossed by the FBI and it makes it more difficult for the crooks to get away. The FBI also is called into bank embezzlement cases. It is charged with protecting the United States against subversives and such Fifth Column activities as the Communists practice.

The FBI has maintained such a high quality of personnel and service that it has won the good will of the American people and the position of J. Edgar Hoover in American life has been extraordinary. He has placed the FBI above and beyond politics.

However, in recent years the FBI has been attacked with more violence than truth, particularly by those doctrinaire groups which run interference for the Communists. The principal charge against the FBI is that it is not as good as it is presumed to be and that J. Edgar Hoover's emphasis on subversion is either designed to enhance his personal popularity or to obtain larger appropriations from Congress.

It is only to be expected that the Communists would attack the FBI and J. Edgar Hoover and that they would employ every method available to humiliate and degrade him in the eyes of the American people and of the world. Their motive is to force his retirement, so that the FBI will become a football of partisan politics and be of no value at all. Attacks have been made upon its use of informants, without whom it cannot exist. Attempts have been made to open its files which would wreck the organization altogether because its files also contain raw material, unserviced, unscreened, and some of it perhaps untrue but retained because of leads. This is normal police practice.

In recent months reporters of certain publications have been interviewing persons associated with or antagonistic to J. Edgar Hoover, apparently with the object of getting as much about him that may be deleterious as possible. Publication of these articles seems to be delayed because there is nothing to get on an outstanding personality who has given 35 years of his life to the service of his country in fighting crime, subversion, treason and indecency on all fronts as Director of the FBI.

Harry Truman Is Fascinating Guide Through Pages Of Recent History

By Drew Pearson

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. — A guided tour through the Truman Library by the man who so vigorously molded American history is a fascinating experience. Harry Truman knows every picture, every memento, every book in his library, and keeps up a running fire of humorous, caustic comment about men and events. It's like rolling back the pages of history.

The tour was shortly before Mr. Truman's 75th birthday. The former President talked rapidly.

"We played a little joke on Winston Churchill," he said, pointing to a photo of Churchill and himself. "He didn't realize the picture was taken standing in front of a painting of the old USS Constitution defeating the British Guerriere in the War of 1812.

"It's one of my most prized possessions," added Mr. Truman, and when I deciphered Churchill's scrawled inscription I could understand why. It read:

"To President Truman whose decisive strike against aggression in Korea turned the fortunes of the free world to sure hope of peace."

We walked on. Truman stopped before a huge map of the midwest, highlighting its rivers and reservoirs.

"That's the Pick-Sloan plan for flood control," he said. "When that's finished there'll be no more floods in the midwest. General Pick and I worked it out despite the opposition of the Chamber of Commerce."

Picture Of Dalai Lama

Near the map was a collection of Presidential trophies—a bear's foot, canes from various Democratic conventions, souvenir plates featuring Truman's picture, and the replica of a heavy chain.

"That's just a collection of tripe," said the former President, "except for that chain. My father used one like that to haul logs in the early days of Missouri."

In the spacious entrance of the library was a bronze bust of FDR and the table used in San Francisco on which the United Nations Charter had been signed a few weeks after Truman became President. On the sides of the wall were glass cases containing more famous reminders of recent history. One featured a set of Bibles from many lands. In another were three gold swords and two daggers, encrusted with rubies and emeralds, gifts from King Ion Saud of Saudi Arabia.

"This is the rarest picture of all," said Mr. Truman, pointing to a gift from the Dalai Lama of Tibet—a photo of the Lama himself. Alongside it was a scarf worn by the Dalai Lama, a picture of General de Gaulle, and another of President Bustamante of Peru.

"The job of being President is really six jobs," explained the man who ought to know. "And I tried to illustrate it with these exhibits. First the President is the chief executive," he pointed to a photo of a Cabinet meeting, a copy of the budget as big as a Manhattan phone book, which he, when in office, had known from cover to cover.

"Second, he's chief of state," continued Mr. Truman, showing photos of Prime Minister Nehru of India, Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, the Queen of England, and President Aleman of Mexico, all being greeted by Truman in Washington.

MacArthur And God

"Then he's domestic chief, legislative planner, head of his political party, and Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces," explained the former President as we passed four more exhibits.

We paused before the photos of the top commanders of World War II.

"Omar Bradley," said Mr. Truman, "was the best field commander in history. Gen. George Marshall was the greatest planner. His plans won the war."

Skipping over a photo of General Eisenhower, he pointed to Admiral Nimitz: "This man," he said, "won the war in the Pacific—despite 'god', and he pointed to Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Every President who has served in the White House has a place in the Truman Library—and the 33d President gave me a rapid-fire highlight of every one of them.

"Chester Arthur," he said, pointing to Arthur's sideburns, "was the best-looking President. He was a fine Collector of the Port of New York, but when he got into the White House he turned on his friends. Sometimes," he added, "that's a good thing.

"Rutherford Hayes didn't know what was going on," continued Truman the historian. "James Polk was underrated. Andrew Johnson did exceedingly well, though they won't admit it in the South. Buchanan was one of the worst.

"According to Wayne Morse," said Truman as we hesitated before a photograph of U. S. Grant, "the present incumbent has made a statesman out of Grant."

We stopped at a piano presented by James Petrillo and the American Federation of Musicians. Mr. Truman sat down and played for me — Paderewski's minuet. Later, as the tour ended, he stopped at another piano and played again: "That's the 'Black Hawk Waltz'," he explained, "popular in Lincoln's time."

It seemed a long time since the days when Harry Truman was in the White House and I was not exactly in his good graces. And though you can never turn history back, I had had the rare privilege of looking through the back pages of history as written by a man who knew what he wanted and was not afraid to lead the nation.

Lessons From An Adventure In Flexibility

By David Lawrence

PARIS, May 7 — Diplomats here are talking about a well-authenticated story of an experience that Prime Minister Macmillan had with Premier Khrushchev in Moscow recently which illustrates better than anything else just why you cannot trust the rulers in the Kremlin.

To all those persons in America and elsewhere who keep on urging that "summit" conferences between top-level representatives of the East and West can be useful if only "to find out where you stand" and "to explore the situation," the Macmillan-Khrushchev episode should be most revealing.

It started, of course, with Macmillan's conciliatory gestures designed to overcome the Soviet "fears and suspicions" of Western intentions which had become the favorite cliche in some quarters in London. So the British Prime Minister tackled the possible ban on nuclear tests which has been the subject of conferences between the East and West at Geneva for the last half-year. The talks had been stalled by the Soviet demand for a veto on all inspection and control systems proposed by the West. Khrushchev took the position that inspection would merely give the West a chance to send in spies to wander around the Soviet Union.

On the spur of the moment and without consulting his own scientific experts, Macmillan suggested the idea of limiting the number of inspections per year. With the mobile inspection teams "rationed" and confined to only a few inspections, it was assumed that Khrushchev would no longer have any legitimate basis for his objections.

Macmillan doubtless made clear that he was speaking off the cuff and very confidentially, as he would want to check the practical side with his experts. Khrushchev said he liked the idea. If he were a man of integrity, he would have kept Macmillan's confidence and waited for the British Prime Minister to explore the plan with his own experts and with those of other Western countries.

Macmillan cabled President Eisenhower a few hours before the British Prime Minister was scheduled to meet Khrushchev for a final session. The United States government promptly sent back a message to Macmillan saying the proposal seemed to American scientific experts to be "technically impractical and potentially dangerous."

It isn't clear whether the British Prime Minister got the American reaction soon enough to cause him to switch his stand, but the fact is that he did not withdraw the proposal. He believed perhaps that he could still discuss it further on his later trip to Washington to see President Eisenhower and that, since everything said at the Moscow conference was supposed to be confidential, there would be time later to clarify or reverse the original proposal.

When the Prime Minister reached Washington, he ran up against a stone wall of opposition. The American experts argued that he was giving away something — unlimited inspection — in exchange for nothing, inasmuch as Khrushchev had not offered to drop his demand for a veto over the whole control system.

The United States proposed instead — and Macmillan approved — a different idea in an attempt to break the deadlock. The offer was made that, since the dispute centered around control of underground and stratospheric tests, any ban on nuclear tests should initially apply only to explosions in the atmosphere under 35 miles in altitude, because such explosions are relatively easy to detect and the ban would require a simple system of control.

What Khrushchev did at this point dismayed even Macmillan's most ardent supporters in Great Britain. For the Soviet Premier submitted at the Geneva conference the Macmillan plan for "rationed" on-the-spot inspections as a Soviet proposal, even though by this time he knew full well that the United States had already rejected the plan. Then, when the British delegate at Geneva spoke against the proposal, as he was instructed to do from London, the Soviet delegate arched his eyebrows and, in mock surprise, said: "You mean you are opposing the British plan?"

The London Daily Telegraph, discussing the incident, said that "the skill and ruthlessness of Soviet diplomacy are still underrated" by the British government. The Telegraph — which is Britain's most loyal supporter of Macmillan — added: "Was it thought that even a private hint by the Prime Minister as a separate British view would not be exploited in public by Mr. Khrushchev when it suited him to do so? . . . What other confidential British ideas will Mr. Khrushchev be able to divulge at the appropriate moment so as to break up the unity of the Western front?"

Maybe even the school of thought which coined the word "inflexibility" with reference to Mr. Dulles' tactics that were so much criticized will be enlightened by this adventure in "flexibility."

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

It has been a long time since jaded Washington has had so good a laugh as the one over sharp-tongued Clare Boothe Luce and the equally acid Senator Wayne Morse, Oregon Democrat.

Oddly, the most biting exchange between the two did not occur until the essential battle between them had been resolved by the Senate's approval of Mrs. Luce to be the new United States ambassador to Brazil, the post she gave up before ever being sworn in.

Morse had been an outstanding and unrelenting foe of her nomination. In the course of Senate hearings, he had questioned her sharply on statements she had made in the heat of a political campaign more than 15 years ago.

Mrs. Luce was livid, but managed to contain herself until the Senate had voted her approval. Then, womanlike, she attributed her troubles to the fact that some years ago Senator Morse had been "kicked in the head by a horse."

This touched off one of the most side-splitting debates over witnessed on the Senate floor, climaxed by Senator Everett Dirksen's malapropism. Dirksen, seeking to defend the lady, noted her beauty and charm as well as her rapier-like tongue, denounced her opponents for "kicking around this old 'bag of bones.'" Not all of his protestations that he meant to say 'bag of political bones,' could silence the laughter.

Some of the new books aren't. Some of the funny stuff inside isn't. They are too small, too light in content to be anything but anecdotal catalogues. Dutton has just published one totalling 96 small pages ($2.50) called "My Brother Was An Only Child." It is written by a man I like—Jack Douglas, who looks as Abraham Lincoln would have looked if Lincoln had shaved the beard and gone on a toot.

Mr. Douglas used to write funny material for Bob Hope and Red Skelton. Today, he writes for Jack Paar. Most of the original material, I understand, is in his expense account. Still, he is a humorist and humor is a difficult commodity to define. The last time I laughed, for example, was when my wife, at a formal affair, sneezed and broke both straps.

"My Brother Was An Only Child" is dedicated "To Gladys, beloved third harpist with the New York Philharmonic, in memory of those happy hours we spent inside your empty trunk." This will give you an idea.

Let me give you a few samples of what is inside the book. I must be sparing about this, because the entire volume isn't much more than a sample.

"The winters were long and very cold in the Big Smokies. They were pretty lousy in the Little Smokies too. That's why we live in the Catskills . . . When I was a child, it was the winter that I hated most. All the other children in our neighborhood had little red sleds. Mine was beige. That's when I first noticed the pains."

"Some years later, I joined the Sleeping-Pill-of-the-Month Club. During the initiation, I swallowed four bottles of nembutal laced with seconal in a glass of warm milk. Needless to say, I missed breakfast. I also missed lunch, low tea, high tea, cocktails and World War II. I still had the pains, but by this time they were beginning to make sense."

"The last time I saw Old Tim Snopes, he was just a shell of his former self. In fact, when you held him up to your ear you could hear the ocean. At the age of 46, Tim Snopes, as usual years ahead of his time, was 53. He owned railroads, oil fields, banks, motion picture studios, apartment houses, air lines and had just made a deal with the Hilton Hotel chain for 2,000 miles of shower curtain.

"No matter what the occasion, Tim Snopes always wore the same outfit—torn sneakers, ragged Bermuda shorts and a double-breasted vest of live cats. In 1932, he donated a new wing to the Dr. Crippen Memorial Library. In 1936, he donated another wing. In the fall of 1937, the whole thing took off and flew south."

The book is a collection of one-page (or less) stories. The titles are hysterical. One is called "Vodka! or Under The Tables Down at Mory's." Another is "Put the Cobra Back in the Basket, Mother—There'll Be No Show Tonight."

"As you probably all know," Mr. Douglas says in his folksy way, "vodka is made from potatoes and drunk by peasants to give them strength to plant more potatoes. Vodka is the most powerful drink in the world. When you hear someone order three fingers of vodka you realize immediately that he must have poured some on the other two. As a famous Czarist woman once said: 'It ain't the vodka that kills you, it's them damn steppes!'"

A few of the Douglas dynamic observations:

"Franklin's discovery (of electricity) not only changed the whole course of human events, it also changed Ben from a baritone to a soprano . . . Philadelphia was first called the City of Brotherly Love by a man named Dudley Hartrampf, who was later drawn, quartered, hanged, stabbed, shot and burned at the stake, between 18th and 19th on Chestnut Street for double parking . . ."

"Everybody talks about the Gabor sisters. What about the Gabor brothers?"

One of the shortest stories in the book is entitled: "Lord Chesterfield's Last Letter To His Son. It reads: "Dear Junior: Get lost. Dad."

How Enzymes Tell The Doctor What To Do

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A painter was admitted to a hospital with severe abdominal pain. His physician was undecided whether he had a ruptured appendix or peptic ulcer or acute inflammation of the pancreas. A sample of his blood was sent to the laboratory for a serum amylase test. It was elevated, indicating acute pancreatitis. This enzyme test probably saved the man's life because pancreatitis is best treated medically without surgery.

In another part of the hospital, physicians were trying to determine whether a young executive was developing a heart attack or a lung clot. Symptoms were not typical of coronary thrombosis and it was too early to expect changes in the electrocardiogram. The blood was tested for another enzyme — transaminase. It was elevated, which meant heart involvement.

The importance of these tests demonstrates why enzymes are the conversation piece of the day. Enzymes are ferments formed by living cells. They speed up the transformation of certain chemical substances into others. They play a prominent role in breaking down complicated food substances into simpler forms that the body can use.

Enzymes are not new but current interest centers on the various roles they are playing. Different cells contain different enzymes that are released into the blood when the cells are broken down by disease, infection, or lack of blood. Amylase, for example, exists in the pancreas and when this gland is inflamed, a large amount escapes into the blood stream.

Other enzymes are found in the prostate or bone tissues. Still others exist in cancer cells. Transaminase is found in the heart, brain, muscle and liver cells. There is none in lung tissue and therefore, when the blood of the young executive previously mentioned was tested, the high transaminase level meant the breathing apparatus was not involved.

There is no end as to how many tests will be devised in the future. Meanwhile, other enzymes such as trypsin are being used in the treatment of various conditions including black eye, sprained ankle, and bronchiectasis.

EYE FLOATERS

Mrs. W. writes: Are floaters in the eye serious?

REPLY

Occasionally, depending upon the cause. Some of the origins of this condition are benign and others are serious. Only the eye specialist who examines the individual can determine the type. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on spots before the eyes.

COUNT THEM

Mrs. D. writes: I have 15 symptoms, all of which my doctor blames on the menopause. Is this possible?

REPLY

Yes, if he says so. I assume that one or two are caused by glandular changes whereas the remainder are of nervous origin. Many women become upset at this time of life, for a variety of reasons.

VACCINE FOR STREP

Mrs. S. writes: Are any shots available against recurring strep throat?

REPLY

Yes, but they are of questionable value. Small but repeated doses of an antibiotic may prove helpful but throat cultures should be taken beforehand to prove whether the strep or some other organism is responsible.

DILATED BRONCHI

E. F. K. writes: Is bronchiectasis a twin of tuberculosis or cancer in the lungs?

REPLY

No. In bronchiectasis, the smaller bronchioles lost their elasticity and dilate to such an extent that mucus accumulates in great quantities. Considerable coughing is needed to bring it up. Repeated respiratory infections are the most common origin of the disorder. Bronchiectasis may coexist with tuberculosis or cancer but in these instances the other diseases dominate the picture.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

A group of distinguished young doctors took it upon themselves to make a chemical analysis of women, and turned in this shattering report:

SYMBOL: WO.

AVERAGE WEIGHT: 118.

OCCURRENCE: Wherever man is found.

PHYSICAL PROPERTIES: Great attraction to gold, mink and precious stones. Violent reaction if left alone. Able to absorb incredible amounts of expensive food matter. Turn green when placed beside better-looking specimens. Useful as an equalizer in the distribution of wealth. Probably the most effective income-reducing agent known.

According to a Sixteenth Century historian, Florida Indians used to jump onto the backs of whales, lasso them and tow them to shore. This we find hard to believe — but it is a whale of a story!

After eating both kinds, a jury of food editors reported steaks from tranquilized steers tasted better than those from untreated cattle. Probably more conducive to that after-dinner nap, too.

Aitch Kay admits that the first time he heard of beef being tranquilized he thought it was a good joke — in fact, a prime rib!

A new maximum security prison is to be built in a southern Illinois wildlife ruge. Sounds like the ideal site for it.

A pair of skis 5,000 years old has been found in Scandinavia. Seems even the cave men had their ups and downs.

Delinquency Is Community's Job

Juvenile delinquency is growing rapidly in in the United States, according to a report by the Senate subcommittee on juvenile delinquency just issued. Two million American youngsters in the 10 to 17-year bracket will soon have juvenile court records, says the report.

Basing its projection on an uninterrupted nine-year climb in juvenile delinquency rates, the subcommittee says that in the 1949-57 period appearances before juvenile courts increased by almost 2½ times while child population in the 10-17 age group increased by only 25 per cent. One-fifth of the male adolescents in this age group have a court record, with a total of 12 per cent for both boys and girls.

But this is only part of the sordid picture, the report continues. There are many "hidden delinquents." One paragraph in the report deserves special attention. It reads:

"Emphasizing the need for rapid acceleration of community programs in prevention and rehabilitation, the subcommittee took particular notice of the sharp increase of incorrigible and delinquent behavior within our public school system."

While noting that the problem is nationwide in scope, the report cites specific evidence gained through a month-long investigation of New York City schools. Senator Hennings, chairman, says large masses of delinquent and predelinquent children are foisted upon schools "because communities are unable or unwilling to provide services and facilities to handle them."

Almost simultaneously J. Edgar Hoover issues this warning:

"Fundamentally, the solution for the crime problem lies in bolstering law enforcement to meet the attack. To realize this goal, citizen support and cooperation are vitally needed. No community can have enforcement any stronger than the people desire and demand."

These Days

35 Years Of Service

On Sunday, J. Edgar Hoover will have been Director of the FBI for 35 years which is undoubtedly a record in government service. His has been a difficult task, for the American people reject the concept of a national police force. He had to establish an organization which would serve when needed but would not bring the full weight of the Federal Government into police activities, which, in this country, remain local.

Hoover took over an agency of government which had become disreputable and his need was not only to give it a new and more proper orientation but also to find scope for it within our constitutional system. This, J. Edgar Hoover accomplished in spite of all the efforts of Congress and government officials to enlarge his service into a police agency. Thus Hoover has managed to lead the FBI through World War II and the Korean War without expanding it beyond civil affairs and beyond the strict limits set for it by Congress. The FBI has not become a Federal police agency. It remains a bureau within the Department of Justice, under the supervision of the Attorney General.

The work of the FBI nevertheless has increased and many activities not originally part of its work are now routine. For instance, over the years, it has developed enormous files of information about persons, associations, organizations, etc. It has also its large file of fingerprints. These have become available to local police throughout the country and by modern systems of communications and filing, required data is instantly obtainable, thus making the work of local police more efficient. The FBI also gathers crime statistics and has set up a proper method of uniform reporting. This has had a moral effect upon police departments, for the municipal politician who likes to falsify his statistics finds himself in difficulties with public opinion when he declines to adopt the uniform reporting method.

There is the FBI National Academy to which local police departments send promising police officers to learn the most modern methods of crime prevention and crime detection.

The FBI is charged by Congress, under the Lindbergh Law, to step into kidnapping cases, after an interval, to assist local police. This is a great advantage because county and state lines can be crossed by the FBI and it makes it more difficult for the crooks to get away. The FBI also is called into bank embezzlement cases. It is charged with protecting the United States against subversives and such Fifth Column activities as the Communists practice.

The FBI has maintained such a high quality of personnel and service that it has won the good will of the American people and the position of J. Edgar Hoover in American life has been extraordinary. He has placed the FBI above and beyond politics.

However, in recent years the FBI has been attacked with more violence than truth, particularly by those doctrinaire groups which run interference for the Communists. The principal charge against the FBI is that it is not as good as it is presumed to be and that J. Edgar Hoover's emphasis on subversion is either designed to enhance his personal popularity or to obtain larger appropriations from Congress.

It is only to be expected that the Communists would attack the FBI and J. Edgar Hoover and that they would employ every method available to humiliate and degrade him in the eyes of the American people and of the world. Their motive is to force his retirement, so that the FBI will become a football of partisan politics and be of no value at all. Attacks have been made upon its use of informants, without whom it cannot exist. Attempts have been made to open its files which would wreck the organization altogether because its files also contain raw material, unserviced, unscreened, and some of it perhaps untrue but retained because of leads. This is normal police practice.

In recent months reporters of certain publications have been interviewing persons associated with or antagonistic to J. Edgar Hoover, apparently with the object of getting as much about him that may be deleterious as possible. Publication of these articles seems to be delayed because there is nothing to get on an outstanding personality who has given 35 years of his life to the service of his country in fighting crime, subversion, treason and indecency on all fronts as Director of the FBI.

What Khrushchev did at this point dismayed even Macmillan's most ardent supporters in Great Britain. For the Soviet Premier submitted at the Geneva conference the Macmillan plan for "rationed" on-the-spot inspections as a Soviet proposal, even though by this time he knew full well that the United States had already rejected the plan. Then, when the British delegate at Geneva spoke against the proposal, as he was instructed to do from London, the Soviet delegate arched his eyebrows and, in mock surprise, said: "You mean you are opposing the British plan?"

The London Daily Telegraph, discussing the incident, said that "the skill and ruthlessness of Soviet diplomacy are still underrated" by the British government. The Telegraph — which is Britain's most loyal supporter of Macmillan — added: "Was it thought that even a private hint by the Prime Minister as a separate British view would not be exploited in public by Mr. Khrushchev when it suited him to do so? . . . What other confidential British ideas will Mr. Khrushchev be able to divulge at the appropriate moment so as to break up the unity of the Western front?"

Maybe even the school of thought which coined the word "inflexibility" with reference to Mr. Dulles' tactics that were so much criticized will be enlightened by this adventure in "flexibility."

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

It has been a long time since jaded Washington has had so good a laugh as the one over sharp-tongued Clare Boothe Luce and the equally acid Senator Wayne Morse, Oregon Democrat.

Oddly, the most biting exchange between the two did not occur until the essential battle between them had been resolved by the Senate's approval of Mrs. Luce to be the new United States ambassador to Brazil, the post she gave up before ever being sworn in.

Morse had been an outstanding and unrelenting foe of her nomination. In the course of Senate hearings, he had questioned her sharply on statements she had made in the heat of a political campaign more than 15 years ago.

Mrs. Luce was livid, but managed to contain herself until the Senate had voted her approval. Then, womanlike, she attributed her troubles to the fact that some years ago Senator Morse had been "kicked in the head by a horse."

This touched off one of the most side-splitting debates over witnessed on the Senate floor, climaxed by Senator Everett Dirksen's malapropism. Dirksen, seeking to defend the lady, noted her beauty and charm as well as her rapier-like tongue, denounced her opponents for "kicking around this old 'bag of bones.'" Not all of his protestations that he meant to say 'bag of political bones,' could silence the laughter.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Some of the new books aren't. Some of the funny stuff inside isn't. They are too small, too light in content to be anything but anecdotal catalogues. Dutton has just published one totalling 96 small pages ($2.50) called "My Brother Was An Only Child." It is written by a man I like—Jack Douglas, who looks as Abraham Lincoln would have looked if Lincoln had shaved the beard and gone on a toot.

Mr. Douglas used to write funny material for Bob Hope and Red Skelton. Today, he writes for Jack Paar. Most of the original material, I understand, is in his expense account. Still, he is a humorist and humor is a difficult commodity to define. The last time I laughed, for example, was when my wife, at a formal affair, sneezed and broke both straps.

"My Brother Was An Only Child" is dedicated "To Gladys, beloved third harpist with the New York Philharmonic, in memory of those happy hours we spent inside your empty trunk." This will give you an idea.

Let me give you a few samples of what is inside the book. I must be sparing about this, because the entire volume isn't much more than a sample.

"The winters were long and very cold in the Big Smokies. They were pretty lousy in the Little Smokies too. That's why we live in the Catskills . . . When I was a child, it was the winter that I hated most. All the other children in our neighborhood had little red sleds. Mine was beige. That's when I first noticed the pains."

"Some years later, I joined the Sleeping-Pill-of-the-Month Club. During the initiation, I swallowed four bottles of nembutal laced with seconal in a glass of warm milk. Needless to say, I missed breakfast. I also missed lunch, low tea, high tea, cocktails and World War II. I still had the pains, but by this time they were beginning to make sense."

"The last time I saw Old Tim Snopes, he was just a shell of his former self. In fact, when you held him up to your ear you could hear the ocean. At the age of 46, Tim Snopes, as usual years ahead of his time, was 53. He owned railroads, oil fields, banks, motion picture studios, apartment houses, air lines and had just made a deal with the Hilton Hotel chain for 2,000 miles of shower curtain.

"No matter what the occasion, Tim Snopes always wore the same outfit—torn sneakers, ragged Bermuda shorts and a double-breasted vest of live cats. In 1932, he donated a new wing to the Dr. Crippen Memorial Library. In 1936, he donated another wing. In the fall of 1937, the whole thing took off and flew south."

The book is a collection of one-page (or less) stories. The titles are hysterical. One is called "Vodka! or Under The Tables Down at Mory's." Another is "Put the Cobra Back in the Basket, Mother—There'll Be No Show Tonight."

"As you probably all know," Mr. Douglas says in his folksy way, "vodka is made from potatoes and drunk by peasants to give them strength to plant more potatoes. Vodka is the most powerful drink in the world. When you hear someone order three fingers of vodka you realize immediately that he must have poured some on the other two. As a famous Czarist woman once said: 'It ain't the vodka that kills you, it's them damn steppes!'"

A few of the Douglas dynamic observations:

"Franklin's discovery (of electricity) not only changed the whole course of human events, it also changed Ben from a baritone to a soprano . . . Philadelphia was first called the City of Brotherly Love by a man named Dudley Hartrampf, who was later drawn, quartered, hanged, stabbed, shot and burned at the stake, between 18th and 19th on Chestnut Street for double parking . . ."

"Everybody talks about the Gabor sisters. What about the Gabor brothers?"

One of the shortest stories in the book is entitled: "Lord Chesterfield's Last Letter To His Son. It reads: "Dear Junior: Get lost. Dad."

How Enzymes Tell The Doctor What To Do

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A painter was admitted to a hospital with severe abdominal pain. His physician was undecided whether he had a ruptured appendix or peptic ulcer or acute inflammation of the pancreas. A sample of his blood was sent to the laboratory for a serum amylase test. It was elevated, indicating acute pancreatitis. This enzyme test probably saved the man's life because pancreatitis is best treated medically without surgery.

In another part of the hospital, physicians were trying to determine whether a young executive was developing a heart attack or a lung clot. Symptoms were not typical of coronary thrombosis and it was too early to expect changes in the electrocardiogram. The blood was tested for another enzyme — transaminase. It was elevated, which meant heart involvement.

The importance of these tests demonstrates why enzymes are the conversation piece of the day. Enzymes are ferments formed by living cells. They speed up the transformation of certain chemical substances into others. They play a prominent role in breaking down complicated food substances into simpler forms that the body can use.

Enzymes are not new but current interest centers on the various roles they are playing. Different cells contain different enzymes that are released into the blood when the cells are broken down by disease, infection, or lack of blood. Amylase, for example, exists in the pancreas and when this gland is inflamed, a large amount escapes into the blood stream.

Other enzymes are found in the prostate or bone tissues. Still others exist in cancer cells. Transaminase is found in the heart, brain, muscle and liver cells. There is none in lung tissue and therefore, when the blood of the young executive previously mentioned was tested, the high transaminase level meant the breathing apparatus was not involved.

There is no end as to how many tests will be devised in the future. Meanwhile, other enzymes such as trypsin are being used in the treatment of various conditions including black eye, sprained ankle, and bronchiectasis.

EYE FLOATERS

Mrs. W. writes: Are floaters in the eye serious?

REPLY

Occasionally, depending upon the cause. Some of the origins of this condition are benign and others are serious. Only the eye specialist who examines the individual can determine the type. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on spots before the eyes.

COUNT THEM

Mrs. D. writes: I have 15 symptoms, all of which my doctor blames on the menopause. Is this possible?

REPLY

Yes, if he says so. I assume that one or two are caused by glandular changes whereas the remainder are of nervous origin. Many women become upset at this time of life, for a variety of reasons.

VACCINE FOR STREP

Mrs. S. writes: Are any shots available against recurring strep throat?

REPLY

Yes, but they are of questionable value. Small but repeated doses of an antibiotic may prove helpful but throat cultures should be taken beforehand to prove whether the strep or some other organism is responsible.

DILATED BRONCHI

E. F. K. writes: Is bronchiectasis a twin of tuberculosis or cancer in the lungs?

REPLY

No. In bronchiectasis, the smaller bronchioles lost their elasticity and dilate to such an extent that mucus accumulates in great quantities. Considerable coughing is needed to bring it up. Repeated respiratory infections are the most common origin of the disorder. Bronchiectasis may coexist with tuberculosis or cancer but in these instances the other diseases dominate the picture.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A group of distinguished young doctors took it upon themselves to make a chemical analysis of women, and turned in this shattering report:

SYMBOL: WO.

AVERAGE WEIGHT: 118.

OCCURRENCE: Wherever man is found.

PHYSICAL PROPERTIES: Great attraction to gold, mink and precious stones. Violent reaction if left alone. Able to absorb incredible amounts of expensive food matter. Turn green when placed beside better-looking specimens. Useful as an equalizer in the distribution of wealth. Probably the most effective income-reducing agent known.

CAUTION: Highly explosive in inexperienced hands. Completely unpredictable; should be watched closely at all times.

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

According to a Sixteenth Century historian, Florida Indians used to jump onto the backs of whales, lasso them and tow them to shore. This we find hard to believe — but it is a whale of a story!

After eating both kinds, a jury of food editors reported steaks from tranquilized steers tasted better than those from untreated cattle. Probably more conducive to that after-dinner nap, too.

Aitch Kay admits that the first time he heard of beef being tranquilized he thought it was a good joke — in fact, a prime rib!

A new maximum security prison is to be built in a southern Illinois wildlife ruge. Sounds like the ideal site for it.

A pair of skis 5,000 years old has been found in Scandinavia. Seems even the cave men had their ups and downs.

Apple-Beet Relish

¾ cup sugar
¾ cup cider vinegar
2½ cups (1 can) sliced apples
1 No. 2 can sliced, or tiny, whole beets
⅓ cup prepared horseradish

Dissolve sugar in vinegar. Drain apples; drain beets. Combine vinegar mixture, apples, beets and horseradish. Pour into deep bowl, so that vinegar mixture covers apples and beets. Cover; chill overnight. Makes 8-10 servings.

Lemon Banana Heavenly Delight

1 package lemon gelatin
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
1 tablespoon nutmeg
2 ripe bananas

Prepare gelatin according to package directions. Let gelatin set until partially thickened. Peel and mash bananas and combine with whipped cream and nutmeg. Fold into gelatin. Chill. Makes 6 servings.

Cherry-Raspberry Pie

Filling:
1 cup cherry juice
Few drops red food coloring (optional)
3 tablespoons cornstarch
¾ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 1-lb. 4-oz. can frozen sour pitted cherries, drained
1 1-lb. pkg. frozen raspberries, drained

Crust:
1 10-oz. pkg. pie crust mix
4 tablespoons cold water

For filling, blend together juice, food coloring, cornstarch, sugar and salt. Mix with cherries. Cook over low heat, stirring frequently until thickened. Stir in raspberries.

Heat oven to hot (425° F.). For the crust, empty contents of package into bowl. Sprinkle cold water over mix; stir lightly with fork until just dampened. (If necessary to make dough hold together, add an additional one tablespoon cold water.) Form into ball. Divide dough in half. Roll one half on lightly floured board or canvas until it is 1½ inches larger than inverted pie plate. Fit pastry loosely into 9-inch pie plate. Trim, allowing ¼ inch beyond rim. Fill with fruit filling. Roll other half of dough 1½ inches larger than pie plate. Cut slits to allow steam to escape.

Adjust crust over filling; trim so crust extends ½ inch beyond rim. Fold top crust under bottom crust. Flute to seal. Bake in preheated oven (425° F.) 30 to 40 minutes or until evenly browned.

Save Time With Frozen Meat Pies

Those of us who have daylight saving time now enjoy an extra hour of daylight. Others must plan dinner a little early if they wish to take advantage of the delightful spring and early summer evenings. No matter what the time zone, meal planning is easier if you include frozen individual meat pies in your menus.

These 8 ounce pies . . . beef, chicken, and turkey . . . bake to a golden brown in just 40 minutes. Each forkful of pastry is so flaky and tender it practically melts in your mouth. Beneath it is a filling rich with gravy, meat, and vegetables . . . seasoned ever so lightly . . . to please even the fussiest appetite.

Menus . . . making use of modern-day foods . . . will shorten cooking time in the kitchen and hasten you on the way to the balmy outdoors. You might like to try these:

Banana Cream Oat Cake

Satisfy the ravenous appetites of growing children and active teen-agers by baking a Banana Cream Spiced Oat Cake—a wonderful combination of spicy layers with creamy filling bananas, and whipped cream. Real pleasure will be yours when you make this cake. Not only will it fulfill the need to create something new and different, but you will have the satisfaction of knowing that you are serving a very nutritious dessert.

Rolled oats and milk are two important ingredients in this recipe.

Both the cereal and the milk make important contributions of nutrients essential to the diet, whether they are served as a bowl of cereal and milk or used as ingredients. What one food lacks in nutrients, the other provides—an outstanding example of nutritional supplementation. The use of cereal and milk in recipes is a good way to increase their nutritive value.

Banana Cream Spiced Oat Cake
- 1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- 1½ teaspoons cinnamon
- ¾ cup fat
- 1½ cups firmly packed brown sugar
- 3 eggs
- 1 cup milk
- 1 cup rolled oats

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, and cinnamon. Cream fat and brown sugar together; add eggs, one at a time, beating after each addition. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk. Add rolled oats; mix well. Pour into 2 greased round or square 9-inch layer pans. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) until done, about 30 minutes. Cool 5 minutes and remove cake from pans. Cool on wire rack. Yield: 1 9-inch cake, 2 layers high.

Put layers together with a filling of sliced bananas and chilled instant vanilla pudding. Decorate top layer with a border of whipped cream and a center flower made of sliced bananas.

Fish Pudding, Spanish Style

Make use of leftover fish in this savory pudding. Measure 2 cups of fish, carefully removing bone or skin. In 3 tablespoons Spanish olive oil, cook 1 chopped onion over medium heat until golden. Add 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon marjoram or oregano and an 8-ounce can of tomato sauce. Heat until well blended, add the fish. Blend in 2 beaten eggs and 2 tablespoons fine dry crumbs. Pour into oiled casserole (1½ quart size), top with another tablespoon of crumbs. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Jelly Roll Cake

- 1 package raspberry flavored gelatin
- ¾ cup boiling water
- 1 (No. 2) can crushed pineapple
- 1 package individual jelly rolls
- ½ cup heavy cream

Place gelatin in a medium-sized (1½-quart) mixing bowl. Pour the boiling water over gelatin and stir to dissolve. Drain juice from pineapple. Stir one-half cup of pineapple juice into gelatin mixture. Set aside to cool. Cut each jelly roll into three equal-sized slices. Line bottom and sides of a lightly oiled (1-quart) loaf pan with slices of jelly roll. Whip the cream. When gelatin mixture is cooled and thickened to about the consistency of unbeaten egg white, beat with a rotary beater until mixture is smooth and creamy. Fold in whipped cream and drained pineapple. Spoon into loaf pan over jelly roll slices. Chill until firm.

Yield: 6-8 servings.

Apricot Ice Cream Cake

- 1 No. 303 can apricot halves
- ½ teaspoon lemon extract
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped
- 1 12-ounce loaf pound cake, about 8-inches long
- 1 pint brick vanilla ice cream

Drain apricots and mash with a fork. Fold mashed apricots and lemon extract into whipped cream. Slice pound cake into 3 equal-sized horizontal layers. Cut ice cream into 4 equal-sized slices. Place 2 slices of ice cream between each of the cake layers. Cover top and sides with apricot mixture. Freeze until ready to slice and serve.

Yield: 10 servings.

Fruit With Cinnamon Cream

- 1 cup dried figs, preferably black
- 1½ cups orange juice, approx.
- 3 bananas, sliced
- 1 cup heavy cream
- 2 tablespoons confectioners sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon

Place figs in saucepan. Add enough orange juice to cover, and bring to boil. Remove from flame, cool, and add bananas. Allow to marinate about 1 hour. Whip cream stiff and add confectioners sugar and cinnamon to taste. Make a ring of banana slices, center with figs and top with cinnamon cream. Makes 4 servings.

Salad Andaluz

Prehistoric peoples used freezing as a means of saving game and fish. This method of food preservation was followed by drying, smoking, salting. Canning — unknown until the early 1800s when Nicholas Appert discovered that foods kept indefinitely when cooked and sealed in wide mouth glass bottles—became a common household practice less than one hundred years ago.

Prehistoric peoples used freezing as a means of saving game and fish. This method of food preservation was followed by drying, smoking, salting. Canning — unknown until the early 1800s when Nicholas Appert discovered that foods kept indefinitely when cooked and sealed in wide mouth glass bottles—became a common household practice less than one hundred years ago.

Apple-Raspberry Delight

2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
½ cup cold water
2 cups canned apple sauce
¼ lb. marshmallows, diced
1 package frozen raspberries
1 9" baked pie shell
½ pint heavy cream, whipped

Soften gelatine in water 5 minutes. Heat apple sauce; add gelatine, stirring until dissolved. Cool until slightly thickened. Fold in diced marshmallows and thawed raspberries and syrup. Pour mixture into baked pie shell. Chill until firm. Top with whipped cream before serving.

Picadillo

1 clove garlic, diced
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon chili powder, apprx.
1 tablespoon olive oil
1 medium onion, chopped
1 lb. pork shoulder, ground
1 cup canned tomatoes, preferably Italian style, drained
1 12-oz. box frozen corn, thawed and drained

Crush garlic with salt and chili powder. Place oil in a large skillet and add garlic mixture. Heat oil, using a medium high flame, add onions and brown slightly. Add meat and stir to brown and crumble it. Add tomatoes, cover skillet, reduce flame and simmer about 20 minutes or until pork is completely cooked. Add corn and cook until corn heats. Season to taste, adding enough chili powder for preferred "heat." Serve with rice. Makes 4 servings.

Apple Cream Fluff

2 cups canned apple sauce
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1½ cups diced lady fingers or sponge cake
½ pint heavy cream
¼ lb. crushed peanut brittle

Chill apple sauce; add nutmeg and lady fingers. Whip cream until stiff; fold into apple sauce mixture. Place in serving dish. Cover with peanut brittle; chill. Makes 6 servings.

Area Orchardist Develops New Dwarf Apple Tree

By JERRY GOULD
United Press International

PAW PAW, W. Va. (UPI) —A unique experiment is under way near this Eastern Panhandle community and if successful, the entire concept of commercial apple production may be changed.

Henry S. Miller Jr. of Consolidated Orchard Co., has planted some 5,000 dwarf apple trees which will be in full production within five ot six years.

It is his belief and that of others, that the dwarf fruit has finally "come of age" in the commercial field and will become the vogue in a few years.

7-Foot Height

In the past, strains have not proven successful for this field but now have been developed to the point that Miller and other producers are planting sizeable acreage.

The dwarf, which grows to a 7-foot maximum height in climates similar to that of West Virginia and neighboring states, offers improved bearing qualities in less time and also a sharp reduction on cost of production.

The normal-sized trees take up to 12 years to reach full production and harvesting the crop also is a problem cost-wise. The dwarf is a full producer in about half that time and its fruit — or normal size — can be picked from the ground.

In addition, the dwarf produces about the same quantity of fruit each year while the normal-sized tree usually is a biennial producer, having a large crop one year and less the next.

Developed Himself

The dwarf trees planted by Miller are of his own selection and differ somewhat from the former types. He took his own varities to the Cornell University experimental station at Geneva, N. Y., where they were grafted to European dwarf root stock.

Formerly, it had been the practice to use regular root stock and graft dwarf tops. However, the European stock has made it possible to secure many shoots from one root system by mounding the earth as the system grows and then snipping away portions for transplanting.

When these shoots have grown one season, the standard or regular stock fruit is then grafted to the root system, producing the dwarf trees.

Progress Seen In Watershed Development

MORGANTOWN, W. Va.—Progress reports in the development of three eastern West Virginia watersheds are included in the quarterly report of watershed planning and operations developments in West Virginia by Glenn H. Baker, assistant state conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service.

Approval from the Public Service Commission is being awaited for dams 13 and 27 on the South Fork of the Potomac River in Pendleton and Hardy counties. These are rather large dams, embankments for the two being approximately 500,000 cubic yards. Part of each site involves the George Washington National Forest. Special use permits have been obtained from the U.S. Forest Service for these two sites.

In the New Creek-White's Run watershed in Mineral County seeding and fencing on dams 5 and 7 are under way. Work has been resumed on dam 16, eight more dams will be constructed in this watershed.

Area Orchardist Develops New Dwarf Apple Tree

By JERRY GOULD
United Press International

PAW PAW, W. Va. (UPI) —A unique experiment is under way near this Eastern Panhandle community and if successful, the entire concept of commercial apple production may be changed.

Henry S. Miller Jr. of Consolidated Orchard Co., has planted some 5,000 dwarf apple trees which will be in full production within five ot six years.

It is his belief and that of others, that the dwarf fruit has finally "come of age" in the commercial field and will become the vogue in a few years.

7-Foot Height

In the past, strains have not proven successful for this field but now have been developed to the point that Miller and other producers are planting sizeable acreage.

The dwarf, which grows to a 7-foot maximum height in climates similar to that of West Virginia and neighboring states, offers improved bearing qualities in less time and also a sharp reduction on cost of production.

The normal-sized trees take up to 12 years to reach full production and harvesting the crop also is a problem cost-wise. The dwarf is a full producer in about half that time and its fruit — or normal size — can be picked from the ground.

In addition, the dwarf produces about the same quantity of fruit each year while the normal-sized tree usually is a biennial producer, having a large crop one year and less the next.

Developed Himself

The dwarf trees planted by Miller are of his own selection and differ somewhat from the former types. He took his own varities to the Cornell University experimental station at Geneva, N. Y., where they were grafted to European dwarf root stock.

Formerly, it had been the practice to use regular root stock and graft dwarf tops. However, the European stock has made it possible to secure many shoots from one root system by mounding the earth as the system grows and then snipping away portions for transplanting.

When these shoots have grown one season, the standard or regular stock fruit is then grafted to the root system, producing the dwarf trees.

Shopping Date WITH KAYE and RAE

We have a box of Russell Stover candy from FORD'S FROSTBURG STORE & 2 PALACE PASSES for the first person writing us, Box 23, Frostburg, telling us how many times we used the word "DAY." "Canoe" winner: Mrs. E. C. Clatterbuck, Deer Park.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

We're back from a big 40 mile canoe trip down the Cacapon river (plenty of it white water, too), and our hair is just as lovely as ever thanks to PAT'S BEAUTY SALON.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

One of the first places the "gang" made for after the trip was the BARTON COW and some nice cold milkshakes!

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Time was important to us as we had to make scheduled stops. Pat had a graduation gift watch from HOSKEN'S in Frostburg that was waterproof and shock-proof, too.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Good thing, for in the very first white water two of our canoes tipped over. However, we'd saved the plastic bags from the D & S CLEANERS to cover everything.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Thus, we were able to right the canoes without getting too much gear wet. We'd saved for the trip by having a savings account in the LIBERTY TRUST CO., Lonaconing Br.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

When we hit Largent, we remembered to mail Mother a card for "her" Day. Norcross, of course, from the GIFT SHOP in Frostburg where they have lovely costume jewelry.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Forgot to tell you that we were taken to the Forks of the Cacapon in a new Chevie from LUDWICK'S GARAGE, Keyser.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

We all stopped at the TOLL GATE FRUIT MARKET to tell Lois to have a potted flower for Mother's Day reserved. Bought some candy, too, for "her" Day.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

In Keyser we stopped to look at the lovely Hollingsworth Mother's Day candy in sewing baskets, ice buckets and cedar chests at PEOPLES PHARMACY.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

On our trip we were thankful to have a Hartford major accident or illness policy from BABB INSURANCE AGENCY in Keyser. Had a trip insurance policy also.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

When we returned we found a big Rexall 1c Sale going on in R. E. KIMMEL'S, Piedmont. It's on all today and tomorrow and, boy, did we stock up on 1st Aid supplies.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

One of the crying needs of the trip was for fresh milk. We couldn't wait to get home for DASHIELL'S MILK!

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

We bought a gallon at ALBERT'S SUPERMARKET, LaVale. Drank it all in one day. Our cooks did a good job, especially B. C., because we used ALBERT'S groceries.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Had a transistor portable radio from WEESE'S APPLIANCE STORE, Keyser, along. Ask about his big line of portables and the $100 fishing gear you might win there.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Say, and don't forget you folks in Piedmont, that the BOUQUET SHOPPE has plenty of potted flowers and corsages for Mother on her Day. Go in and see Mildred.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

You know, it was funny one of the canoeists had a box of RUSSELL STOVER CANDY bought at LAVALE REXALL DRUG STORE for Mother's Day. It never made it. It was eaten!

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

While we were looking at the red bud & dogwood someone spoke up and said, "I'd love to be at the CHAT AND CHEW now and have a nice pizza with "Pixie" or Evelyn."

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Don't blame them, I was cooking supper. Guess I should have bought more cakes and cookies from PLATTER'S BAKERY & Coffee Shop in Frostburg. Louise told us to.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Tell you one thing, when Bobby got in the poison ivy we sure were glad we had Anti Ivy from WAGNER'S in Westernport. They have Ziradryl and 6-12, Oil of Citronella, too.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

When I jumped into the Potomac trying to pull our canoes upstream I was sure glad I had a pair of Wash N' Wear slacks from DIXON'S in Piedmont. They run from $4.98 up. Sport shirts are as low as $1.98.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Don't forget for Mother's Day go to CHARLIE HILL'S in Frostburg for potted flowers and candy. It's "Her Day."

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Had a fine trip, saw 50 species of birds including a possible rare Sutton's Warbler! KAYE & RAE.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Shopping With KAYE and RAE

We have a box of Russell Stover candy from FORD'S FROSTBURG STORE & 2 PALACE PASSES for the first person writing us, Box 23, Frostburg, telling us how many times we used the word "DAY." "Canoe" winner: Mrs. E. C. Clatterbuck, Deer Park.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

We're back from a big 40 mile canoe trip down the Cacapon river (plenty of it white water, too), and our hair is just as lovely as ever thanks to PAT'S BEAUTY SALON.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

One of the first places the "gang" made for after the trip was the BARTON COW and some nice cold milkshakes!

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Time was important to us as we had to make scheduled stops. Pat had a graduation gift watch from HOSKEN'S in Frostburg that was waterproof and shock-proof, too.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Good thing, for in the very first white water two of our canoes tipped over. However, we'd saved the plastic bags from the D & S CLEANERS to cover everything.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Thus, we were able to right the canoes without getting too much gear wet. We'd saved for the trip by having a savings account in the LIBERTY TRUST CO., Lonaconing Br.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

When we hit Largent, we remembered to mail Mother a card for "her" Day. Norcross, of course, from the GIFT SHOP in Frostburg where they have lovely costume jewelry.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Forgot to tell you that we were taken to the Forks of the Cacapon in a new Chevie from LUDWICK'S GARAGE, Keyser.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

We all stopped at the TOLL GATE FRUIT MARKET to tell Lois to have a potted flower for Mother's Day reserved. Bought some candy, too, for "her" Day.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

In Keyser we stopped to look at the lovely Hollingsworth Mother's Day candy in sewing baskets, ice buckets and cedar chests at PEOPLES PHARMACY.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

On our trip we were thankful to have a Hartford major accident or illness policy from BABB INSURANCE AGENCY in Keyser. Had a trip insurance policy also.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

When we returned we found a big Rexall 1c Sale going on in R. E. KIMMEL'S, Piedmont. It's on all today and tomorrow and, boy, did we stock up on 1st Aid supplies.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

One of the crying needs of the trip was for fresh milk. We couldn't wait to get home for DASHIELL'S MILK!

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

We bought a gallon at ALBERT'S SUPERMARKET, LaVale. Drank it all in one day. Our cooks did a good job, especially B. C., because we used ALBERT'S groceries.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Had a transistor portable radio from WEESE'S APPLIANCE STORE, Keyser, along. Ask about his big line of portables and the $100 fishing gear you might win there.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Say, and don't forget you folks in Piedmont, that the BOUQUET SHOPPE has plenty of potted flowers and corsages for Mother on her Day. Go in and see Mildred.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

You know, it was funny one of the canoeists had a box of RUSSELL STOVER CANDY bought at LAVALE REXALL DRUG STORE for Mother's Day. It never made it. It was eaten!

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

While we were looking at the red bud & dogwood someone spoke up and said, "I'd love to be at the CHAT AND CHEW now and have a nice pizza with "Pixie" or Evelyn."

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Don't blame them, I was cooking supper. Guess I should have bought more cakes and cookies from PLATTER'S BAKERY & Coffee Shop in Frostburg. Louise told us to.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Tell you one thing, when Bobby got in the poison ivy we sure were glad we had Anti Ivy from WAGNER'S in Westernport. They have Ziradryl and 6-12, Oil of Citronella, too.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

When I jumped into the Potomac trying to pull our canoes upstream I was sure glad I had a pair of Wash N' Wear slacks from DIXON'S in Piedmont. They run from $4.98 up. Sport shirts are as low as $1.98.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Don't forget for Mother's Day go to CHARLIE HILL'S in Frostburg for potted flowers and candy. It's "Her Day."

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Had a fine trip, saw 50 species of birds including a possible rare Sutton's Warbler! KAYE & RAE.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Annual Flower Show Here To Feature Seven Artistic Classes

The sixth community flower show, to be presented Thursday, May 28, by the Garden Club of Cumberland, will feature seven classes in an artistic division, as well as another class for junior exhibitors.

Mrs. William Frailey, general chairman, said the show will be held one day only in a marked departure from the previous community shows, with the exhibits being on display from 2:30 to 9:30 p. m. on the day of the show at Emmanuel Episcopal Church Parish House.

Theme of the artistic division is a Walt Whitman quotation, 'Out of May's Shows Selected.' Class 1 will be table settings, with entries restricted to members of the Garden Group of the LaVale Century Club.

Class 2 will feature line arrangement of flowering shrubs; Class 3 will be foliage arrangements for a coffee table, with no flowers permitted; Class 4 will be an interpretive class in which accessories will be permitted.

Class 5 will be for arrangements of fresh-cut plant material, featuring tints, tones and shades of yellow. Class 6 will be mass arrangements of fresh-cut plant material, with purple or lavender predominating, and Class 7 will be miniature arrangements.

Each class will be limited to eight entries, Mrs. Frailey said.

Theme for the junior class will be 'Singing in Spring' the chairman explaining that entries are to be arrangements which interpret a song title.

There will be two age divisions in the junior class, with one being for exhibitors between 8 and 12 years, and the other for those between 12 and 16 years.

Assisting Mrs. Frailey with arrangements are Mrs. George Henderson, Mrs. Rudolph Steinberger, Mrs. Ralph Isiminger and Mrs. Robert Horstman.

LaVale Boy Hurt On Way To School

An eight-year-old LaVale boy sustained a possible fractured wrist yesterday while walking to school.

Attaches at Sacred Heart Hospital said the boy, Stephen Jewell, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Jewell, National Highway, suffered the injury when he fell on his way to school.

College Choral Group To Present Concerts

The Bridgewater (Va.) College glee clubs will present a sacred concert Sunday at 2:30 p. m. in the South Cumberland Church of the Brethren.

Miss Mary Louise Appel, 202 Grand Avenue, will be a member of the choral group which will also present concert at the Keyser Church of the Brethren at 8 p. m. Friday, and at the Meyersdale (Pa.) Church of the Brethren on Sunday morning, and Hagerstown Church of the Brethren Sunday evening.

The underground railroad, in the northern section of the nation, produced numerous Negro and white anti-slavery partisans dedicated to helping Negroes escape from Southern masters or erecting legal and extra-legal age.

A pair of two-run homers by Paul Roeder and Jack Conley in the 7th and final inning enabled the B.P.O. Elks to score a come-from-behind victory over Celanese in a Rocking Chair Softball League thriller yesterday at East Side Field. The score was 9-7.

Trailing 7-5 going into the last inning, the Elks rallied for four runs when Roeder homered to right-center after Bill Underdonk had walked and Conley hit his round-tripper to deep center for the tying and winning tallies. Prior to Conley's belt, "Whip" Kreitzburg walked and John Gorman was inserted to run for him. Joe Niland was the victim of the late uprising.

Shuck and Niland gave up six and seven bases on balls, respectively. The latter gave up his walks in the last three frames.

Lou Baker rapped a pair of doubles for the Elks who were outhit 12 to 6. Basilio opened the game with a homer and also had a double for the Silkmen, Bobby Goss smacked a double and single and Bobby Williams smashed a triple and single for the Silkmen.

Ritter's Spills Vets

The Ritter A.C. beat the V.F.W. for the first time in three years and romped off with a 7-6 decision at Post Field. It was the second victory in a row for the R.A.C. which has absorbed quite a few beatings in recent years.

"Shorty" Long notched his second pitching triumph for Ritter's while Joe Scarpelli headed the eight-hit batting assault with a triple, double and single. Singles by Often and Comer and Scarpelli's triple scored the runs that decided the game in the fifth inning. Jim Eckard accounted for two of the Vets' eight safeties. It was the second straight reverse for the V.F.W., defending champions, and the loss was charged to "Pete" Elliott, who relieved Charley Day in the third inning.

Loyal Order of Moose crashed the win column for the first time this season by turning back Pittsburgh Plate Glass in an 8-4 contest at Stitcher Field.

Moose Get 11 Safeties

The winners racked up 11 hits at the expense of Bill Thompson. "Lum" Lambert homered and singled, Dick Klavuhn and Pete Cecil had a triple and single each and Paul Lease garnered a two-bagger and single for the Moose. Hull and Dick Klavuhn, the winner, limited the Glassmen to three hits, two of which were obtained by Stevenson who had a pair of two-base wallops. Pittsburgh Plate coupled four walks with a hit for its four runs in the third inning.

Orioles Clout Senators, 10-1

Hit Three Homers, Walker Is Victor

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rookie Jerry Walker pitched a five-hitter and the Baltimore Orioles slammed three home runs to snap a three-game Washington Senators' winning streak, 10-1, Thursday night.

A crowd of 15,058, largest ever to see a Baltimore - Washington game here with the exception of opening day, saw the Orioles clinch the contest with a five-run rally in the second inning.

The victory gave the Orioles undisputed possession of second place in the American League. Walker has pitched three complete games in his brief major league career and all have been victorious over the Senators.

The Orioles knocked out loser Pedro Ramos in the second inning when Gus Triandos touched off the five-run outburst with his sixth homer. Singles by Bobby Avila, Billy Klaus, Walker, Willie Tasby and Bob Boyd produced three more runs and brought Vito Valentinetti in from the Washington bullpen.

Harmon Killebrew's error on Bob Nieman's grounder enabled Tasby to score the fifth run of the inning.

Valentinetti also was chased when Baltimore added two more runs in the fourth on Boyd's single, Nieman's double and a single by Triandos.

Tasby's single followed by Nieman's homer plus another by Al Pilarcik stretched the Orioles' lead to 10-0 in the eighth before Reno Bertoia belted his fourth homer of the season in the bottom of the frame to ruin Walker's shutout.

Musial's Homer Beats Cubs, 4-3

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Stan (The Man) Musial smashed a 400-foot plus home run, the 400th of his illustrious major league career, to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 4-3 come-from-behind win over the Chicago Cubs Thursday night.

The Redbirds first baseman, batting only .268 going into the game, and hitless his first three official times up Thursday night, cracked a 1-0 pitch into the right field pavilion as the first man up in the ninth inning.

All runs in the thriller, which saw the Cubs leading 3-0 going into the bottom of the sixth, were scored by home runs.

Chicago drew first blood when first baseman Jim Marshall hit his second four-bagger of the season onto the pavilion roof in right field to open the fourth.

Marshall got his second homer of the game and shortstop Ernie Banks his seventh of the season in the sixth inning to give the Cubs a 3-0 lead.

Kluszewski Homer Wins For Buccos

Tenth Inning Belt Whips Phillies, 5-4

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Ted Kluszewski hit the first pitch of the Pirate tenth inning into the lower right field seats for a home run to give Pittsburgh a 5-4 victory over Philadelphia Thursday night.

It was the first homer of the year for Kluszewski, who also collected two singles and a walk and drove in Pittsburgh's first run of the game.

Kluszewski's blow came off Jim Owens who pitched the entire game for the Phils. Pirate bullpen ace Roy Face picked up his fourth consecutive win in relief of starter Vernon Law.

Harry Anderson and Ed Bouchee each hit homers with one man on for all of Philadelphia's runs.

An error by second baseman George Anderson opened the gates for three unearned runs in the Pirates' four-run fourth inning. Singles by Kluszewski and Dick Groat and Bill Virdon's double plus a walk and an infield out featured the rally.

A pair of two-run homers by Paul Roeder and Jack Conley in the 7th and final inning enabled the B.P.O. Elks to score a come-from-behind victory over Celanese in a Rocking Chair Softball League thriller yesterday at East Side Field. The score was 9-7.

Trailing 7-5 going into the last inning, the Elks rallied for four runs when Roeder homered to right-center after Bill Underdonk had walked and Conley hit his round-tripper to deep center for the tying and winning tallies. Prior to Conley's belt, "Whip" Kreitzburg walked and John Gorman was inserted to run for him. Joe Niland was the victim of the late uprising.

Shuck and Niland gave up six and seven bases on balls, respectively. The latter gave up his walks in the last three frames.

Lou Baker rapped a pair of doubles for the Elks who were outhit 12 to 6. Basilio opened the game with a homer and also had a double for the Silkmen. Bobby Goss smacked a double and single and Bobby Williams smashed a triple and single for the Silkmen.

Ritter's Spills Vets

The Ritter A.C. beat the V.F.W. for the first time in three years and romped off with a 7-6 decision at Post Field. It was the second victory in a row for the R.A.C. which has absorbed quite a few beatings in recent years.

"Shorty" Long notched his second pitching triumph for Ritter's while Joe Scarpelli headed the eight-hit batting assault with a triple, double and single. Singles by Often and Comer and Scarpelli's triple scored the runs that decided the game in the fifth inning. Jim Eckard accounted for two of the Vets' eight safeties. It was the second straight reverse for the V.F.W., defending champions, and the loss was charged to "Pete" Elliott, who relieved Charley Day in the third inning.

Loyal Order of Moose crashed the win column for the first time this season by turning back Pittsburgh Plate Glass in an 8-4 contest at Stitcher Field.

Moose Get 11 Safeties

The winners racked up 11 hits at the expense of Bill Thompson. "Lum" Lambert homered and singled, Dick Klavuhn and Pete Cecil had a triple and single each and Paul Lease garnered a two-bagger and single for the Moose. Hull and Dick Klavuhn, the winner, limited the Glassmen to three hits, two of which were obtained by Stevenson who had a pair of two-base wallops. Pittsburgh Plate coupled four walks with a hit for its four runs in the third inning.

Orioles Clout Senators, 10-1

Hit Three Homers, Walker Is Victor

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rookie Jerry Walker pitched a five-hitter and the Baltimore Orioles slammed three home runs to snap a three-game Washington Senators' winning streak, 10-1, Thursday night.

A crowd of 15,058, largest ever to see a Baltimore - Washington game here with the exception of opening day, saw the Orioles clinch the contest with a five-run rally in the second inning.

The victory gave the Orioles undisputed possession of second place in the American League. Walker has pitched three complete games in his brief major league career and all have been victorious over the Senators.

The Orioles knocked out loser Pedro Ramos in the second inning when Gus Triandos touched off the five-run outburst with his sixth homer. Singles by Bobby Avila, Billy Klaus, Walker, Willie Tasby and Bob Boyd produced three more runs and brought Vito Valentinetti in from the Washington bullpen.

Harmon Killebrew's error on Bob Nieman's grounder enabled Tasby to score the fifth run of the inning.

Valentinetti also was chased when Baltimore added two more runs in the fourth on Boyd's single, Nieman's double and a single by Triandos.

Tasby's single followed by Nieman's homer plus another by Al Pilarcik stretched the Orioles' lead to 10-0 in the eighth before Reno Bertoia belted his fourth homer of the season in the bottom of the frame to ruin Walker's shutout.

Musial's Homer Beats Cubs, 4-3

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Stan (The Man) Musial smashed a 400-foot plus home run, the 400th of his illustrious major league career, to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 4-3 come-from-behind win over the Chicago Cubs Thursday night.

The Redbirds first baseman, batting only .268 going into the game, and hitless his first three official times up Thursday night, cracked a 1-0 pitch into the right field pavilion as the first man up in the ninth inning.

All runs in the thriller, which saw the Cubs leading 3-0 going into the bottom of the sixth, were scored by home runs.

Chicago drew first blood when first baseman Jim Marshall hit his second four-bagger of the season onto the pavilion roof in right field to open the fourth.

Marshall got his second homer of the game and shortstop Ernie Banks his seventh of the season in the sixth inning to give the Cubs a 3-0 lead.

Kluszewski Homer Wins For Buccos

Tenth Inning Belt Whips Phillies, 5-4

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Ted Kluszewski hit the first pitch of the Pirate tenth inning into the lower right field seats for a home run to give Pittsburgh a 5-4 victory over Philadelphia Thursday night.

It was the first homer of the year for Kluszewski, who also collected two singles and a walk and drove in Pittsburgh's first run of the game.

Kluszewski's blow came off Jim Owens who pitched the entire game for the Phils. Pirate bullpen ace Roy Face picked up his fourth consecutive win in relief of starter Vernon Law.

Harry Anderson and Ed Bouchee each hit homers with one man on for all of Philadelphia's runs.

An error by second baseman George Anderson opened the gates for three unearned runs in the Pirates' four-run fourth inning. Singles by Kluszewski and Dick Groat and Bill Virdon's double plus a walk and an infield out featured the rally.

Dodgers Win On Larker's 2-Run Homer

Williams Scores Over Giants, 2-1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Substitute first baseman Norm Larker smashed a 2-run homer in the fourth inning Thursday providing Stan Williams and the Los Angeles Dodgers a 2-1 victory over San Francisco.

The 6-foot-4 righthander recorded his first triumph while Jack Sanford missed in his bid to win his fifth game for the Giants.

Larker took over for injured Gil Hodges in the third and whacked the ball out of the stadium in his first turn at bat. The Giants only tally came in the bottom of the frame after Willie Mays tripled and scored on a sacrifice fly.

Williams gave up 6 hits, fanned only 1 batter and issued 3 walks.

Mays collected a single, double and triple plus two stolen bases as the Giants No. 1 offensive weapon. But with runners on second and third in the eighth, and the count three balls and no strikes he tapped a bad ball foul to catcher John Roseboro for the second out and a possible rally died.

Porterfield Is Released

Bucs Cut Roster To 27 Players

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates Thursday night cut veteran pitcher Bob Porterfield to reduce their roster to 27 men.

Porterfield has seen only limited action this year, with a 0-0 slate in 5 1-3 innings. Last year the big right hander had a 3.27 ERA, while compiling a 4-0 record in 37 games.

Porterfield, a 10-year man in the majors, is free to make a deal with another big league club. If he is unsuccessful, he will probably go to a Pirate farm team.

The Pirates still must cut two men before Saturday midnight to come down to the 25-man limit.

Colts Take Pisoni

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—The Milwaukee Braves announced Thursday that the Richmond club of the International League has agreed to take back the contract of reserve outfielder Jim Pisoni.

The Braves offered to return Pisoni to Richmond earlier this week, but the International League club has the option of refusing to accept his contract.

Reds Option Hurler

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds Thursday optioned pitcher Miguel Cuellar to Havana of the International League, but retained the right to recall him on 24 hours' notice.

General Manager Gabe Paul said he did not doubt Cuellar's ability to stay with the club, but he thought it would be better for him to go to Havana where he could work regularly.

Ortega And Stitch To Clash Tonight

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — On the strength of an earlier one-point victory, Gaspar Ortega ruled a 6-5 choice Thursday to whip Rudy Stitch in their television 10-rounder Friday night.

The revenge-minded Stitch claims he has the guns to take Ortega this time.

"Frankly, I thought I won the first fight," he says. "Now I'm sure I can do it."

The two welterweights went 10 bloody rounds in Madison Square Garden last Feb. 6, Ortega taking the split decision by a single point. Ortega suffered an eye cut that has sidelined him since the fight.

Friday's bout in the War Memorial Auditorium will be telecast and broadcast nationally (NBC, 9 p.m., EST).

Mt. Savage, League Leaders, Will Battle Fort Hill Today

Indians Are Hosts; LaSalle To Play Valley In Barton

Mt. Savage High School, the winningest team in the Allegany County High School Baseball League, will be out to avenge the only loss on its 1959 record when it tackles Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Fort Hill High chool Sentinels today at 4 p. m., at Mt. Savage.

Coach Joe Carter's Indians dropped their first game of the season to Fort Hill in a 3-2 battle staged here. Since that contest the Indians have scalped six straight opponents and now lead the league with a 6-1 record. The Cartermen beat Bruce 11-9, Elintstone 10-2, Allegany 6-2, Beall 9-3, LaSalle 11-3 and Valley 6-5.

Fort Hill Leads Series

Since Mt. Savage came into the league in 1953 the Indians have met Fort Hill 13 times. The Sentinels have won 10 games and Mt. Savage copped three. Last season Mt. Savage, Fort Hill and Allegany finished in a triple tie for the championship.

LaSalle's Explorers will meet Valley High (4-3) today at 3:30 in Barton.

Since the Black Knights joined the league in 1954 they've played LaSalle ten times. The Explorers have won 7 of the 10 contests, including a 3-2 decision in this season's opener.

Bruce Wins Three In Row

Bruce High's Bulldogs (4-3) host Allegany's Campers (1-5) at 3:30 in Westernport and Beall (2-4) faces winless Flintstone High (0-7) at 4 p. m., at Frostburg. Both Beall and Allegany have lost four games in a row. Coach Leonard Ritchie's Bulldogs have beaten Fort Hill, Beall and Flintstone in their last three outings.

Milavec Stars As Elk Garden Triumphs, 4-3

Bats In Three Runs, Whiffs 13 Eagles

Jerold Milavec pitched and batted Elk Garden High School to a 4-3 victory over Fort Ashby High School in a Potomac Valley Conference contest yesterday at Elk Garden.

Milavec limited Fort Ashby to five hits, fired the third strike past 13 batsmen and batted in three of Elk High's four runs with a homer and triple. He slammed a two-run homer in the first inning, drove in another run with a three-bagger in the fifth then scored on a squeeze play bunt by Ron Stullenbarger. Milavec also figured in a double play that halted a rally by the Eagles.

Harold Hershberger, who went the route for Fort Ashby, gave up five hits and fanned eight. He colected two of his team's five blows, one a two-bagger.

Elk Garden is 2-3 for the season and has three more games on its schedule. The Eagles have won one and lost five. Box score:

Porterfield Is Released

Bucs Cut Roster To 27 Players

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates Thursday night cut veteran pitcher Bob Porterfield to reduce their roster to 27 men.

Porterfield has seen only limited action this year, with a 0-0 slate in 5 1-3 innings. Last year the big right hander had a 3.27 ERA, while compiling a 4-0 record in 37 games.

Porterfield, a 10-year man in the majors, is free to make a deal with another big league club. If he is unsuccessful, he will probably go to a Pirate farm team.

Colts Take Pisoni

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—The Milwaukee Braves announced Thursday that the Richmond club of the International League has agreed to take back the contract of reserve outfielder Jim Pisoni.

The Braves offered to return Pisoni to Richmond earlier this week, but the International League club has the option of refusing to accept his contract.

Frostburg State Golfers Beaten

Roy Sigler saved Frostburg State Teachers College golf team from a shutout yesterday as Shippensburg (Pa.) State Teachers College defeated the Bobcats by the score of 9½ to 2½ points over the Maplehurst Country Club course.

Sigler scored Frostburg's only win, defeating Leathery, 2½ to ½.

In the other matches Ronnie Mann lost to Jacobs, Leidig defeated Doug Sullivan and Fred Shultz was defeated by Oliver.

Dodgers Win On Larker's 2-Run Homer

Williams Scores Over Giants, 2-1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Substitute first baseman Norm Larker smashed a 2-run homer in the fourth inning Thursday providing Stan Williams and the Los Angeles Dodgers a 2-1 victory over San Francisco.

The 6-foot-4 righthander recorded his first triumph while Jack Sanford missed in his bid to win his fifth game for the Giants.

Larker took over for injured Gil Hodges in the third and whacked the ball out of the stadium in his first turn at bat. The Giants only tally came in the bottom of the frame after Willie Mays tripled and scored on a sacrifice fly.

Williams gave up 6 hits, fanned only 1 batter and issued 3 walks.

Mays collected a single, double and triple plus two stolen bases as the Giants No. 1 offensive weapon. But with runners on second and third in the eighth, and the count three balls and no strikes he tapped a bad ball foul to catcher John Roseboro for the second out and a possible rally died.

Reds Option Hurler

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds Thursday optioned pitcher Miguel Cuellar to Havana of the International League, but retained the right to recall him on 24 hours' notice.

General Manager Gabe Paul said he did not doubt Cuellar's ability to stay with the club, but he thought it would be better for him to go to Havana where he could work regularly.

Ortega And Stitch To Clash Tonight

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — On the strength of an earlier one-point victory, Gaspar Ortega ruled a 6-5 choice Thursday to whip Rudy Stitch in their television 10-rounder Friday night.

The revenge-minded Stitch claims he has the guns to take Ortega this time.

"Frankly, I thought I won the first fight," he says. "Now I'm sure I can do it."

The two welterweights went 10 bloody rounds in Madison Square Garden last Feb. 6, Ortega taking the split decision by a single point. Ortega suffered an eye cut that has sidelined him since the fight.

Friday's bout in the War Memorial Auditorium will be telecast and broadcast nationally (NBC, 9 p.m., EST).

Phils Return Schroll

Tigers' Lary Beats Boston Red Sox, 3-1

"Ike" Delock Loser In Series Finale

DETROIT (AP) — Frank Lary scattered 8 Boston hits for his third straight victory Thursday as the Detroit Tigers took the deciding game of a 3-game series 3-1.

The only run off the veteran right-hander was unearned. The Detroit infield pulled Lary out of 3 mild jams in the first 4 innings with double plays, all of them started by second baseman Frank Bolling. The first Boston batter up in the ninth, Frank Malzone, singled but was wiped out on Detroit's fourth double play of the afternoon.

Delock helped the Tigers to the decisive rally by failing to field a sacrifice bunt that loaded the bases with no one out. One run scored when Al Kaline hit one in front of right fielder Jackie Jensen.

Kaline was not credited with a base hit since Charlie Maxwell, holding up to see if Jensen would catch the ball, was thrown out easily at second base. The insurance run came home as Larry Doby grounded out.

Keyser High School goes after its ninth consecutive victory in the Potomac Valley Conference when it plays Southern High School today in Oakland.

The undefeated Golden Tornado defeated the Garrett Countians earlier in the campaign by the score of 7-2 and can close the conference season with a perfect record by winning its remaining games with Southern and Romney. The Pioneers will be met in the tenth and final game next week.

Dave Wilson (5-0) or Ralph Wimer (3-0) will pitch for Coach 'Tack" Clark's team today. Jerry Wine is expected to work on the mound for Coach Ed Quattro's Highlanders.

In other Potomac Valley Conference games, Fort Ashby opposes Elk Garden at the latter place and Petersburg will visit Franklin.

Note buried tanks. From these, pump draws (A) premium quality Blue Sunoco "200", and (B) Sunoco Octane Concentrate (specially refined motor fuel). These are precisely blended by the pump to the exact blend number ordered! Approved by various governmental authorities.

No 2 or 3 "Ready Made" Gasoline Grades can possibly fit the different octane needs of all today's cars without forcing most premium buyers to take, and pay for a higher octane premium gasoline than their cars really need.

But because Sunoco fits octane to engine exactly, you enjoy peak power all the time, and you never pay for octane your car doesn't need!

And, each of Sunoco's 6 blends is the finest quality gasoline your money can buy. You'll get the instant getaway — the surge of passing power you want, without harmful deposits or spark plug fouling.

And, Custom-Blending is so easy! Just start with the blend recommended for your car by your Sunoco dealer. Next tankful, drop down to the next lower blend at the next lower price, and so on — until you find the blend that performs the best, yet costs the least!

Big power at "Regular" Price! Sunoco Custom Blend "200" means big new power for many "regular" users. It's proved higher octane than most "regular" buyers are getting anywhere else. It's higher quality...highest value!

CUSTOM-BLENDED BLUE SUNOCO

Tigers' Lary Beats Boston Red Sox, 3-1

"Ike" Delock Loser In Series Finale

DETROIT (AP) — Frank Lary scattered 8 Boston hits for his third straight victory Thursday as the Detroit Tigers took the deciding game of a 3-game series 3-1.

The only run off the veteran right-hander was unearned. The Detroit infield pulled Lary out of 3 mild jams in the first 4 innings with double plays, all of them started by second baseman Frank Bolling. The first Boston batter up in the ninth, Frank Malzone, singled but was wiped out on Detroit's fourth double play of the afternoon.

Delock helped the Tigers to the decisive rally by failing to field a sacrifice bunt that loaded the bases with no one out. One run scored when Al Kaline hit one in front of right fielder Jackie Jensen.

Kaline was not credited with a base hit since Charlie Maxwell, holding up to see if Jensen would catch the ball, was thrown out easily at second base. The insurance run came home as Larry Doby grounded out.

OLSON RESUMES COMEBACK

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Former middleweight boxing champion Carl (Bobo) Olson and light-heavyweight Sonny Ray will meet in a 10-round bout at the Cow Palace June 8, promoter Benny Ford announced Tuesday. The match will not be broadcast or telecast, Ford said.

Keyser Seeks 9th PVC Win, To Play In Oakland Today

Keyser High School goes after its ninth consecutive victory in the Potomac Valley Conference when it plays Southern High School today in Oakland.

The undefeated Golden Tornado defeated the Garrett Countians earlier in the campaign by the score of 7-2 and can close the conference season with a perfect record by winning its remaining games with Southern and Romney. The Pioneers will be met in the tenth and final game next week.

Dave Wilson (5-0) or Ralph Wimer (3-0) will pitch for Coach "Tack" Clark's team today. Jerry Wine is expected to work on the mound for Coach Ed Quattro's Highlanders.

Paw Paw (4-1) will play host to Berkeley Springs (3-1) today.

In other Potomac Valley Conference games, Fort Ashby opposes Elk Garden at the latter place and Petersburg will visit Franklin.

Now! Get peak power without octane waste!

Note buried tanks. From these, pump draws (A) premium quality Blue Sunoco "200", and (B) Sunoco Octane Concentrate (specially refined motor fuel). These are precisely blended by the pump to the exact blend number ordered! Approved by various governmental authorities.

No 2 or 3 "Ready Made" Gasoline Grades can possibly fit the different octane needs of all today's cars without forcing most premium buyers to take, and pay for a higher octane premium gasoline than their cars really need.

But because Sunoco fits octane to engine exactly, you enjoy peak power all the time, and you never pay for octane your car doesn't need!

And, each of Sunoco's 6 blends is the finest quality gasoline your money can buy. You'll get the instant getaway – the surge of passing power you want, without harmful deposits or spark plug fouling.

And, Custom-Blending is so easy! Just start with the blend recommended for your car by your Sunoco dealer. Next tankful, drop down to the next lower blend at the next lower price, and so on – until you find the blend that performs the best, yet costs the least!

Big power at "Regular" Price! Sunoco Custom Blend "200" means big new power for many "regular" users. It's proved higher octane than most "regular" buyers are getting anywhere else. It's higher quality...highest value!

CUSTOM-BLENDED BLUE SUNOCO

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — A combination that should bring the customers right into the theatres is Buddy Rogers and Gloria Swanson who will be teamed in "Red Letter Day" on a straw hat circuit for 10 weeks this summer. They open at Andover, N.J., on June 16, and Buddy is being coached by Agnes Moorehead.

"Red Letter Day" is a comedy by Andrew Rosenthal, and was on the London stage a few years ago.

Buddy told me all this at the bon voyage party he and Mary Pickford hosted for Enoch Ravelo. "Mary will go east with me for the opening and she'll meet our daughter Roxanne who returns from Switzerland after two years of school there," said Buddy. "I am very excited at working with Gloria — you know I never was in any of her pictures during all the years I made movies."

With the astronomical boxoffice figures mounting higher and higher on "The Al Capone Story," Allied Artists is hoping lightning will strike twice in the same place. They have bought "The Purple Gang," the story of a notorious group of gangsters who operated in Detroit in the 20's. Joseph O'Riorden was the leader of this nefarious group who started as teenage delinquents running rum from Canada, and matured in their lives of crime until they were wiped out in the 30's.

This will be a Lindsley Parsons (no relation) production, and negotiation are on with Barry Sullivan to play O'Riorden. The script by Jack Dewitt is ready to go.

I often think we don't give enough glory to our fine character actors and I was reminded of this again when I heard that Henry Jones (devastating as the evil janitor in "The Bad Seed") will co-star with James Garner and Natalie Wood in "Cash McCall" at Warners.

Since making "Bad Seed," Henry opened in the original cast of "Sunrise at Campobello" playing Louis Howe to Ralph Bellamy's Franklin Delano Roosevelt. But he left Broadway a few weeks ago to come back to Hollywood for "The Bramble Bush." Now he remains on the lot for "Cash," playing Jim Garner's business partner. What a variety of roles—and how well Henry plays them.

The young dancer-actress Barrie Chase who won fame as Fred Astaire's dancing partner in his first TV spectacular, has asked Buddy Adler that she be allowed to withdraw from the cast of "Stage Door." There's a method in Barrie's madness, because she wants to make a big movie splash in "Can Can" which 20th Century-Fox has scheduled for her.

I believe Buddy will persuade her to do "Stage Door," however, as a warm-up. She's had very few motion pictures, but was very good in "Mardi Gras." Of course, she has another big Astaire spectacular coming up, and I don't believe Fred will have anyone but Barrie. She is his protegee.

The most laughable rumor of the week of a marital breakup is that of Janet Blair, who is taking over the Dinah Shore Show for the summer, and her husband Nick Mayo. He told me Janet was seen dancing with another man at the Cedars of Lebanon hospital benefit dinner, and the rumors started.

"The funny part is that the man was Dr. Leon Krohn, who brought our baby to town," said Nick. "While Janet was dancing with him, I was dancing with Mrs. Krohn. Come on up and see our beautiful 10-weeks-old baby. We have been married for seven years and this is the first gossip about our marriage and I hope it's the last."

In the recent match for the world's championship held in New York City, the Italians showed great adeptness in slam bidding. The celebrated Neopolitan pair of Siniscalco and Forquet outbid the Americans on the hand shown today.

Siniscalco in the North position opened the bidding with one no trump. This is made necessary in their system by reason of the fact that an opening bid of one club was not available to him. The club bid, it will be recalled, is their means of showing a strong hand of 17 points and upward. It is an artificial bid which has no relationship to the club suit itself. Observe Forquet's response of two diamonds. This is highly unorthodox in our methods but is the accepted procedure in his system for showing a strong hand. That is to say, when they bid a lower ranking suit first and follow it up with a higher ranking suit on a subsequent round of bidding, the suit mentioned secondarily represents the replay possibility for the hand and the bid used to initiate the bidding by South serves as a device to lay the foundation for a "reverse" bid. Siniscalco's rebid of two hearts is a mere denial. They use the next ranking suit in these cases to show a hand without additional strength of any kind. South then came out in his true colors with a jump bid to three spades. Siniscalco's bid of four hearts is what might be determined as a free ride for his one no trump opening has definitely limited the strength of his hand.

At this point Forquet embarked upon a Blackwood bid and when his partner showed three aces he contracted for six spades, which it will be seen, was a laydown. The hand is reasonably safe for 12 tricks against all contingencies. Observe that with South playing the hand the diamond suit cannot be attacked. If a club is opened, declarer simply wins the ace on which he would do well to drop the queen; extracts the trumps and leads a club establishing that suit. Twelve tricks are now assured.

The Alpine willow, which does not exceed six inches in height, is the smallest tree in the United States.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — A combination that should bring the customers right into the theatres is Buddy Rogers and Gloria Swanson who will be teamed in "Red Letter Day" on a straw hat circuit for 10 weeks this summer. They open at Andover, N.J., on June 16, and Buddy is being coached by Agnes Moorehead.

"Red Letter Day" is a comedy by Andrew Rosenthal, and was on the London stage a few years ago.

Buddy told me all this at the bon voyage party he and Mary Pickford hosted for Enoch Ravelo. "Mary will go east with me for the opening and she'll meet our daughter Roxanne who returns from Switzerland after two years of school there," said Buddy. "I am very excited at working with Gloria — you know I never was in any of her pictures during all the years I made movies."

With the astronomical boxoffice figures mounting higher and higher on "The Al Capone Story," Allied Artists is hoping lightning will strike twice in the same place. They have bought "The Purple Gang," the story of a notorious group of gangsters who operated in Detroit in the 20's. Joseph O'Riorden was the leader of this nefarious group who started as teenage delinquents running rum from Canada, and matured in their lives of crime until they were wiped out in the 30's.

This will be a Lindsley Parsons (no relation) production, and negotiation are on with Barry Sullivan to play O'Riorden. The script by Jack Dewitt is ready to go.

I often think we don't give enough glory to our fine character actors and I was reminded of this again when I heard that Henry Jones (devastating as the evil janitor in "The Bad Seed") will co-star with James Garner and Natalie Wood in "Cash McCall" at Warners.

Since making "Bad Seed," Henry opened in the original cast of "Sunrise at Campobello" playing Louis Howe to Ralph Bellamy's Franklin Delano Roosevelt. But he left Broadway a few weeks ago to come back to Hollywood for "The Bramble Bush." Now he remains on the lot for "Cash," playing Jim Garner's business partner. What a variety of roles—and how well Henry plays them.

The young dancer-actress Barrie Chase who won fame as Fred Astaire's dancing partner in his first TV spectacular, has asked Buddy Adler that she be allowed to withdraw from the cast of "Stage Door." There's a method in Barrie's madness, because she wants to make a big movie splash in "Can Can" which 20th Century-Fox has scheduled for her.

I believe Buddy will persuade her to do "Stage Door," however, as a warm-up. She's had very few motion pictures, but was very good in "Mardi Gras." Of course, she has another big Astaire spectacular coming up, and I don't believe Fred will have anyone but Barrie. She is his protegee.

The most laughable rumor of the week of a marital breakup is that of Janet Blair, who is taking over the Dinah Shore Show for the summer, and her husband Nick Mayo. He told me Janet was seen dancing with another man at the Cedars of Lebanon hospital benefit dinner, and the rumors started.

"The funny part is that the man was Dr. Leon Krohn, who brought our baby to town," said Nick. "While Janet was dancing with him, I was dancing with Mrs. Krohn. Come on up and see our beautiful 10-weeks-old baby. We have been married for seven years and this is the first gossip about our marriage and I hope it's the last."

Fort Hill Class To Plan Reunion

Rev. Donald Brake, class president, will preside at the initial meeting. It is hoped to hold a reunion later this summer if enough interest is indicated at the meeting.

In the recent match for the world's championship held in New York City, the Italians showed great adeptness in slam bidding. The celebrated Neopolitan pair of Siniscalco and Forquet outbid the Americans on the hand shown today.

Siniscalco in the North position opened the bidding with one no trump. This is made necessary in their system by reason of the fact that an opening bid of one club was not available to him. The club bid, it will be recalled, is their means of showing a strong hand of 17 points and upward. It is an artificial bid which has no relationship to the club suit itself. Observe Forquet's response of two diamonds. This is highly unorthodox in our methods but is the accepted procedure in his system for showing a strong hand. That is to say, when they bid a lower ranking suit first and follow it up with a higher ranking suit on a subsequent round of bidding, the suit mentioned secondarily represents the replay possibility for the hand and the bid used to initiate the bidding by South serves as a device to lay the foundation for a "reverse" bid. Siniscalco's rebid of two hearts is a mere denial. They use the next ranking suit in these cases to show a hand without additional strength of any kind. South then came out in his true colors with a jump bid to three spades. Siniscalco's bid of four hearts is what might be determined as a free ride for his one no trump opening has definitely limited the strength of his hand.

At this point Forquet embarked upon a Blackwood bid and when his partner showed three aces he contracted for six spades, which it will be seen, was a laydown. The hand is reasonably safe for 12 tricks against all contingencies. Observe that with South playing the hand the diamond suit cannot be attacked. If a club is opened, declarer simply wins the ace on which he would do well to drop the queen; extracts the trumps and leads a club establishing that suit. Twelve tricks are now assured.

The Alpine willow, which does not exceed six inches in height, is the smallest tree in the United States.

In Memoriam

IZZETT—A tribute of love to our dear daughter and sister, Carol Jean Izzett, who died 4 years ago today, May 8, 1955.
We do not forget you, nor do we intend.
We think of you often, and will to the end!
Gone and forgotten by some you may be,
But dear to our memory you ever will be.
Sadly missed by her
Daddy, Mother, Sisters & Brothers.

Strengthen Army

ROME (UPI) — The Continentale news agency reported Wednesday night that the Soviet Union is reinforcing its army garrisons in the republic of Armenia following "terrorist attempts" organized by American exiles. The agency, which specializes in news of Communist affairs, said participants in a recent Communist Party conference in Armenia complained of unrest among the population and attacks on party officials. The Kremlin decided to bolster its units to put down the resistance, the agency claimed.

Irish Import?

HORTON HEATH, England (UPI) — Farmer Alf Clark said Thursday he has a non-conformist hen named Bessie that had laid a green egg daily for the past 41 days. People won't buy the green eggs, he said, so he eats them himself. Clark said they taste fine.

Strengthen Army

ROME (UPI) — The Continentale news agency reported Wednesday night that the Soviet Union is reinforcing its army garrisons in the republic of Armenia following "terrorist attempts" organized by American exiles. The agency, which specializes in news of Communist affairs, said participants in a recent Communist Party conference in Armenia complained of unrest among the population and attacks on party officials. The Kremlin decided to bolster its units to put down the resistance, the agency claimed.

Selling Causes Sharpest Market Decline Since Fall

NEW YORK (UPI) — Selling hit the stock market with a force that knocked as much as 6 and 7 points from individual prices and slashed more than 3.5 billion dollars from the value of all listed shares for the sharpest over-all market loss since Nov. 24, 1958.

Some of the blame was pinned on the apprehension which has prevailed in the market on recent Thursdays as Wall Street pondered anticipated Federal Reserve Board money tightening action. Such action usually is taken at the Thursday meeting of the board but once again there was no announcement forthcoming. The discount rate—the fee the Federal Reserve Board charges on loans to member commercial banks—remained unchanged.

The recently favored "space" issues were prominent on the decline. One of the stars, Thiokol Chemical, helped to touch off the selling when a glut of sell orders piled up before the opening caused the New York Stock Exchange to order a ban on stop loss orders in the issue. Thiokol, which ran up 7¼ Wednesday on the day's heaviest trading, dropped the same amount and held the same spot on the active list Thursday.

Elsewhere among the so-called glamour issues, Zenith fell 8½, Texas Instruments 6¼, Litton 4¾, Beckman 4⅛, General Time 3¾, Motorola (which soared over 17 points on Wednesday) lost 4. Bell & Howell fell 6½, Polaroid 5⅞ in the cameras.

Steel losses ranged to 2 in U.S. Steel, 4 in Inaldn. Goodyear fell 4¼, General Tire 3¼. American Telephone was down 3¾ points, DuPont 3¾.

Bristol Myers lost 6, Smith Kline & French 2¾ among the drugs. American Home Products, however, was one of the few upside stars, gaining 2¼. Philadelphia & Reading soared 7 and, among the generally lower auto issues, American Motors ran up 1¼ points.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Rye was heavy and other grains mixed today on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was unchanged to off ⅝; corn unchanged to off ¼; oats off ⅛ to up ⅜; new oats unchanged to up ⅛; rye off 1⅝ to 2⅝; soybeans off ⅝ to up ¼.

Wheat futures found little interest in a generally quiet market. May was weak most of the day on some light liquidation. A lack of pressure boosted deferred wheat contracts. Longs sold May and local traders were the best buyers. Moisture was reported over parts of the wheat areas, and the crop news was mainly favorable. Export sales were reported in wheat, corn and soybeans.

Corn was firm most of the day, with exporters leading the buying of nearby contracts. Local traders also bought. Elevator houses sold May and bought September at a 3¾ cent difference. Receipts again were light and the demand slow, easing prices near the close. Commodity Credit Corporation export acceptances on subsidy bids were 500,000 bushels.

The local rye market was under the influence of scattered commission house selling and moisture reports from the northwest. Oats rallied from an opening recession, and May was firm as cash houses bought in small lots. Soybeans were steady for the nearby and weaker for the deferred contracts. Floor traders bought July, and some cash houses sold. Oils were slightly lower, lard easier, and meals firm.

Outside markets were mixed. The range:

Red Face Musicians

Returns To Duty

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Col. Robert Nunlist, commandant of the Swiss guards, returned to duty Wednesday and attended the swearing-in of 32 members of the colorful papal bodyguard. Nunlist was shot twice last month by a dismissed member of the guard and had been in the hospital since.

Selling Causes Sharpest Market Decline Since Fall

NEW YORK (UPI) — Selling hit the stock market with a force that knocked as much as 6 and 7 points from individual prices and slashed more than 3.5 billion dollars from the value of all listed shares for the sharpest over-all market loss since Nov. 24, 1958.

Some of the blame was pinned on the apprehension which has prevailed in the market on recent Thursdays as Wall Street pondered anticipated Federal Reserve Board money tightening action. Such action usually is taken at the Thursday meeting of the board but once again there was no announcement forthcoming. The discount rate—the fee the Federal Reserve Board charges on loans to member commercial banks—remained unchanged.

The recently favored "space" issues were prominent on the decline. One of the stars, Thiokol Chemical, helped to touch off the selling when a glut of sell orders piled up before the opening caused the New York Stock Exchange to order a ban on stop loss orders in the issue. Thiokol, which ran up 7¼ Wednesday on the day's heaviest trading, dropped the same amount and held the same spot on the active list Thursday.

Elsewhere among the so-called glamour issues, Zenith fell 8½, Texas Instruments 6¼, Litton 4¾, Beckman 4⅛, General Time 3¾, Motorola (which soared over 17 points on Wednesday) lost 4. Bell & Howell fell 6½, Polaroid 5⅞ in the cameras.

Steel losses ranged to 2 in U.S. Steel, 4 in Inaldn. Goodyear fell 4¼, General Tire 3¼. American Telephone was down 3¾ points. DuPont 3¾.

Bristol Myers lost 6, Smith Kline & French 2¾ among the drugs. American Home Products, however, was one of the few upside stars, gaining 2¼. Philadelphia & Reading soared 7 and, among the generally lower auto issues, American Motors ran up 1¼ points.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Rye was heavy and other grains mixed today on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was unchanged to off ⅝; corn unchanged to off ¼; oats off ⅛ to up ⅜; new oats unchanged to up ⅛; rye off 1⅝ to 2⅝; soybeans off ⅝ to up ¼.

Wheat futures found little interest in a generally quiet market. May was weak most of the day on some light liquidation. A lack of pressure boosted deferred wheat contracts. Longs sold May and local traders were the best buyers. Moisture was reported over parts of the wheat areas, and the crop news was mainly favorable. Export sales were reported in wheat, corn and soybeans.

Corn was firm most of the day, with exporters leading the buying of nearby contracts. Local traders also bought. Elevator houses sold May and bought September at a 3¾ cent difference. Receipts again were light and the demand slow, easing prices near the close. Commodity Credit Corporation export acceptances on subsidy bids were 500,000 bushels.

The local rye market was under the influence of scattered commission house selling and moisture reports from the northwest. Oats rallied from an opening recession, and May was firm as cash houses bought in small lots. Soybeans were steady for the nearby and weaker for the deferred contracts. Floor traders bought July, and some cash houses sold. Oils were slightly lower, lard easier, and meals firm.

Outside markets were mixed. The range:

Red Face Musicians

Returns To Duty

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Col. Robert Nunlist, commandant of the Swiss guards, returned to duty Wednesday and attended the swearing-in of 32 members of the colorful papal bodyguard. Nunlist was shot twice last month by a dismissed member of the guard and had been in the hospital since.

Rizer, Higgins Quit Teachers Association

Wilson Clarifies Salary Question

The assistant superintendent of schools, Richard T. Rizer, and the supervisor of pupil personnel, Homer S. Higgins, sent word through Miss Mary E. Murray, president, that they have withdrawn from membership in the Allegany County Teachers Association.

Miss Murray made the announcement of their withdrawal from membership at a special ACTA meeting last night at Fort Hill, after Alfred H. Benna, a teacher at Fort Hill, charged that Mr. Higgins had "viciously attacked" him in statements made at an ACTA executive committee meeting at the Board of Education office Tuesday night.

Mr. Benna, in a prepared statement he read to the association, deplored Mr. Higgins' "slanderous attack on my character." He also asked that the action be referred to the association's ethics committee.

In a split vote, the association supported Mr. Benna's request that the statement be made a part of the minutes and that it be publicized.

Higgins Was Candidate

It was then that Miss Murray announced that Mr. Higgins and Mr. Rizer had withdrawn from the association. Higgins has been serving as chairman of the ACTA legislative committee and was a candidate for re-election in next Monday night's scheduled balloting. His name has been removed from ballots now being prepared, members said.

The special meeting last night was called to give William A. Wilson, county commissioner, an opportunity to outline details leading up to the action on the county supplimental pension for retired and retiring teachers, and to attempt to clarify the stand of the county commissioners on this year's budget.

Mr. Wilson explained that he has received numerous inquiries from teachers asking why the teachers did not receive a salary increase at the county level, and asking other questions pertinent to this problem.

Explains His Stand

Commissioner Wilson outlined a sequence of meetings, conferences and discussions on the question of supplemental pensions, and reviewed from the record his stand and that of other commissioners on the question.

He stated that Mr. Higgins and Mr. Rizer had "dropped in my place of business on many occasions" to discuss this and other school questions.

Commissioner Wilson said he was under the impression that Mr. Higgins and Mr. Rizer were speaking as official representatives of the teachers association because they had always been with legislative committee groups or other groups who had met with him or other board members from time to time.

He declared that the impression grew with him that if the county commissioners appropriated funds for, or supported legislation for the supplemental pension program, the teachers this year would not ask for a pay raise.

Sought No Raise

He then added, "And the fact is, the teachers did not ask for an additional pay raise this year, until after the school board budget had been submitted." Then, he recalled, the school superintendent accompanied by members of the Board of Education appeared before the County Commissioners and asked permission to submit a supplemental budget providing $200 across-the-board pay raises for all teachers.

This was not possible, Commissioner Wilson said, because the county attorney ruled that the date for submitting supplemental budgets had passed, and under the law it was too late.

Commissioner Wilson answered numerous questions from members, and told the teachers that the present board reviewed every department's budget this levy time thoroughly and completely. He reminded them, "The school board budget is the only one we did not cut. But there was no request in it for a pay raise for the teachers."

Under questioning, Mr. Wilson told the teachers that he had been under the impression for a long time that when he talked with Mr. Rizer and Mr. Higgins they were speaking for the association.

Civitans Honor Essay Winners

Richard L. Blake, president of the Civitan Club, presents a $50 cash prize to Sandra Phillips, center, who won the local Civitan citizenship essay contest. Looking on are runners-up Holly Van Ormer and Betsy Blose, who won $25 savings bonds, and Eugene L. Hopkins, chairman of the contest committee of the club. The awards were presented as the club observed ladies night last night at the Central YMCA. John J. Hafer spoke on his recent trip to the Soviet Union.

Coach Turned Minister Will Speak At Graduation

AURANCE F. SHANK

A one-time high school and college football coach who is now a Methodist minister will come to Allegany County next month to speak at two public high school commencements, according to Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster.

He is Rev. Aurance F. Shank, now pastor of Fifth Street Methodist Church in Harrisburg, Pa., who will address the Fort Hill High School graduates on Thursday, June 4, and the Beall High School graduates in Frostburg the following night.

Born in Kansas, Rev. Mr. Shank obtained his early education in the schools of Williamsport, Pa. He was graduated from Dickinson College and Drew University and was widely known as a college athlete. He was football coach at high schools of Asheville, N. C., and Shippensburg, Pa., and later at Shippensburg State Teachers College.

Eventually he left the field of athletics for the ministry. He has pastorates in prominent eastern Pennsylvania churches. He is considered a leader in civic affairs and is a strong advocate of young people's activities and the close cooperation of youth and adults in the development of mental and physical welfare.

He has addressed such groups as service clubs, school officials, the Southern Engineering Society meeting in Hagerstown, the Pennsylvania Association, bankers and the North Central Chapter of Football Officials.

Adventist Church Crusade Continues

Cumberland's Crusade For Christ evangelistic meetings, which began March 29, are still in progress. The special meetings are being held in the Seventh-day Adventist Church, 41 Oak Street, each Sunday, Wednesday, and Friday evening at 7:30 p. m.

The evangelistic endeavor is a part of a conference-wide program of Seventh-day Adventists throughout West Virginia called "Operation Thrust" which will climax in a baptismal service on May 23.

These services are not the usual "revival" type of meetings, but deal with some of the outstanding prophecies in the Bible, especially in the Books of Daniel and Revelation.

Railroads Here Provide $10 Million Payroll

Railroads are basic to the American economy and healthy railroads are necessary for the future of this nation, a representative of the Association of American Railroads told the Cumberland Kiwanis Club yesterday at Central YMCA.

The speaker was Charles O. Morgret, manager of public and special services of the Public Relations Department of the Association of American Railroads. He cited Cumberland as a railroad town much interested in the success of this form of transportation.

He said that about 1,750 Cumberlanders are railroad employes and between 5,000 and 6,000 persons here are members of railroad families. The annual railroad payroll here is about $10,000,000.

Mr. Morgret, a native of nearby Berkeley Springs, W. Va., told his audience that the public must realize its responsibility to the railroad industry, and the railroads themselves must perform the necessary acts of self-help.

Much legislation is necessary to enable the railroads to be able to compete fairly with other methods of transportation. He said the Transportation Act of 1958 was designed by Congress to help the railroads, but its rate-making sections are so ambiguous that they are difficult to interpret.

Since World War II, the American railroads have spent about $14 billion to improve their equipment. One of the major difficulties of the railroads today stems from outmoded work rules which have not been changed materially since 1919. He pointed to a recent Canadian decision which ruled that firemen on Diesel-locomotives are not justified.

Mr. Morgret concluded by saying that political bodies and enlightened labor leaders both must do their part to make American railroads healthy.

Bible Class Will Mark Mothers Day

A special Mothers Day program will be held Sunday by the Duke Memorial Bible Class.

The Ladies Day session will open at 9:30 a. m. in Central YMCA with Charles Shaw as the instructor.

Special music will be provided by the class orchestra and gifts will be presented to the oldest and youngest mother present.

Year's Best Month Tops Last Year

Last month was the best April for Allegany County building permit activity in the five years that figures have been compiled.

In April there were 68 building permits issued by the assessing department for construction which the builders have estimated will cost a total of $516,500. Both totals far overshadow April 1958, when 53 permits were obtained and the construction was estimated to cost a total of $199,690.

Heavy activity last month brought the four-month total for 1959 to a level higher than for the corresponding four months of 1958. In the first one-third of 1959 there have been 120 building permits issued for construction estimated by the builders to cost a total of $822,850. Last year, in the first four months there were 115 permits and the builder-estimated cost was $605,390.

40 For Dwellings

One of the biggest single factors in April's heavy total was that Ralph G. Cover of Bowling Green obtained permits to build 12 new brick dwellings in the Coverwood development of LaVale at a total cost of $226,500.

Forty of the 68 permits issued in April were for new dwellings. Seven more were for additions to dwellings and another seven for garages. There also were two permits for church additions, and one each for chicken coop, service station, placing siding on a dwelling, swimming pool, Sunday School, garage and workshop, switch house, basement, hunting lodge, apartment over store, garage over apartment and motor shop.

LaVale Leads

The 68 permits for April authorized construction in 23 different election districts of the county.

Election District 29 at LaVale, with a big push from Mr. Cover, was responsible for 22 of the 68 permits. Other districts with more than one April permits included District 6, West Side suburban, and 31, McCoole, five permits each; District 7, Cresaptown-Rawlings, and 21, Gross, four each; Districts 5, North End suburban, 8, Westernport suburban, and 23, East Side suburban, three each; Districts 12, Frostburg suburban; 16, North Branch; 20, Ellerslie - Corriganville; and 28, Frostburg suburban, two each; and Districts 2, Oldtown; 3, Flintstone; 9, Barton; 10, Lonaconing; 13, Mt. Savage; 15, Lonaconing; 17, Vale Summit; 18, Midland; 19, Shaft; 22, East Side suburban, and 27, Gilmore, one each.

Temperature Hits 88; Today To Be Cooler

Cumberland had its warmest day of 1959 yesterday with the official thermometer in Constitution Park recording 88 degrees, one degree above Wednesday's highest figure.

But downtown, it was even hotter. The unofficial Times-News recording thermometer hung around 90 all afternoon, reaching 92 on three occasions. On Wednesday, its highest point was 90.

Today should be much cooler, unless the Weather Bureau misses its guess. The forecast last night called for a cloudy day with highest temperatures in the 60s.

Girl Scouts Plan Outing

A round-up of Brownie and Intermediate Girl Scouts of the South Neighborhood Organization will be held Saturday, May 23 at Constitution Park.

Plans for the round-up were made at a recent meeting of the organization and Mrs. Carl Johnson was named chairman for the event.

City Collects 90 Per Cent Of Current Levy

Departments Keep Within Budgets

The City of Cumberland completed the first 10 months of its fiscal year April 30 with 90 per cent of its levy collected and spending running nine per cent below par.

A report on the Condition of the Levy, prepared by City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson for the guidance of department heads, shows that collections toward the $1,905,120 levy for the 1958-1959 fiscal year totaled $1,710,378.60, or 89.78 per cent of the levy.

This leaves only $215,709.82 to be collected to meet levy estimates and $20,977.42 has already come in as excess collections.

The $1,220,190 tax levy was in even better shape, as collections of $1,230,515.43 represent 100.85 per cent of the amount levied.

Exceed Estimates

In addition to the $10,325.43 of excess tax collections, four other individual levies are already over. Included are $1,371.25 of excess collections from interest on taxes, $2,231.90 of excess collections on police fines, $3,382.02 from weights at the city scales and $3,666.82 from state racing income. All but the last source, which is all in, will be slightly higher by the end of the fiscal year June 30.

Other sources of income appeared to be coming in on schedule. Considerably more income will be needed in the plus column, or from savings by city departments, to equal or exceed the $107,000 on hand to prime the pump for the current fiscal year.

City appropriations, which may be the source of part of next year's surplus, were in excellent shape as the $1,157,283.22 spent to date for city operations represents 74.13 per cent of appropriations. This is about nine points under par of 83⅓ per cent.

Only two appropriations were overdrawn—errors and insolvencies and social security.

The errors and insolvencies account is $2,965.12 over as a result of a Court of Appeals decision.

Keep In Budgets

The decision resulted in the recent payment by the city of $3,022.26 to the firm, representing a $2,479.07 tax refund and $543.19 of interest on the taxes for the years 1952-1956.

The other account is social security, over $630.44 as a result of the entrance of Fire Department employes into the federal system since the levy was set.

Departments were keeping within their budgets and some accounts will show healthy balances to be applied toward the surplus.

Examples are Accident Awards, which still has a balance of $4,806.93 from a $6,000 budget; Elections and Registrations, with $5,556.50 left from an $8,000 budget, and Civil Defense, with $1,875.45 left from a $2,500 allotment.

Four Youths Escape From Forestry Camp

Pa. Police Arrest Two On Turnpike

Two of the four youths who escaped some time early yesterday morning from the Forestry Camp for Boys at New Germany have been picked up, according to State Police.

The two youths were picked up yesterday by Pennsylvania State Police as they were entering the Pennsylvania Turnpike at Somerset. They were identified as Gerald F. James, 17, Riverdale, and Charles Garrett, 18, Dundalk.

Still missing from the camp in Garrett County are Daniel Andrew Kluczyk, 17, Baltimore, and James R. Dean, 16, of Greenbelt.

Philip Axman, supervisor of the camp, said the four youths left the camp sometime between midnight Wednesday and 6:30 a. m. yesterday, when they were discovered missing.

The camp is one of three in this area which has 16, 17 and 18-year-old boys who were originally committed to the Maryland Training School for Boys. The camps were created in the belief that boys interested in outdoor living could be guided back to good citizenship while performing work in the conservation of natural resources.

Mr. Axman said there are no fences or gates at the New German camp and the boys are not locked in at nights.

The State Police said there is a 13-state alarm out for the two missing youths.

Formal Inspection Of Flood Project Set This Afternoon

The final inspection of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project will be made this afternoon.

The formal review of Section 4, which was completed by the George F. Hazelwood Company, is scheduled to begin at 3:30 p. m.

Top officials of the Corps of Engineers, City of Cumberland, Town of Ridgeley and the contractors will take part in the review of the $18,000,000 project.

Wage Increases Are Asked By 2 City Groups

Bond Issue Cited As Possible Source

Across-the-board wage increases and other benefits were asked by two city groups in meetings with the Mayor and Council last night.

The major requests include a $50 a month boost for police and firemen, asked by the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association, and a flat 40 cents an hour increase for Street and Water department workers sought by Municipal Employes Local 812.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech told the groups city officials will give careful consideration to the requests.

Former City Attorney Thomas B. Finan served as spokesman for the Police and Firemen's delegation, which included John Daum, John Chaney, Charles A. Nave and Robert Meister.

At present, it was pointed out, a patrolman here gets $3,558 a year while Hagerstown pays $4,032, and the proposed increase would give local patrolmen only a slight edge over those in Hagerstown.

Suggest Bond Plan

The delegation proposed that funds for the wage increases be met through a bond issue which would finance some projects now being done through operating expenses.

Mr. Finan said he did not believe such a plan would face any substantial opposition at present.

The main source of operating revenues to be gained through a bond issue would be the city's share of state gas and oil revenues, which are now being withheld by the State Roads Commission to meet the city's obligations toward the Cumberland Thruway.

It was asserted that if a bond issue or an increase in the tax rate were considered, Council should act in the near future due to the time needed for legal action.

Cumberland, it was pointed out, is down to 219th place in salaries paid police and firemen in 233 cities in the 25,000 to 50,000 population range.

Police and firemen, it was stressed, deserve consideration because of the great hazards they face in line of duty.

Want Fines In Budget

Police said police fines and parking revenues should be thrown into the department's operating "kitty" but Arthur G. Gibson, city auditor, said that would cause budget trouble if such revenues dropped.

In any event, the less than $50,000 from both sources (fines and meters) is way less than the Police Department's current $252,400 budget.

The issue, one of the men said, is that the police and firemen "can't live on the money they are getting."

Ask 40 Cents

The Local 812 negotiating committee asked a 40-cent across-the-board increase as the major part of its proposal.

The men, Charles Baker, president, reported, "do not want any part of a percentage increase."

Wages, he said, is the main thing being asked, as the men "are really hurting now."

Fringe benefits, he added, are fine and the men want them, but they have actually dropped the take-home pay.

He was referring to Social Security, which calls for matching payments by the city and workers, and Blue Cross-Shield. The city pays the latter benefits for workers, and deducts payments for coverage of the worker's family.

City wage rates, the men stressed, have dropped too far behind that of construction workers. They said a truck driver on construction jobs gets $2.15½ an hour and a city driver $1.64.

Seek Adjustments

One member of the delegation pointed out a construction worker can work six months during the busy season and then get unemployment compensation the rest of the year and make "as much as we do."

The union also asked that an adjustment be made in the pay for warehouse workers, who get only $2,750 a year.

The men also renewed a request that the city pay the difference between workmen's compensation payments and a man's take-home pay in case he is hurt on the job—to give the same compensation now provided for police and firemen.

The union also asked bi-weekly paydays, saying the men cannot budget under the present semi-monthly plan which occasionally results in three weeks between paydays.

The union also asked that sick leave be cumulative to 90 days, instead of the present 60.

Rizer, Higgins Quit Teachers Association

Wilson Clarifies Salary Question

The assistant superintendent of schools, Richard T. Rizer, and the supervisor of pupil personnel, Homer S. Higgins, sent word through Miss Mary E. Murray, president, that they have withdrawn from membership in the Allegany County Teachers Association.

Miss Murray made the announcement of their withdrawal from membership at a special ACTA meeting last night at Fort Hill, after Alfred H. Benna, a teacher at Fort Hill, charged that Mr. Higgins had "viciously attacked" him in statements made at an ACTA executive committee meeting at the Board of Education office Tuesday night.

Mr. Benna, in a prepared statement he read to the association, deplored Mr. Higgins' "slanderous attack on my character." He also asked that the action be referred to the association's ethics committee.

In a split vote, the association supported Mr. Benna's request that the statement be made a part of the minutes and that it be publicized.

Higgins Was Candidate

It was then that Miss Murray announced that Mr. Higgins and Mr. Rizer had withdrawn from the association. Higgins has been serving as chairman of the ACTA legislative committee and was a candidate for re-election in next Monday night's scheduled balloting. His name has been removed from ballots now being prepared, members said.

The special meeting last night was called to give William A. Wilson, county commissioner, an opportunity to outline details leading up to the action on the county supplimental pension for retired and retiring teachers, and to attempt to clarify the stand of the county commissioners on this year's budget.

Mr. Wilson explained that he has received numerous inquiries from teachers asking why the teachers did not receive a salary increase at the county level, and asking other questions pertinent to this problem.

Explains His Stand

Commissioner Wilson outlined a sequence of meetings, conferences and discussions on the question of supplemental pensions, and reviewed from the record his stand and that of other commissioners on the question.

He stated that Mr. Higgins and Mr. Rizer had "dropped in my place of business on many occasions" to discuss this and other school questions.

Commissioner Wilson said he was under the impression that Mr. Higgins and Mr. Rizer were speaking as official representatives of the teachers association because they had always been with legislative committee groups or other groups who had met with him or other board members from time to time.

He declared that the impression grew with him that if the county commissioners appropriated funds for, or supported legislation for the supplemental pension program, the teachers this year would not ask for a pay raise.

Sought No Raise

He then added, "And the fact is, the teachers did not ask for an additional pay raise this year, until after the school board budget had been submitted." Then, he recalled, the school superintendent accompanied by members of the Board of Education appeared before the County Commissioners and asked permission to submit a supplemental budget providing $200 across-the-board pay raises for all teachers.

This was not possible, Commissioner Wilson said, because the county attorney ruled that the date for submitting supplemental budgets had passed, and under the law it was too late.

Commissioner Wilson answered numerous questions from members, and told the teachers that the present board reviewed every department's budget this levy time thoroughly and completely. He reminded them, "The school board budget is the only one we did not cut. But there was no request in it for a pay raise for the teachers."

Under questioning, Mr. Wilson told the teachers that he had been under the impression for a long time that when he talked with Mr. Rizer and Mr. Higgins they were speaking for the association.

A one-time high school and college football coach who is now a Methodist minister will come to Allegany County next month to speak at two public high school commencements, according to Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster.

He is Rev. Aurance F. Shank, now pastor of Fifth Street Methodist Church in Harrisburg, Pa., who will address the Fort Hill High School graduates on Thursday, June 4, and the Beall High School graduates in Frostburg the following night.

He was football coach at high schools of Asheville, N. C., and Shippensburg, Pa., and later at Shippensburg State Teachers College.

Eventually he left the field of athletics for the ministry. He has pastorates in prominent eastern Pennsylvania churches. Railroads Here Provide $10 Million Payroll

Railroads are basic to the American economy and healthy railroads are necessary for the future of this nation, a representative of the Association of American Railroads told the Cumberland Kiwanis Club yesterday at Central YMCA.

The speaker was Charles O. Morgret, manager of public and special services of the Public Relations Department of the Association of American Railroads. He cited Cumberland, as a railroad town much interested in the success of this form of transportation.

He said that about 1,750 Cumberlanders are railroad employes and between 5,000 and 6,000 persons here are members of railroad families. The annual railroad payroll here is about $10,000,000.

Mr. Morgret, a native of nearby Berkeley Springs, W. Va., told his audience that the public must realize its responsibility to the railroad industry, and the railroads themselves must perform the necessary acts of self-help.

Much legislation is necessary to enable the railroads to be able to compete fairly with other methods of transportation. He said the Transportation Act of 1958 was designed by Congress to help the railroads, but its rate-making sections are so ambiguous that they are difficult to interpret.

Since World War II, the American railroads have spent about $14 billion to improve their equipment. One of the major difficulties of the railroads today stems from outmoded work rules which have not been changed materially since 1919. He pointed to a recent Canadian decision which ruled that firemen on Diesel-locomotives are not justified.

Mr. Morgret concluded by saying that political bodies and enlightened labor leaders both must do their part to make American railroads healthy.

$516,500 Work Is Authorized During April

Year's Best Month Tops Last Year

Last month was the best April for Allegany County building permit activity in the five years that figures have been compiled.

In April there were 68 building permits issued by the assessing department for construction which the builders have estimated will cost a total of $516,500. Both totals far overshadow April 1958, when 53 permits were obtained and the construction was estimated to cost a total of $199,690.

Heavy activity last month brought the four-month total for 1959 to a level higher than for the corresponding four months of 1958. In the first one-third of 1959 there have been 120 building permits issued for construction estimated by the builders to cost a total of $822,850. Pa. Police Arrest Two On Turnpike

Two of the four youths who escaped some time early yesterday morning from the Forestry Camp for Boys at New Germany have been picked up, according to State Police.

The two youths were picked up yesterday by Pennsylvania State Police as they were entering the Pennsylvania Turnpike at Somerset. They were identified as Gerald F. James, 17, Riverdale, and Charles Garrett, 18, Dundalk.

Still missing from the camp in Garrett County are Daniel Andrew Kluczyk, 17, Baltimore, and James R. Dean, 16, of Greenbelt.

Philip Axman, supervisor of the camp, said the four youths left the camp sometime between midnight Wednesday and 6:30 a. m. yesterday, when they were discovered missing.

The camp is one of three in this area which has 16, 17 and 18-year-old boys who were originally committed to the Maryland Training School for Boys. The camps were created in the belief that boys interested in outdoor living could be guided back to good citizenship while performing work in the conservation of natural resources.

Mr. Axman said there are no fences or gates at the New German camp and the boys are not locked in at nights.

The State Police said there is a 13-state alarm out for the two missing youths.

The inspection will begin at 1:30 p. m. on Sections 2 and 3 of the Wills Creek phase, which was completed by the E. J. Albrecht Company of Chicago.

The formal review of Section 4, which was completed by the George F. Hazelwood Company, is scheduled to begin at 3:30 p. m.

Top officials of the Corps of Engineers, City of Cumberland, Town of Ridgeley and the contractors will take part in the review of the $18,000,000 project.

Contestant Gets A Ride

Miss Sandra McKinley perches prettily on a wing of J. Kenneth Morgan's light plane before taking her first airplane ride with Mr. Morgan, (right) and Mayor J. Edwin Keech. Miss McKinley, who lives in Lonaconing, is the Amcelle plant's entry in the Transportation Queen contest sponsored by the Tri-State Traffic Club in connection with Transportation Week next week. Mr. Morgan, Amcelle accountant, offered to take her and the mayor up in his plane to illustrate some of the advantages of air transportation. Miss McKinley found it an exciting experience. The mayor, who made his first flight only recently, is already an aviation enthusiast.

Wage Increases Are Asked By 2 City Groups

Bond Issue Cited As Possible Source

Across-the-board wage increases and other benefits were asked by two city groups in meetings with the Mayor and Council last night.

The major requests include a $50 a month boost for police and firemen, asked by the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association, and a flat 40 cents an hour increase for Street and Water department workers sought by Municipal Employes Local 812.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech told the groups city officials will give careful consideration to the requests.

Former City Attorney Thomas B. Finan served as spokesman for the Police and Firemen's delegation, which included John Daum, John Chaney, Charles A. Nave and Robert Meister.

At present, it was pointed out, a patrolman here gets $3,558 a year while Hagerstown pays $4,032, and the proposed increase would give local patrolmen only a slight edge over those in Hagerstown.

Suggest Bond Plan

The delegation proposed that funds for the wage increases be met through a bond issue which would finance some projects now being done through operating expenses.

Mr. Finan said he did not believe such a plan would face any substantial opposition at present.

The main source of operating revenues to be gained through a bond issue would be the city's share of state gas and oil revenues, which are now being withheld by the State Roads Commission to meet the city's obligations toward the Cumberland Thruway.

It was asserted that if a bond issue or an increase in the tax rate were considered, Council should act in the near future due to the time needed for legal action.

Cumberland, it was pointed out, is down to 219th place in salaries paid police and firemen in 233 cities in the 25,000 to 50,000 population range.

Want Fines In Budget

Police said police fines and parking revenues should be thrown into the department's operating "kitty" but Arthur G. Gibson, city auditor, said that would cause budget trouble if such revenues dropped.

In any event, the less than $50,000 from both sources (fines and meters) is way less than the Police Department's current $252,400 budget.

The issue, one of the men said, is that the police and firemen "can't live on the money they are getting."

Ask 40 Cents

The Local 812 negotiating committee asked a 40-cent across-the-board increase as the major part of its proposal.

Wages, he said, is the main thing being asked, as the men "are really hurting now."

Fringe benefits, he added, are fine and the men want them, but they have actually dropped the take-home pay.

He was referring to Social Security, which calls for matching payments by the city and workers, and Blue Cross-Shield. The city pays the latter benefits for workers, and deducts payments for coverage of the worker's family.

City wage rates, the men stressed, have dropped too far behind that of construction workers. They said a truck driver on construction jobs gets $2.15½ an hour and a city driver $1.64.

Seek Adjustments

One member of the delegation pointed out a construction worker can work six months during the busy season and then get unemployment compensation the rest of the year and make "as much as we do."

The union also asked that an adjustment be made in the pay for warehouse workers, who get only $2,750 a year.

The men also renewed a request that the city pay the difference between workmen's compensation payments and a man's take-home pay in case he is hurt on the job—to give the same compensation now provided for police and firemen.

The union also asked bi-weekly paydays, saying the men cannot budget under the present semi-monthly plan which occasionally results in three weeks between paydays.

The union also asked that sick leave be cumulative to 90 days, instead of the present 60.
